Tinder-Dry Woods Explosive; 28th Rainless Day

WHAT'S IT LIKE UNDERNEATH?

Surface of Point Ellice Bridge shows it can hardly wait for replacement span, now in drawing stage. Steel is expected within six months of final planning and demolition and construction phase should take another three months, engineers say. Meantime small repairs will be made. Driver, go slow.

Labor Urges Gov't Pay CBC Fees

$3 Per Radio, $15 for TV Set

(From CP and BUP)

OTTAWA — Parliamentary grants heavily swelling CBC revenues without receiver licence fees were recommended by the Canadian Labor Congress today before the Royal Commission on Broadcasting.

The 1,000,000-member congress also proposed that the CBC receive a statutory grant of $3 per radio home and $15 per television set which would total about $11,526,000 and $29,792,625 respectively. The grant would be in addition to a small percentage of profits from the CBC's commercial resources.

The CLC also made these submissions in a 27-page brief to the broadcasting royal commission:

1. The CBC should not change the fundamental principles of its 25-year-old policy.

2. The CBC should continue to "dominate and control" radio and television broadcasting.

3. Private stations should be maintained to provide local and community services as an ancillary to the national-owned system.

4. Private networks should not be authorized.

5. Newspaper-radio-television monopolies should be broken up.

6. Canadian talent should receive more encouragement.

7. Parliament should provide the CBC's capital requirements.

The brief said the CBC board of governors "should establish its own enforcement branch charged with enforcing the board's regulations . . ."

Such action would make it obvious that the board was the regulating and controlling body governing all broadcasting, the CLC said.

"We think that monopolies of this sort (newspaper-radio-TV) should not be allowed to develop," the brief said. "And where they have, they should be broken up."

B.C. CENTENARY STAMP GIVEN OTTAWA OKAY

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. centenary committee announced today the post office at Ottawa has indicated its willingness to issue a special stamp to feature the province's 100th anniversary in 1958.

L. H. McCance, newly-appointed executive secretary of the committee, will open offices in Victoria, May 15.

The committee has advertised for proposals for compilation of the official centenary program. Proposals are to be submitted by May 10.

Double-Cross Charged by Drew

McMahon's Cancelled Proposal Sparks Outburst in Commons

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition leader Drew today charged Trade Minister Howe with double-crossing Parliament by denying possession of documents from Calgary gas executive Frank McMahon proposing an alternate cross-country gas pipeline.

"I have never double - crossed anyone in my life," Mr. Howe declared in the Commons.

The minister argued that a "private and confidential" letter to him from Mr. McMahon containing the proposal was not a document because he was not free to table it in the Commons.

"If anyone was double-crossed," Mr. Drew said, "Parliament was double-crossed by the minister."

ARGUE PROCEDURE

The opposition leader presented a motion to adjourn normal House business to debate the issue today. Speaker Rene Beaudoin said the motion was not in order and a long procedural wrangle followed.

The issue grew out of the tabling by Mr. Howe Thursday night of an April 4 letter by Mr. McMahon, president of Westcoast Transmission Ltd., containing a proposal to build the Alberta-to-east gas line instead of Trans - Canada Pipe lines Ltd. With the letter was a telegram from Mr. McMahon, sent Thursday, saying he was dropping his proposal.

Mr. McMahon's proposal, outlined in correspondence tabled with his telegram, declared a Canadian-owned line could be built without government aid, based on exports to the United States midwest of twice the amount proposed by Trans-Canada.

He had expressed willingness to put up a $500,000 cash bond to guarantee completion of the 2,200-mile project by the fall of 1958 provided he could get steel pipe and other materials.

NO DECISION YET

The Trans-Canada proposal before the cabinet is that the government put up 90 per cent of the $80,000,000 cost of the western leg of the 2,200-mile line, provided Trans-Canada sponsors put up the other 10 per cent. The government advance would be in the form of an interest-bearing, short-term loan.

This afternoon, Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent told parliament —for the third time in as many days—that the cabinet "has not yet reached any firm decision" on what form of finanical aid, if any, should be given to Trans-Canada.

U.K. BASES IN CEYLON 'MUST GO'

COLOMBO, Ceylon (Reuters)—Ceylon's new Socialist government has informed British authorities that British air and naval bases in Ceylon must be removed and "there is no question of reconsideration of that." Prime Minister Solomon Bandaranaike told the House of Representatives tonight.

Big Up-Island Fire Under Control But Danger High

Tinder-dry mid-Island forests and Burnaby bushland on the mainland exploded into flame Thursday, and lower-level forest conditions on Vancouver Island and areas near Vancouver were labeled "near critical" today.

Victoria is in its 28th rainless day—just 36 hours away from an all-time record.

Worst fire of the year occured Thursday at Youbou, on Cowichan Lake, where 200 acres burned before the fire was brought under control today.

The hazard for the entire Vancouver forest district, which includes Vancouver Island, is rated as "increasing, and moderate," but valleys and flat areas are tinder dry.

"Cool nights, and snow in the hills are our saving grace right now," said a forest service spokesman.

Some 22 fires are now burning in the Vancouver district.

The fire total throughout the province today is 70.

Prince Rupert forest district reports 11 fires and a low hazard.

Cloudy weather conditions and occasional showers have lowered the hazard through the interior.

Prince George district reports 7 small fires burning, and Kamloops 20.

Officials said moss in Southern Vancouver Island valleys is bone dry, and that anything could touch off a fire.

Green growth has not yet started to appear.

The total number of fires burning at the end of the first week of the fire season last year was 33 compared to this week's 70.

The Youbou fire, which started Thursday and burned through the night in 20-year-old fir and hemlock, was spiked before it could spread into virgin timber atop a 3,000-foot hill in the Widow Creek area of South Central Vancouver Island.

OUTDOOR FIRES FORBIDDEN IN VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER (CP) — All permits for outdoor fires have been cancelled in tinder-dry Vancouver until further notice, Fire Chief Hugh Bird said today.

"There will be no exceptions," he said.

His edict followed a month of hot, dry weather which has resulted in an outbreak of bush and grass fires within city limits.

400 Fought Cowichan Blaze

More than 400 men were engaged in firefighting.

The flames, ripping through tinder-dry underbrush, threatened the B.C. Forest Products Ltd. mill at Youbou for a while Thursday night but were turned away from it before midnight. A new threat arose, however, when the fire started up the hillside.

Throughout the night five company pumps and three forest service pumps were streaming thousands of gallons of water in an attempt to check the blaze. The uphill surge of the flames was checked finally with the aid of several bulldozers which continued to cut swaths around the base of the hill.

Forest Service officials said the blaze started at 2.30 p.m. Thursday between Cottonwood Creek and the mill, about a quarter-mile from the plant. The Forest Service said cause of the fire was unknown. Other reports said it started from burning refuse behind the company bunkhouses.

Most of the firefighters were recruited from workers in the mill and loggers in the woods.

Burnaby Bush Fire Struck Out

In North Burnaby, on the mainland, a bush fire badly damaged a trestle of the Great Northern Railway today. The bush fire burned through the night along the right-of-way and scorched the trestle today. Although it is now useless, railway officials say there will be no delay in train service as a nearby trestle is still in operation.

In Vancouver meanwhile, the lives of children and the homes of East Hastings residents were threatened late Thursday by a stubborn fire that scorched five acres of bushland.

Firemen and police were kept busy herding curious youngsters out of the path of the flames

The two-hour fire sizzled over almost five city blocks, endangering houses and forcing firemen to call for volunteers among the homeowners.

Some youngsters courted death by walking into the heart of the bush and playing in a cleared field in the centre of the property. Firemen said they might have been cut off by the flames and either burned or suffocated. Another group of youngsters was soaked when they got too close to the blaze and the firemen's hoses.

Weatherman William Mackie pointed out in Victoria today that the city has gone 28 days without rain, and that the record for this season is 29 consecutive days without measurable precipitation, set in 1951.

It is "nip and tuck between sun and clouds," he said, but he expects sunshine for the remainder of today and Saturday. A Pacific storm has brought rain to Washington and Oregon, but is expected to brush by Vancouver Island.

Professional rainmakers, who signed a contract with B.C. Power Commission last month to encourage rainfall to keep John Hart hydro plant in production, are "on the spot" in the warm spell.

They need clouds to "seed" with silveriodide to bring rain. And it is apparent the right kind of clouds haven't been appearing.

'Brain-Wash' Confessions Wiped Out by Soviet Decree

Stalin Purge Trial Methods Forbidden to Secret Police

MOSCOW (AP)—The praesidium of the Supreme Soviet has revoked certain laws which permitted using "special procedures" in extracting confessions in cases of treason and sabotage.

The new decree, dated April 19, appeared in the Bulletin of the Supreme Soviet which reached Western correspondents today.

It specifically declared null and void three laws of the 1934 and 1937 which were promulgated by Stalin, the first two after the murder of Sergei Kirov, Leningrad Communist party leader, and the other to speed up convictions during the purge trials.

The laws which have been revoked permitted the secret police to use all sorts of methods to short-cut what now is declared to be normal Socialist legal procedure and obtain "confessions" from accused persons.

SPURIOUS CONFESSIONS

The procedures permitted under these Stalin-proclaimed laws were generally considered responsible for the long series of abject confessions—now declared spurious in many instances — which marked the purge trials.

Two of the cancelled decrees were enacted on Dec. 1, 1934, the day on which Kirov was assassinated.

The killing led to widespread purges, some victims of which were recently rehabilitated as a result of the current drive against Stalinism and the personality cult.

The other law was put into operation Sept. 14, 1937.

The new decree was a further step in the campaign to do away with extra-legal features of Soviet justice which prevailed during the last years of Stalin's rule, and to introduce strict criminal code procedure as demanded by party chief Khrushchev at the 20th congress of the Communist party.

The decrees specifically forbid "special procedures" in investigations of persons accused of treason, terrorism and damage of state property by sabotage.

Cild-Killing Suspect Remanded

LANGLEY, B.C. (CP)—Gerald E. Eaton, 51-year-old ferry worker, was remanded to May 11 when he appeared in a dingy police court here today charged with murder in the death of eight-year-old Carolynne Moore.

He appeared without counsel in a courtroom 18 feet long and 12 feet wide and packed with 24 persons. Another dozen overflowed into the corridor. Ten of the spectators were women.

The hearing lasted less than a minute.

The slightly built, grey-haired Eaton, charged with bludgeoning the schoolgirl whose body was found last Saturday, stood with his eyes down.

The courtroom, in a converted house, once served as a mortuary.

It had been expected that evidence would be given today as to how the victim died. Cause of death was decided on last Tuesday at a close autopsy but was not made public.

She was badly battered with a tire iron.

SPECIAL GUARD

After the remand—to give RCMP time to develop their case —Eaton was returned to Oakalla prison farm on the outskirts of Vancouver and to the security measures ordered following threats against him.

Warden Hugh Christie of Oakalla confirmed Thursday that some of the younger prisoners had threatened to "gang up on" Eaton and that security measures would be "strictly adhered to."

He said the middle-aged deckhand was exercising with older and more stable prisoners and being kept out of the yard when the excitable younger prisoners were present.

Carolynne Moore disappeared April 26 on her way from school to meet her mother at a church. They were to go to Vancouver to meet her father, Lawrence Moore, returning from a trip into interior B.C. for the department of veterans' affairs.

Her body was found 40 hours later about four miles from her home, eight miles from Langley. Scene of the slaying is 30 miles east of Vancouver.

Ottawa Sure Pearson Will Take NATO Post

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — Possibility that Hon. L. B. Pearson, secretary of state for external affairs, might leave his Canadian cabinet post to take the position of secretary-general to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization has the halls of parliament humming with speculation.

Members appeared agreed that should the $30,000 a year tax-free international office be offered to Mr. Pearson, he would be inclined to accept, and that Hon. Paul Martin, present minister of national health and welfare, would be his successor in the post of external affairs minister.

After a few years in the internationally important post of NATO secretary-general, Mr. Pearson's prestige would be enhanced to the point that should he care to return to Canada and contest the next Liberal leadership convention, he might have a good chance of winning, observers suggested.

Before leaving Ottawa for London and Paris last week Mr. Pearson told newspapermen that he would "give most careful consideration" to any offer of the post of NATO secretary-general, that might be made when Lord Ismay retires, next April. He flatly denied reports circulating on Parliament Hill that he had rejected a suggestion from abroad that he take the NATO post.

At the current Paris meeting of NATO Mr. Pearson planned to make his own survey of the prospects of how the organization might develop in the years immediately ahead. He is most anxious that NATO become more than simply a military alliance and has repeatedly emphasized that Article II of this charter be implemented, calling for greater co-operation among the member states along economic, political and cultural lines.

PARIS (CP) — Practically everyone except the principals involved appears convinced that L. B. Pearson is ready to take over from Lord Ismay as secretary-general of the North Atlantic alliance.

The big question is: When?

The "Pearson for NATO" movement has produced denials from NATO headquarters here as usual. But circumstances strongly suggest that barring unexpected developments Pearson will move next year into the secretary-general's tastefully appointed villa off Avenue Foch.

TWO WOUNDED

Teacher Shot Dead By Student

SEAT PLEASANT, Md. (AP) —A 15-year-old pupil went berserk with a rifle at Maryland Park Junior High School today, shooting to death one teacher and wounding two others.

The incident threw the school into an uproar. After the shooting, the school was closed immediately for the day. Instructors began helping hysterical, crying boys and girls into buses.

Fraser Cameron, 32, was wounded fatally.

Francis Daniel Wagner, 25, the athletic coach at the school, was shot in the chest.

The third victim, Robert Hicks, 31, was shot in the hand.

Police Chief George J. Panagoulis said police took into custody Bill Ray Prevatte, 15.

The scene was one of complete confusion, as the students ran through the building weeping. Some of the girls fell onto the school lawn sobbing.

Five Girls Escape

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two prisoners of the Girls' Industrial School escaped Thursday under cover of a brush fire. Police said the two slipped away from a party of girls who had been granted permission to watch the fire, in brushland three blocks from the school. Three other girls escaped from the home later in the evening.

Arms Parley Ends

LONDON (UP)—The five-power disarmament conference between the Soviet Union and the West broke up without agreement today. But the Western powers declared that a future agreement now "is possible."

T'WAS 'JAW', NOT 'SAW'; CROSSWORD PRIZE $125

The little word "jaw" crossed up most contestants in The Times' Crossword Puzzle last week so the prize to subscribers for this week jumps to $125.

"You usually expect it to have teeth "was how the clue read and most entries contained the answer "saw." But every saw has teeth so you don't "usually expect" it, you just know a saw has teeth. But some jaws have no teeth at all though you would usually expect them to.

Complete answer to last week's puzzle and a new contest for this week are on Page 23 of today's Times.

—And George Is Really Mad

Publicity Commissioner George Warren has a perpetual headache straightening out publications which place Vancouver Island landmarks on the mainland.

Today Mr. Warren discovered a new kind of error—the moving of Ottawa's Peace Tower to Victoria, and, of all things, it was done by a Vancouver newspaper.

To add insult to injury the caption under the picture said:

"Parliament Buildings, Victoria, impress visitors to B.C. with their dignity and solid beauty. The capital is much in the news as far-reaching decisions are made affecting every citizen. Here then is the hub of B.C., and the well-known clock intones the long hours through which legislators have sat on the people's business."

The caption concluded: "Naturally, the scene is not complete without the RCMP constable." (There is no RCMP constable outside Victoria's Parliament Buildings nor, of course, is there a clock in the building's dome.)

Mr. Warren lost no time in registering a protest. He telephoned the Vancouver paper and said it was the "most glaring error" he had ever seen.

The editor agreed. He tendered a full apology to Mr. Warren and the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, and promised that a full correction would appear tomorrow.

"It is unthinkable that a responsible newspaper should make such an error as this," Mr. Warren said. "We have enough difficulty educating people far away from mislabelling this city without having to educate Vancouver papers as well."

PRAYER FOR TODAY

OUR FATHER, make us know that every opportunity —and there are many which come our way each day— carries with it the responsibility to conduct ourselves in any and every circumstance as a child of Thine, through Jesus Christ. Amen.

IN PARLIAMENT

Farm Credit Act Urged by Thatcher

(From Times News Services)

A blunt-speaking Saskatchewan independent member has suggested creation of a national farm credit act through which farmers could get long-term, government-guaranteed bank loans.

Ross Thatcher, a hardware merchant who also farms and raises cattle on a large scale in Saskatchewan, made the suggestion on Thursday as agriculture department estimates were studied.

Lack of long-term credit, said the member for Moose Jaw-Lake Centre, has resulted in concentration of farms in the hands of fewer owners. The number of tenant farmers had grown and farm productivity had been reduced because farmers could not afford irrigation projects and modern equipment.

Agriculture, in an otherwise booming economy, should not be allowed to lag behind through a shortage of long-term credit.

Mr. Thatcher, who spoke during a debate in which a number of members brought up local agricultural problems, said the federal government had accepted the principle of providing guarantees for long-term bank loans in the National Housing Act. It enables federal guarantee of mortgages.

A national farm credit act, he said, would guarantee the banks against loss on farmers' loans for periods of 20 and 30 years. The money thus obtained would be used to buy farms and equipment, or for building homes and barns.

Seek Less Risky Loan Fields

Mr. Thatcher said most lending institutions now seek loan fields that are less risky and more profitable than agriculture. Their lack of enthusiasm for farm mortgage lending was understandable.

But federal plans so far evolved for direct government loans to farmers had proven they are not the answer to the farmers' credit needs.

Hazen Argue (CCF, Assiniboia) reiterated past demands on the government for implementation of some form of price support or parity prices for all types of agricultural products.

He said the federal index of farm prices, based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100, was 218 last month, while the index of costs of production on farms, based on the same period, was 235.

This means in effect, he said, that farmers are worse off now than during the depression period of 1935-39. The federal government had a reasonably good support program for butter. But beyond that there was nothing. Price support for eggs and hogs was just "window dressing."

Mr. Argue said even the new 1,000,000-member Canadian Labor Congress, in a resolution passed at its founding meeting last week, advocated parity prices for farm products which bear a fair relationship to costs of production.

The government Thursday declined to say whether it is considering direct housing loans in the face of reported drops in the amount of mortgage money made available by the chartered banks.

Works Minister Winters, who reports for Central Mortgage & Housing Corporation, said that the question is a matter of government policy and that any decision would be announced only after it is reached.

Stanley Knowles (CCF, Winnipeg North Centre) asked the minister's view after referring to newspaper reports saying the banks' housing loans are down 30 per cent from last year.

The Senate Thursday gave second reading — approval in principle — to legislation to ratify a Canada-Denmark agreement to avoid double taxation.

The bill was referred to a committee following protests by Liberal and Progressive Conservative senators that ratification would make the agreement the law of Canada. These members felt all Canadian laws should be contained in Canadian statutes.

The Canada-Denmark agreement provides for income tax exclusion on industrial and commercial profits of permanent enterprises of one country operating in another.

Federal expenditures for flood control on the Assiniboine river were more than doubled during the last fiscal year, Agricultural Minister Gardiner reported Thursday.

In a reply tabled for Walter Dinsdale (PC, Brandon-Souris) he said $140,839 was spent for diking and cut-offs on the prairie river. That compared with $69,154 in the entire 1954-55 fiscal year and $99,989 the preceding year.

A former New Brunswick health minister said Thursday television is assisting crime comic books in the corruption of youth.

Liberal Senator Frederic McGrand, a physician, made the statement in an hour-long speech in the Senate urging a greater appreciation of mental health in the field of crime prevention. He was speaking on a motion of Senator David Croll (L, Ontario) for penal reform in Canada.

"In the corruption of youth, the comic book has been ably assisted by television programs," he said.

Woman's Screams Bring Rescue

Motorist Bert Longhurst, 2530 Cedar Hill, was credited by police today with saving the life of 72-year-old Mrs. M. C. Kayter, whose South Fairfield room was gutted by fire Thursday.

Attracted by screams from the deaf, half-blind woman, and smoke pouring from under the eaves of the two-story house, Longhurst saw Mrs. Kayter bring a burning object onto the front porch and go back into the house at 411 Linden.

He rushed after her, followed her upstairs to a hallway on which her room was located. Flames shot into the hall, trapping Mrs. Kayter in the upstairs kitchen, where she had gone to retrieve some money.

FACE SCORCHED

Longhurst pushed past the flames and grabbed the elderly, highly excited woman, whose hair, face and hands were scorched.

"He had to drag her out," said Cpl. Joe Barlow. "He saved her life all right."

She was alone in her room when the blaze started. Owners of the house, Mr. and Mrs. Lucien La Pierre, were at work.

Mrs. Kayter leaned from a window screaming for help to save her furniture, money and belongings.

In the house behind, at 1214 Oscar, Mrs. R. Bedford heard cries and saw the smoke. She rushed over to assist.

"She struggled hard with me," said Mrs. Bedford. The boarder wanted to go back in the house again.

Flames got to her purse before firemen rescued it, but its contents were undamaged. About $80 was in it—her sole remaining possession.

Interior of the room was ruined. Firemen dropped charred lumps of burning furniture and clothing from the window to the driveway where it was extinguished.

Damage to the rest of the house was mostly from smoke and water.

ROAD CONTRACTORS SUE LOCAL ENGINEER

VANCOUVER (CP) — A second libel suit has been filed by the contractors of the controversial Stewart-Cassiar mine assistance road in northern B.C.

C. C. I. Merritt, Vancouver lawyer, said Thursday he has started action in Supreme Court against E. A. Jamieson, Victoria engineer and former sergeant-at-arms of the B.C. Legislature, on behalf of Wade and Wells Co. Ltd. of Trail.

Last month the contractors began libel proceedings against Arthur Laing, leader of the B.C. Liberal Party.

2-Mill Boost in City Tax Rate As School, Labor Costs Increase

New Rate Means $2 More in Taxes For Every $1,000 in Assessment

Victoria city council completed budget meetings late Thursday night and set the 1956 mill rate at 44½ mills, two mills higher than last year.

Victoria property owners will pay $2 more in taxes this year for every $1,000 in taxable assessments.

Council lopped $40,567 from proposed expenditures and added $15,100 to proposed revenues, leaving $55,000 in a contingencies fund.

Net effect of council's budget cutting was a one-half mill reduction from the first budget brought down earlier in the week.

Council spent 18½ hours in budget consideration since Monday, eight hours on Thursday alone.

Breathing a sigh of relief, Mayor Percy Scurrah said, "In view of education and wage increases, that's not too bad."

SCHOOL COSTS UP

Education costs alone went up the equivalent of 1.4 mills this year and civic employees' wages were boosted $90,000, well over one mill. In spite of a two-mill increase, caused by these factors, largely uncontrollable by council, aldermen managed to more than hold the line on other costs of city operation.

Included in the approved expenses were most of the big public works projects—road and sewer depreciation replacement programs worth a total of $108,500, $16,000 more than had been budgeted, but still $15,000 less than works chairman Ald. Arthur Dowell requested.

Biggest cuts imposed by council were in police ($10,000); parks, playgrounds, beaches ($9,895); and general government ($11,500).

Largest item passed over was a proposed $11,500 expansion of the superannuation scheme to include male employees who joined city staff after age 39 and female employees after age 35.

NO SCOOTER

Smallest item to be eliminated was a $75 allotment for a second-hand scooter planned for use of the parks foreman at Beacon Hill.

When council met Thursday morning $37,352 had been pared from the budget. During the day $540 was removed from parks paving, $125 from Macdonald Park repairs, a $2,300 reduction was made in a $3,300 fund for Beacon Hill band concerts, $1,675 from improvements to Beacon Hill parking.

A $3,000 fund for development of Spencer Park, near Oaklands School, was dropped entirely.

Council will hold a special meeting Monday at 2 p.m. to give first reading to the tax by-law which must be approved by the municipal affairs department and finally passed by May 15.

Boulevard Tax Up Half-Cent

Council boosted boulevard levies by a half cent a square foot, increasing city revenues $15,100.

The added tax will mean the one-third of Victoria homeowners whose boulevards are cared for by the city will pay about $3 more frontage tax this year (based on a 10 by 60-foot boulevard).

The decision was reached after council rejected a proposal by Ald. Robert Macmillan that the city stop maintaining boulevards and make homeowners do the work themselves.

He said his plan would save about $53,000 a year.

NOW TWO CENTS

The city services about 33 miles of boulevarded streets out of 131 miles of streets in residential areas.

Those homes with boulevard frontage serviced by the city pay a special tax which up until now was charged at the rate of 1½ cents a square foot. Now the charge will be two cents.

Ald. Macmillan pointed out that the total cost of servicing the boulevards was estimated at $126,260 this year. Yet revenue from the boulevard tax was only $48,000.

This left a loss to the city of $78,260 which is met from general revenue.

Scurrah Makes Hard Decision

Mayor Percy Scurrah made a difficult choice during debate on adoption of city engineer J. C. Garnett's costly new streets depreciation replacement program.

The mayor had called on council to support the street program in his inaugural address. But he had also gone on record as opposing an increased mill rate.

He decided for the mill rate. Public works committee asked $79,000 be added to normal works costs this year to begin a permanent program of street repair. Council approved only $47,393.

When Ald. Mooney, a member of the works committee moved the total $79,000 be granted the mayor took his stand.

"I'm not ready to go further. We went along on the sewer plan and the water plan and spending more on streets than we did last year . . . that's as far as we should go this year."

Works chairman Ald. Dowell offered a compromise and asked for an additional $15,000. His motion was defeated. He asked for the whole $31,000 which was held back and council balked again. Finally Ald. Mooney asked for $16,000.

Either confused or impressed by the perseverance of the works committee, this time council gave in, with only the mayor, Ald. Edgelow and Ald. Smith opposed.

Civil Defence—What's It Worth

Some members of city council balked before finally approving a vote of $38,355 for civil defence this year.

"What do we get for it?" asked Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson.

"There seems to be such apathy, there is a question in my mind whether we should spend any city money on it," agreed Ald. Geoffrey I. Edgelow.

But the vote passed when it was explained the net cost to the city this year will be actually $4,660. Balance of the cost is met by donations by the provincial and federal governments.

Mayor Percy Scurrah defended the expenditure and explained an evacuation plan has been evolved by CD co-ordinator Roger Peachey which will be circulated to all local residents. He said the apathy of the public is the same all over Canada.

Ald. W. F. Pinfold said classes are still being carried out in Victoria but admitted turnout is poor.

Charity, Culture Get $25,000

Civic grants of $25,000 were earmarked by city council Thursday for division between 16 charitable and culture organizations.

But final decision on who-gets-what was delayed pending recommendations by finance committee, thus sparing drawn-out budget considerations and the controversy which has in the past accompanied the allotment of gifts.

Approval was given to grants of $32,550 to Victoria and Vancouver Island Publicity Bureau and $2,000 to a chamber of commerce industrial committee.

The first goes to enticing tourists to come here, the second to attracting business.

Ald. Don Smith objected to the latter two grants, calling it another example of the small taxpayer subsidizing the businessman.

However, Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said the publicity grant results from an old agreement with the local businessmen that they would agree to pay double business licence fees if the increase were used for publicity purposes. Ald. Smith feels business licence fees are too low.

Ald. Austin Curtis pointed out that one of the services returned to the city by the chamber of commerce is in the form of a better business bureau.

Mayor Percy Scurrah defended the grant to the chamber, saying the city should do all possible to attract new industry.

Finance committee will be faced with a problem of distributing the funds set aside for other organizations. The groups have been asked grants totalling well over $32,000.

They include Greater Victoria Celebrations Association, Sarah Spencer Foundation, Home for Aged and Infirm Women, Remembrance Day, Community Chest, Victoria Symphony society, Girl Guides, Victoria West Lawn Bowling Club, Red Cross, YMCA, YWCA, Navy League, Victoria Art Gallery, Salvation Army, Seventh Day Adventists and James Bay Community Association.

Taxes Come From Taxpayers

MR. BENNETT'S PROPOSAL TO use government funds to pay municipal taxes on the first $1,000 or $2,000 assessment on British Columbia homes is still nebulous.

It will probably remain so until the premier clarifies his own thinking.

But one development this week puts the picture in new perspective. The department of municipal affairs says that assessment equalization introduced by the Social Credit government raised the assessment rolls of B.C. cities, districts and villages by $425,000,000, or 25 per cent last year.

A jump of that proportion — though it does not apply solely to real estate—apparently calls for adjustments beyond those made in the schedule of municipal grants that accompanied assessment equalization.

If it is the Government's intention to transfer some of the money from its revenue account to meet part of the taxes on these higher assessments, some points should be emphasized.

The home-owner will not be getting something for nothing. He may receive assistance in meeting his municipal levies by direct government grant. But he should remember where the money comes from. It can come only from the taxpayer —and the home-owner is a taxpayer many times over, municipal, provincial and federal.

Some redistribution of taxation would occur under Mr. Bennett's proposal. The person with limited means, who pays little in sales tax because he buys little, and little or nothing in income tax because his earnings are exempt, would benefit directly.

Conversely, people with high incomes, who pay high federal taxes and high sales taxes because of the volume of their purchases, would carry a larger portion of the costs.

On average, however, the home-owner would receive questionable benefits, though some relief would be afforded on residential property taxation.

Of probably greater significance would be the effect on municipal taxation.

Municipalities are in financial trouble. While Federal and Provincial Governments count surpluses, the municipalities are forced to raise tax rates. And these higher rates are being struck despite sincere efforts at economy.

Should these municipalities suddenly find the province paying a substantial amount of the home-owners' taxes, how great would be their inclination to cut mill rates commensurately?

Human nature, expressed through municipal corporations, would lead them to acquire the things they have denied themselves because they were short of funds.

The new roads, the new sewers—all the services curtailed through lack of money—would be immediate possibilities with the taxpayer freed in part of the obvious municipal burden. The slack would soon be absorbed.

These are matters of broad principle only. They can be little more until the premier announces details.

In its general form, the Bennett proposal seems a roundabout way to redistribute the tax burden. But no one should imagine that it frees him of taxation. The funds required can only come from taxes, no matter in what form they are levied.

Playing Against the Odds

THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT'S plan to conduct a form of state lottery to aid national financing has stirred considerable adverse comment among economists. But the sale of Government bonds, with interest on them to be won in sizable amounts by the holders of lucky numbers, has reportedly had a wide appeal to the people.

It is perhaps not known here how great an industry gambling has become in Britain. But in devising his scheme, Chancellor of the Exchequer Harold Macmillan no doubt had in mind the latest figures: a total slightly less than $1.5 billions spent on gambling during 1955. Such a sum indicates that Britain's population of some 50 millions should take kindly to almost any gambling proposal, even when it is in the form of Government budgeting.

About $925 millions of the national total took the form of bets on horse racing; $336 millions went on dog races; $190 millions was invested in football pools; another $16 millions was expended in lesser forms of wagering.

It will be noted that these were legal types of gambling. No doubt further large sums found their way into the Irish Hospital sweeps, the Malta government lottery and similar schemes not acceptable to British law.

One London newspaper's survey last year established that six out of ten readers gambled in the football pools, the same number bet on horses, four out of ten had bought Irish Sweep tickets.

In first permitting, and now adding to, this mass enthusiasm for trying to win something for nothing, the British Government may have set a trend it will not be able to control. The philosophy of the gamble is not conducive to national stability or to personal advancement. For one who wins undeserved rewards many sit back to hope for better luck next time. It fosters a mental attitude of passivity, even paralysis, which cannot help but weaken the national fibre.

The gambles taken in the first Elizabethan age were of a different complexion, as were the hazards undertaken by pioneers the world over. In the latter cases wealth and life itself were staked on adventurous gambles with nature and adversity, but the bets were backed by the sweat and courage of those who took part.

The football pool, the horse race, the dog tracks, are a far different thing. In moderation they can be a pleasant titillation of the gambling instinct that is in every individual. But in excess they could stultify and frustrate not only individuals but nations.

Who Jerked the Welcome Mat?

ONE OF THE MOST DELIGHTful stories to come out of the Bulganin-Khrushchev visit to Britain was the report of the short stop at Oxford. The celebration put on by the university undergraduates was a blend of political rally, circus and Boat Night and in its general essence summed up beautifully the attitude of Britishers toward their unusual guests.

The preposterous chant, "Poor Old Joe!" which followed the Moscow pair from the moment they entered the city until they left, was in itself a masterpiece of undergraduate wit. And the drawled, "Come on Bulgy, I want my tea," would, for English-speaking visitors, have provided the final disillusioning perspective.

But the cream of the joke was that, to the strangers, the whole thing could have appeared as a tumultuous and enthusiastic tribute. As one news reporter put it, "To men who speak no English it must have seemed like a Roman holiday."

Thus there is some logic in the version distributed in Canada by the Soviet embassy. The Russian publication says: "Large crowds hailed the guests along the entire route. The arrival of the Soviet leaders brought great animation into the well-ordered life of the old university town. The students lined the streets and fervently greeted the Soviet guests . . . Having acquainted the guests with the life and sights of Oxford, the Mayor said that Oxford had never yet greeted anybody the way it has greeted the Soviet guests."

To which little can be added.

'Peace' By Violence

TWENTY-FIVE DOUKHOBOR women have been convicted and sentenced to pay fines of $15 each or serve 10 days in jail for "premeditated assault" on Mr. Emmett Gulley, secretary of a committee established to preserve harmony between Freedomites and other members of the community.

The presiding magistrate at Nelson, where the trial was held, had some words of advice and admonition for the women. He reminded them of the freedom accorded them in Canada and emphasized that they were in no position to demand immunity from the laws which apply to all citizens.

The brief lecture was received with little show of emotion by the women. It is doubtful if their consciences will be troubled by what they have done.

Sooner or later, however, as their children are educated in our schools, this recalcitrant group or their descendents will become impressed by the fact that an ideal of pacificm is not maintained by physical violence. No group proves its single-minded devotion to peace by assault.

Leaving Us Hanging There

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

I HEARD J. B. Priestley talking at UBC the other night . . . you may have heard him on the radio last Saturday, when many of his remarks at UBC were broadcast from a tape made at the meeting. I was sorry that the tape, as suitably cut for broadcasting, no longer contained a remark of his about us in the audience never reading anything. That's a bold statement. How does Mr. Priestley know I never read anything? A more accurate statement would be that sometimes I read things and sometimes I don't. As I get a bit older I may not read so much as I did in my youth, when I read with a kind of drunken thirst for books. But I still crack a book now and then. And while I may sometimes prefer talking to reading, being less a solitary type than I once was, I prefer the talk of men who have read a book or two themselves in their time. Provided they don't talk too bookishly!

Brock

MR. PRIESTLEY made one curious slip in his speech. After saying that the world is going to pot because it is governed entirely by the Masculine Principle, which is a thing of brutal violence, he then said the world is going to pot because of all our values being ruined by crazy desires for household machinery and appliances. Doesn't he know that advertising is aimed at the feminine mind, the feminine principle? Even in the old days, when advertising was a fairly simple art, it was aimed bang at women, trying to make them want things they didn't really need. We all know that.

Today there is a thing called "motivation research" which studies the basic urges of the buyer and tries to appeal to these. A product isn't praised for its own sake, but is somehow tied in with one of the basic urges . . . sex, social status, and so on. But it would be very odd if the psychologists behind this "motivation research" were not still aiming at the Feminine Principle, which does most of the buying.

SPEAKING of motives, Mr. Priestley made us all laugh by describing a cockeyed process by which a man devotes his life to selling junk, so that he can make money to buy nice things; the man doesn't realize that the nice things he wants to buy are really just junk, too, made by other men who sell junk to make money to buy nice things, and so on. As a result, everyone is selling junk. Maybe he is a little hasty to call it ALL junk. Still, you've got to admit that much of it is.

We weren't laughing because what he said was very false, but because it was fairly true. Why anyone should laugh when a statement about a horrible state of affairs is only too true, I don't know . . . but we do laugh. You can even get an audience to laugh about a third world war . . . I heard them doing it, this same evening . . . but maybe they were only laughing so they wouldn't cry . . . there are lots of reasons for laughing, though an expert on motivation research wouldn't understand all of them.

MR PRIESTLEY got one of his biggest laughs when he talked about the queerness of some very costly luxuries. He described how first men cooked with charcoal and then with coal and then with gas and then with electricity and then with short-waves and finally, in a few very expensive places, with charcoal again . . . today only a rich man can afford to pretend he is a caveman, with his food cooked over a cave-fire. I know quite a few poor men who now cook on charcoal at home, but he was speaking about restaurants, I suppose.

About going back to the cave-man . . . perhaps we are showing a little sense in wanting our meals cooked on open fires now and then, and about enjoying camping more than we used to . . . though there are two sides to the new camping industry, believe me

MR. PRIESTLEY's main topic was that our standards and values are no good. We should accept only things which heighten our consciousness and awareness, and reject things which deaden our consciousness. Perhaps he is right . . . the human brain does seem to be getting sillier. But I think this subject needs a terrific amount of definition before (if I may say so) our consciousness is aware of exactly what sort of awareness Mr. Priestley wants in us all. I know of times when I am much worse off for being only too conscious of things and far too aware of them. At other times, I dare say Mr. Priestley is right and I am wrong to let things numb me and lull me. Besides the choice between thinking more and thinking less, it is possible for some lucky people to use their intuition.

THIS intuition is not acting on blind impulse but is making use of old memories and experiences without troubling the conscious mind to sort them out, thus taking a load of time and trouble off the poor old conscious mind, which often has quite enough to worry about anyhow, without trying to make itself aware of everything. Personally, I would gladly trade large quantities of high-grade conscious thought for a few handy packets of intuition, and I wish Mr. Priestley or anyone else could give me a few leads on this. In the meantime, I shall try to strike a nice balance between letting my brain rust idly away and letting it carry more of the old kilowatts than it is wired to endure.

FROM GARY, INDIANA — By STEWART ALSOP

Finger on the People's Pulse

BY STEWART ALSOP

JUST how do the public opinion polls work, how reliable are they and what do they really mean? The question is worth asking, because the polls have become a major influence in American politics. The polls induced a fatal complacency in the Dewey camp in 1948, for example. They almost certainly denied to Robert A. Taft the nomination he sought so long and so arduously. More recently, they were principally responsible for the "Dump Nixon" movement. For such reasons, this reporter has just spent two long days here in the industrial town of Gary, and in the slums and suburbs of Chicago, ringing doorbells and buttonholing potential voters.

Alsop

Louis Harris, partner in the respected Elmo Roper polling organization, and a brilliant political analyst in his own right, has acted as guide and mentor of this pulse-feeling operation.

In all, we have talked to some seventy-five people, housewives, Negroes, steelworkers, middle class businessmen, and plain Americans. From the point of view of the political reporter, it has been a fascinating experience, which has led to certain very strong impressions. But first it is worth describing what it is like being a pollster, and how the pulse-feeling operation works.

Careful Analysis

The first thing you do, if you are as careful and diligent a pulse-feeler as Louis Harris, is to make a very careful analysis of a given area—its racial composition, its income level, its past voting record. Then you prepare a detailed political questionnaire. And then you go out and ring doorbells.

Suppose you are feeling the public pulse in a workingman's section of Gary. There is a street of new, small houses—what used to be called bungalows—some of them beginning to show the signs of wear. You knock, and a door is opened a third of the way, suspiciously.

Harris, with a professionalism born of long experience, begins to talk easily and quietly: "We have been doing a survey here in Gary, and a lot of other places, and I'd like to ask you, if you don't mind, how you voted in the 1952 election."

Once in a while the door is slammed, but usually, once the first question is answered, the rest is easy. Often, the chilly pollsters are asked to step inside, and when they thankfully do so, they see almost exactly the same thing, except in the slums and the richer suburbs.

The front door gives directly on a small but cosy room, with framed reproductions on the walls, ivy growing from a wall bracket, the furniture covered with a transparent plastic material, and children clustered in single-minded silence before the new hearth of the American home, the television set.

Then the questioning begins, and it soon becomes apparent that poll-taking is not a science but an art—a useful and meaningful art, when practiced by such an expert as Harris, but an art all the same.

A couple of days of poll-taking serve as a reminder that Americans are nice and friendly people, who talk freely. But the experience also serves as a reminder that political matters are far from removed from the daily life and daily interests of most Americans.

Some Notions

Almost everybody, we discovered, knew something about President Eisenhower and something less about Adlai Stevenson (although one lady remarked that it was too bad "that poor Stevens had that heart attack.") About two out of three had some notions about Estes Kefauver. But a good many could not identify the Vice-President, and only a handful had formed an opinion of such esoteric political figures as Averell Harriman and Stuart Symington.

In such circumstances it would have been wholly futile merely to ask a series of mechanical questions, and to note the answer. Poll-taking, more even than most political reporting, is an attempt to peer into the recesses of the human mind.

When the young steel worker says he expects to vote for Stevenson, will he really go to the polls? When the tattered old Negro on the back stoop of a slum house says he will vote for Eisenhower, is he merely trying to please the poll-takers?

Unpredictable Beings

How do you score the lady who says she always votes Democratic, but that she just loves the President on TV? And how is the elderly fellow who allows that he "kinda likes that Cowfever" really going to vote, if at all?

Because American voters are human beings, and human beings are unpredictable, it is simply not possible to express the political sentiments of the American people neatly, down to the last decimal point. But the kind of careful, diligent pulse-feeling such experts as Lou Harris do makes it possible to sense with some assurance certain trends of political thought, which will be described in a later report.

As Our Readers See It

'Now Known'

On Saturday, April 28, you published a letter by Mr. L. J. Pepper which would appear to me to be more extreme and unjustifiable than any of his previous letters. To state that "It is now known that man, that life, had no creator . . ." is surely to step outside the realm of all actual human knowledge.

The matter of the reasons for or against the existence of such a creator to be derived from the sum total of all human knowledge and experience is another question.

Mr. Pepper's letter does, however, contain another statement which might if correct, offer some hope. He refers ot "the law of Constant Change." This, no doubt would apply to everything — including Mr. Pepper's opinions.

Questionnaire

Mrs. Lydia Arsens, Social Credit MLA, has made some very extraordinary statements in the Provincial Legislature. Perhaps her attitude can be logically explained by the answers to the following questions:

Does Mrs. Arsens believe:

1.—That there exists an "International Conspiracy" hatched between a small group of capitalists, industrialists, scientists, etc., known as the "Illuminati" and the Devil?

2.—That this "Conspiracy" has two main branches: (a) the International "Finance-Capital Conspiracy" and (b) the International "Communist Conspiracy"?

3.—That detailed plans of the "Conspiracy" are contained in what are known as "The Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion"?

4.—That the object of the "Conspiracy" is world-domination by the Illuminati?

5.—That the Illuminati, through its International Finance-Capitalist agents, exercise influence and control over the American Medical Association and the Canadian Medical Association, including such matters as suppression of cures for cancer and advocacy of compulsory fluorination?

6.—That the real and ultimate objective of compulsory fluorination is the gradual, but not necessarily fatal, poisoning of the population to the advantage of the Illuminati conspirators?

As a lady of high moral courage and integrity, Mrs. Arsens should not hesitate to give clear and straightforward answers to the above six questions.

Rising Taxes

After reading the articles in the daily press under big headlines "City Mill Rate up 2.5" and "City Re-Assessment may Shift Tax Load"—as a city taxpayer it gives one a feeling of fear and frustration as to whether it is worthwhile to be a property owner any longer.

I wish to make special reference to City Re-Assessment which, according to statement of City Assessor is being carried out under orders from Provincial Government, which came into effect soon after the present Provincial Administration came into Office, under the heading of Equalization of Assessments.

The writer has an old home on a small lot in one of the older and poorer districts of the city with an old barn and shed owned by the City located close behind this property and the street on which it is situated surfaced on the crown with hard top and gravel on either side, and a narrow hardtop sidewalk.

In the year 1948 the taxes on this property were $62; in 1952 the taxes increased to $76.82; and in 1955 the taxes were increased again to $123.25. The upkeep of this house in the way of repairs and re-decorating is considerable.

I have given these particulars because with all due respect to our City Aldermen, their discussion on Old Homes might have been given more consideration, especially with the new Sub-division and new homes being extended in all directions on the Community with an attractive small cash payment and 20 years to pay the balance in the price of a new home.

THOMAS TREDAWAY.

1925 Brighton Avenue.

From All Walks

With the passing of Major Alan Morkill, this City has lost a most unforgettable character; a man of great kindliness and understanding. He was beloved by people of all ages and from all walks of life. His sparkling wit endeared him at once and his kindly humor never failed to cheer all who knew him.

His love of nature and particularly the mountains, brought him recognition as a world authority on the natural flora of North America. Specimens of rare native plants he collected are to be found in gardens the world over and his contribution to botanical knowledge has brought a large measure of renown to the Garden City.

The Victoria Rock Garden Society was formed largely as a result of his efforts and enthusiasm and he remained president of it from its inception until two years ago. He was instrumental in founding the Victoria Garden Week which has given so much pleasure to visitors and native Victorians.

He served with distinction in two world wars. In the first he was awarded the Military Cross with Bar and retired a Major. At the outset of the Second World War, though not a young man, he was one of the first to volunteer and join the ranks, which he left somewhat reluctantly to take up his commission again.

Through the many years he has maintained his touch with the men he served with and indeed, he never lost touch with people of whom he was fond, even though time and circumstances separated them.

Victoria has lost a citizen of stature whose memory will bloom each spring in the gardens of Victoria.

CLARITY BEGINS AT HOME

I have always followed the creed that one should write what one knows oneself, so far as one can know, to be right. I think it's good advice to give to any writer. They tell young writers—how often people have told me—"You must write what the public wants." My advice is—realize, understand, know that there is only one member of the public whose wants you can know. Write for that one member. You can't know the wants of the others, but you can please yourself.

—Lord Dunsany.

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

'Unaccustomed as I Am...'

LIFE has been a little unfair to Tom Irwin. Mr. Irwin has a ready facility with words. They come easily from his lips in the rolling consonants of Scotland.

The Legislature has made Mr. Irwin Mr. Speaker. As Mr. Speaker, Mr. Irwin cannot speak in the House except to call members to order, make an occasional announcement, put an issue to the vote or deliver a ruling.

Stott

But if he may not speak in the House, he is ready to speak outside. He was ready to speak to a meeting at Cloverdale. The meeting was not ready. No one turned up to hear Mr. Speaker. The chairman of the meeting which wasn't held described the situation in a magnificent understatement — "lack of enthusiasm."

OBLIGATIONS

Many who have heard Mr. Irwin will realize that the non-attending members have missed something.

What happened at Cloverdale — or didn't happen, according to point of view—is food for thought.

There's an obligation on the part of a man who agrees to speak to make a speech. But it's no greater than the obligation on the part of a host organization to be there to listen.

Not that the world wouldn't be much better off if fewer people made speeches and there were fewer organizations to make them to.

At election time, of course, a politician may, and often does, make a speech to an empty hall. On such occasions he's speaking for the benefit of reporters, not for a handful of listeners, and the value of his words is usually measured in type in the news columns.

Otherwise it's not polite for any outfit to attract a speechful man and leave him with his speech undelivered and all bottled-up inside him.

Still something good might come from the silent hall of Cloverdale. Mr. Irwin and other speakers may decide not to yield too readily to future invitations to speak and fewer speeches could increase the value of the word spoken from the platform.

The speech, to service clubs for instance, too often becomes not much more than the drowsy hum of bees to men dozing off the effects of a heavy midday or evening meal. Frequently it's just something to put in time between coffee and adjournment.

Ask me. When I was younger and had more stamina, I served five years on the club beat with luncheons and dinners four or five times a week. From it I emerged with chronic indigestion, a corporation, a vast cynicism and bent ears.

I've heard a prewar colonial governor extol the impregnability of Singapore. I've heard a Hudson's Bay veteran describe Indian obstetrics in the far north. I've heard, in a dozen variations, "My Trip," "The report on the convention," "How to sell life insurance" and a thousand other discourses.

I've heard good speeches—a few—well delivered, good speeches poorly delivered, bad speeches dressed in excellent rhetoric and bad speeches incredibly mangled.

From all this I developed a tremendous admiration for the vows of silence some religious orders observe.

And then, in a small way, I've made speeches myself. They may not have been good, but they gave me an appreciation of the formerly discounted figure who stood at the head table and talked.

GOOD AND BAD

It takes, I'd say, a good evening's work to type out a speech, even if you know your material. Then it takes a few hours getting your mouth around it, so that it has a certain coherence.

And all this the speaker undertakes when he says yes to the beguiling invitation of a program chairman. For it he may receive a meal which nervousness makes unpalatable and a vote of thanks.

In probably nine cases out of ten the speaker doesn't want to speak. In more than nine cases out of ten the audience doesn't want to listen, but lacks Cloverdale's frankness.

All in all, it might be a fine thing if the next victim on the program chairman's list showed a little reluctance to invitations. It might be better if potential victims banded together, formed a guild for the elimination of unwanted speeches and stiffened their spines with that resounding slogan: "Remember Tom Irwin."

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Common Tragedies of Life

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine Mayo Foundation

Every so often I see a person who wants psychiatric help, but who has such a terrible problem and such an insoluble one that I do not see how even the most kindly and skillful psychiatrist could help much. For instance: The other day in came a sad-looking woman who said that since childhood she has always been unhappy and at times despondent. As a child, she was miserable because her father was a very unpleasant and bad-tempered man, who apparently was mentally abnormal. He was the worse for the great strain of supporting eight children. Curiously, he blamed his wife for having so many children, and he blamed them for having come along. He fussed at the poor wife; he nagged at her, and he was mean to the children.

Dr. Alvarez

When my patient married, her husband was making barely enough for them to live on. After two children came there just wasn't enough food and clothing for the family, and so the husband had to give up his comfortable indoor job and go to driving a truck. Only by working overtime could he make enough for all of them. Then what distressed the poor woman was that she rarely saw her husband. He left early in the morning, and sometimes had to be away on the road for several days. The poor wife suffered without companionship and love, and the children also kept wishing that they could see and know their daddy. Now the poor woman feels that she is losing her mind. She is desperately unhappy and wonders what on earth she can do. I do not see how anyone can hope to cure her with medicine or diets or psychotherapy.

HOW IT WENT WRONG

I am reminded of a most thought-producing play I once saw called "Saturday's Children." It ought to be shown as a movie every few months in every high school of the land. It tells the story of a couple of loving youngsters who got married on a shoestring. Soon the young husband was getting more and more angered at the collectors who came every month for installments on the furniture and the many other things they had had to get for their little apartment. As often happens with persons who are not really adult, the lad started taking out his annoyance on his innocent little wife. She had had to go to work as a secretary, and the husband bitterly resented the kindnesses that her boss occasionally showed her. Finally, one evening when he wanted a few dollars which he might perhaps lose at a meeting of his penny ante poker club, and his wife had to tell him that she just could not let him have it because the next morning a collector was due, he blew up and walked out, saying he had had all he could stand.

The other day when I came into my office, I found a nice-looking woman in her thirties sitting there crying silently. She, who had been a professional singer and who loved music and excitement of show business, had married a handsome man with a good job. But soon she found that her husband, when he came home at night, was tired; he was quiet and reserved, with nothing to say. He read his paper; he looked at television, and soon he went upstairs to bed.

As years went by, the situation became more and more intolerable to the wife. She so wanted to get out occasionally in the evening but her husband refused to go. She thought at times of leaving him, but with two children who needed a home and a father, she did not see how she could carry on alone. As I said to the husband, I sympathized with him; I knew what it was to come home at the end of a hard day's work too tired to go out again. But, still I felt he was slowly killing his wife's spirit; a thing he was foolish to do. He was foolish, also, to be killing his wife's love.

I am sorry I do not know the answers to the terrible problems of many of the unhappy persons who come to me. In some cases only more money would help, and in others the couple need more sense and more adult behavior.

Ontario Cadet Tops Royal Roads Class

Top-ranking cadets in the graduating class of the Canadian Services college, Royal Roads, today were presented with honors and awards.

Receiving the prize of honor as the cadet considered by his classmates to be the best all-round cadet, based on the qualities of leadership and sportsmanship, and on academic standing, was Cadet Squadron Leader D. H. Allatt, Weston, Ont.

Other awards were: the H. E. Sellers telescope, to Cadet Wing Commander J. C. Wood, Charlottetown, P.E.I.; The Governor-General's silver medal, to Squadron Leader M. D. Thom, Vernon, B.C.; the Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec medal, to Leading Cadet G. D. Leslie, Calgary; the Captain's Cup, to Cadet Squadron Leader G. H. Jackson, Victoria; the Governor-General's Bronze Medal to Cadet M. A McAvity, Toronto; the Director of Studies cup, to G. D. Simpson, Calgary; and the U.S.I. Binoculars, also to Cadet Simpson.

The Cartier Flight, led by Cadet Flight leader A. S. Henry, Vernon, won the Interflight Grand Aggregate Shield, and the Thompson Flight, led by Cadet Flight Leader F. G. Hutson, was awarded the Wisener cup.

First class certificates went to Cadet Squadron Leader Thom and Leading Cadets J. B. Franklin, M. A. Reimann and J. C. Alexander.

Second year subject prizes were awarded to Leading Cadet D. Fraser, Cadet A. R. Williamson, Leading Cadet E. A. Mansfield, Leading Cadet Reiman, Leading Cadet Franklin (three) and Cadet Squadron Leader Thom (two).

First year subject prizes went to Cadets E. R. Murray, M. A McAvity (four), J. L. Smith, G. G. Hopp and R. D. McCracken.

Cadet Band Wins Praise At Debut

The 4 Light Anti-Aircraft Battery Army Cadet Corps brass band played for its first formal parade Thursday night and won praise from 25 Militia group commander Brig. John S. Adam.

Brig. Adam was inspecting officer for the corps' first annual inspection at Work Point in its three-year history. The 18-member band, only cadet brass band west of Halifax, and parade square drill by 49 senior and 17 junior cadets impressed the officer.

About 40 visitors saw the cadets conduct themselves in drill and training in signals, fieldcraft, rifle instruction and map reading while the band played background music.

Bandmaster is Cadet Bdr. D. Dawson. Chief instructor and assistant are Lieuts. F. N. Fotheringham and R. G. Bosence.

Guests included 4 LAA Battery commanding officer Maj R. A. McAlpine, 3 Field Engineer Squadron CO Capt. J. A. Swettenham, and B.C. Area cadet officers Capt. H. R. MacMillan and Lieut. R. Walton.

Red Cross Re-Elects Two Top Executives

TORONTO (CP)—Leslie G. Mills of Toronto and George Aitken of Winnipeg were re-elected Wednesday for a second term to the top voluntary administrative positions of the Canadian Red Cross Society. Mr. Mills was renamed chairman of central council and Mr. Aitken chairman of the national executive committee.

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit police department is recruiting 25 skin divers, who will be formed into a new "frog man" unit to help the harbormaster's bureau in Detroit river and Lake St. Clair searches. They'll look for drowning victims, investigate sunken cars and trace underwater crime clues.

Outdoor Sowing Now Calls for Caution

May is said to be the green light for outdoor seed growing, but I prefer to consider it a yellow light, a period in which to proceed with caution.

Jack

The more hardy vegetables and flowers will most likely be safe. Holding back on the half-hardy kinds until the third or fourth week of the month is a wise precaution.

Last year we recorded low temperatures quite late in May and young seedlings, just showing above soil level, were lost. It could happen again.

The urge to sow seed is difficult to control in weather such as the past three weeks. So difficult, in fact, that most of us are going to sow something regardless of the risk.

Fortunately, we can satisfy the urge without wasting too much time and seed, and be ahead if our luck holds, by sowing just a few short rows. Further short rows sown around May 19 and again at the end of the month will give a steady supply of fresh vegetables if all sowings survive.

We might even try a dozen or so beans of those varieties we prefer to grow. It will be about 10 days to two weeks before the seedlings are above the surface, and a little night protection is not difficult to arrange should light frosts develop.

Tomatoes, cucumbers, squash, okra, egg plant and related warm weather plants are not hardy enough to go outside in most districts until the latter part of May.

CABO BLANCO, Peru (AP) — Author Ernest Hemingway landed a 750-pound black marlin Thursday for the benefit of movie cameras. They were recording the catch for the film version of Hemingway's book, "The Old Man and the Sea." Hemingway landed the big marlin after a 45-minute battle.

RUDD AT HEARINGS

CHUB to Renew TV Application

NANAIMO—A television outlet to serve the upper portion of Vancouver Island is being sought by radio station CHUB in Nanaimo.

"Three years ago we made an application for a TV outlet and were refused by the CBC because we were in its reception area," Victor Fergie, production manager, said today.

Mr. Fergie said that although CBUT is seen well in Nanaimo, reception north of Parksville is "spotty."

"That is the area we hope to serve," he said.

C. J. Rudd, station manager, is in Ottawa at present to attend the sittings of the Fowler royal commission on radio and TV broadcasting.

Nurses Meet In Nanaimo May 18, 19

NANAIMO—Annual meeting of the Registered Nurses' Association of B.C. will be held at the Plaza Hotel here May 18 and 19, with councillors attending from nine districts, and delegates from 36 provincial chapters.

A pre-convention educational day will be observed May 17 when Prof. N. A. Hall of the UBC School of Commerce will lead discussion on the subject of job analysis techniques applied to nursing.

Miss Pearl M. Stiver, general secretary of the Canadian Nurses' Association, will participate in the two-day convention program.

Presiding officer will be Miss Alberta Creasor, association president.

Pipeline Break Giving Duncan Water Problems

DUNCAN—A break in the wood-stave pipe serving the Chemainus water system has forced a reduction in pressure from 60 to 20 pounds, and curtailment of sprinkling in the area.

Reeve C. A. P. Murison told North Cowichan council that after householders refused to stop watering lawns on the request of public works officials, he had to send police out to order sprinkling stopped.

The lowered pressure would not affect domestic use of water, the reeve said, but if sprinkling were permitted a portion of Chemainus lying on high land above the village would be without water.

MORE TILES

Canadians produced 2,256,000 square fett of floor tiles in January, 1956, against 1,417,000 in the same month of 1955.

Raw Milk Sale Approved By Duncan Council

DUNCAN (CP)—There will be no bar to the sale of raw milk in Duncan, council decided at a special meeting Thursday.

The council was acting on a request from the Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association for passage of a by-law permitting the sale of raw milk.

"There is no by-law preventing it," said Mayor J. T. Dobson. "So we do not require a by-law to permit it, unless this is found to be necessary when government regulations are published."

UBC Research Program Set On Island Farm

OYSTER RIVER (CP)—One of the finest farms on Vancouver Island has been taken over for research by the University of British Columbia.

The 1,700-acre $500,000 farm near this town 80 miles north of Victoria, will be used as a beef cattle ranch and to study hog production.

All students will receive pay while learning to become farmers, working five days a week and eight hours daily.

In addition to agricultural students, two zoology students will stay on the farm to study nutrition and the breeding habits of deer. Bear may also be kept for experimental purposes.

Forestry students will also make the farm their headquarters.

FRUIT FARM

The Oyster River farm is the second in a projected chain of farms the university plans on a province-wide basis. In the planning stage are a fruit farm in the Okanagan Valley, and a beef ranch in the Cariboo country.

Use of aureomycin on newborn calves to stop scours and increase growth rate is a current experiment at the farm.

Miss Posture Named By Chiropractors

CHICAGO (AP) — Beauty is skeleton deep for Louis Conway, Miss Correct Posture of 1956. Miss Conway, 18, was picked Tuesday by the joint chiropractic committee, representing 25,000 chiropractic physicians at a convention, on the basis of apparent—or skin-deep—beauty, X-rays and correct standing posture.

Doukhobor Women Refuse To Pay Fines; Still in Jail

NELSON (CP)—The 25 Doukhobor women found guilty Wednesday of disturbing the peace are apparently going to spend 10 days in jail instead of each paying a $15 fine.

All the women, members of the radical Sons of Freedom sect, were still in jail Thursday night. Twelve refused to leave jail earlier Thursday when their husbands offered to pay fines.

The women were found guilty of disturbing the peace by their "premeditated assault" last weekend on Emmett Gulley.

HELD BY RUSSIANS

Gaunt 'Stranger' Awaited by Parents

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Graf are preparing to welcome home their 33-year-old son Ernest whom they haven't seen in 17 years.

Ernest spent 11 years in Russian prisons until his release last month. A photo received from Germany showed the Grafs a gaunt, pallid stranger.

He left here when 16 to go to his grandparents in Germany and serve a three-year apprenticeship in electrical welding.

CONSCRIPTED

When the Second World War began, Ernest was unable to return to his parents, then living in Saskatchewan. He was conscripted [illegible] German [illegible] medical service in 1942.

Captured by the Russians three years later, it was not until after the war that his parents knew he was still alive.

In an interview in Weisweiler, Germany, after his release last month, he told of months of torture and starvation in the Ukraine and finally made a false confession implicating himself in a mass execution of Ukrainians by the Nazis.

Waiting for Ernest to recover in Germany before returning here are his brother, Frank, and two sisters, Mrs. John Wadson of Port Alberni and Mrs. Joseph Cels of Regina.

Crofton Caretaker Found Dead in Bed

Ghost Cars to Crack Down On Speeders, Hot-Rodders

Reinstitution of police ghost car traffic patrols in an effort to halt dangerous speeders has been announced by city police.

Chief John Blackstock said "there are too many of these so-called hot-rods" creating a threat to public safety.

The unmarked police car will carry two plainclothes officers and will take traffic violators by surprise.

FIVE SPEEDERS

Saanich police brought five youths into court Thursday, where they were convicted of speeding and fined $35 each. Officers said the quintet had been racing at paced speeds of 70-75 miles an hour on Douglas.

Magistrate H. C. Hall said if he had been sure the offenders were racing he would also have suspended their licences.

They were John F. Lever, 1013 Vancouver; David J. Wardell, 107 Cook; John F. Hill, 797 Scott; Charles D. Moore, 1505 Monterey, and David J. Robson, 460 Kipling.

Charged separately, Thomas M. Osvald, 1234 Dallas, was fined $35 for speeding at 80 miles an hour on Patricia Bay highway.

Also in Saanich court, Harold D. Grey, 975 Island Highway, was fined $25 for driving at 65 miles an hour in a 50-miles-an-hour zone on Douglas.

Harry Young Jr., 362 Sunset, was fined $35 when convicted of careless driving involving a collision, and Nancy J. Clark, 2605 Cotswold, paid $25 for driving without a licence.

CONGRESS APPROVES EISENHOWER SOIL BANK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House passed a new farm bill Thursday, approving President Eisenhower's soil bank program but denying him authority to advance farmers $500,000,000 in soil bank benefits this year.

Democrats denounced the advance payments plan as an attempt to buy farm votes in the November election. In the major test of the day, they defeated a pre-payment amendment 181 to 157 or almost a straight party line vote.

The roll call vote on passage of the bill was 314 to 78. The bill now goes to the Senate.

Suspended Official Quits Village Post

(From The Canadian Press)

NORTH KAMLOOPS — John G. Campbell resigned as clerk of North Kamloops village Thursday night in protest against "the shameful manner of my suspension."

He told a public meeting of the commission:

"I particularly take exception to the action of the chairman (Commissioner Don B. Ellsay) regarding cheques already signed by him and myself and of the embarrassment caused the bank manager and others."

He said it was a reflection on his integrity that the cheques, for his personal pay, had been questioned after the chairman had initialled them.

There was no comment at the meeting but Mr. Ellsay said afterwards: "In view of his suspension we were required by law to call in the auditors and it was they who ordered subsequent proceedings."

DRAGGED UNDER AUTO

VANCOUVER — Two teenagers on a motorcycle collided with a passenger car Thursday night and were dragged under it for 57 feet. Terrence O'Grady, 16, and Ken Hartfield, 15, were severely injured. The bike struck the front of the car and was tossed underneath the moving auto, police said.

TAX HIKE PROTESTED

TRAIL — Ratepayers Thursday night criticized a seven-mill increase in taxes for 1956 at a public meeting called by city council.

Frank Williams said his rates had risen 135 per cent since 1950 and Louis Fryling asked why half the city's accumulated $57,000 deficit had to be cleared within a year.

Mayor L. A. Read said the inspector of municipalities had told council he would prefer the deficit to be eliminated as soon as possible.

CRITICALLY HURT IN FIRE

NORTH KAMLOOPS — Two men were burned severely on Thursday when fire destroyed a temporary dwelling near here.

Critically injured when an oil lamp exploded was Wesley Stephens, 50. John Madsen, 37, was less severely burned on the face, arms and legs.

A passing truck driver found the two men lying outside the blazing house. The owner, M. A. Rositch, was away at the time.

MAN, 75, FINED $50

BURNABY—Donald Campbell McLeod, 75, was fined $50 on Thursday for selling Irish sweepstakes tickets.

RCMP testified they found "a quanity of tickets, stubs and money' when they searched the pensioners home April 23.

BABY IMPROVING

VANCOUVER—Janice Wilson was reported in satisfactory condition Thursday, two days after receiving a blood transfusion against the wishes of her Jehovah's Witnesses parents.

The baby girl was born April 10. She was taken into custody by the Children's Aid Society by court order Tuesday so that she could be given the transfusion needed to correct an RH blood factor.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wilson, the child's parents, are scheduled to appear in family court Tuesday to apply for return of the child.

BIG BUSHLAND FIRE

BURNABY — Fire scorched through five blocks of tinder-dry bushland Thursday, threatening homes on the boundary of Vancouver and Burnaby.

LANDMARK DESTROYED

CLINTON — A landmark of the old Cariboo Trail, the 70-Mile House burned to the ground Thursday. Constructed in 1862, mostly of hand-hewn logs, the building was situated 70 miles northeast of Lillooet and was a favorite wayside spot on the pioneer road to the Cariboo. No one was injured in the fire.

Smoking Habits of Nation Sought in Health Survey

How many cigarets a day do you smoke? How many cigars? How long have you been smoking that number? Have you smoked more than 20 pipefuls of tobacco during your lifetime.

Answers to those and a number of other questions along similar lines are being sought by the department of National health and welfare.

Questionnaires were received in Victoria today by many persons from the department which is investigating diseases which are important health problems in Canada. The information will be treated as confidential as far as individuals are concerned. An envelope is enclosed to return the form free of postage to the epidemiology division.

Other questions asked relate to age and occupation and the population of cities in which you have lived.

If you have just toyed around with smoking the department asks that you still return the form but indicates that it is not really interested in you. If you answer "no" to the questions have you smoked a hundred cigarets, 10 cigars or 20 pipefuls of tobacco in your lifetime, no answer to the other questions about your cigaret, cigar and pipe smoking habits are required.

Last question on the sheet is "do you inhale?" always a point for discussion when the subject of whether smoking is harmful is raised.

COMMISSIONER'S VIEW

Control Under CBC Lesser of Two Evils

OTTAWA (CP)—Private broadcasters were advised Thursday by the chairman of the royal commission on broadcasting that their efforts to get an independent regulatory tribunal for radio-TV could end in more controls on them.

Chairman R.M. Fowler was commenting on the Canadian Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters' request that the publicly-owned CBC, now the regulatory body, be restricted to operation and that control be placed under an independent board.

CARTB spokesmen persisted in their advocacy of a judicial board, saying it would be in better position than the CBC to assess impartially the effect of decisions on the public interest.

In a session at which commission questioners took CARTB witnesses over a wide area of the radio-TV field, there were these other developments:

1. The CARTB operators asked more freedom to form networks of their own or in conjunction with CBC stations, though they specified they did not want to be divorced from the national service of CBC-produced radio and television programs.

2. They said that if private TV was permitted in the metropolitan areas now reserved exclusively for the CBC, it could likely produce good programs less expensively than the CBC does now.

3. They gave a flat "no" to chairman Fowler's suggestion that private production of national TV programs would "degrade" their quality.

4. They have no quarrel with the CBC as such, but only with the legislation setting it up as both the regulator and competitor of private stations.

5. They said they feel the CBC's role opens the possibility of government interference in the dissemination of airwave news, opinion and comment, and this possibility should be eliminated.

6. The CARTB agreed with an earlier CBC opinion that radio will continue to play a big part in Canadian broadcasting, despite the swift growth of television.

7. It had no specific ideas on how the CBC should be financed, though its directors had mentioned a number of suggestions for study involving reduction of CBC operations.

8. The CARTB said broadcasting has just about reached the effective limit of good Canadian programs in the light of available talent.

Big Firms Target In City Fee Study

$150,000 a Year More From Levy On Business Firms Advocated by Ald. Smith

Outmoded by-laws which excuse some city business firms from paying business licences and apparently let others off with a token fee will be reviewed by Victoria city council.

City manager C. C. Wyatt on Thursday was given 60 days to bring in a full report comparing fees charged firms here with fees charged businesses by other cities of similar size.

The review was called after Ald. Don Smith told council the city should realize $150,000 to $175,000 more in annual fees.

"These large businesses are prepared to pay more—we've never taken the trouble to ask them," he stated.

COMPARISONS LISTED

He told council that large insurance companies operating here pay no business licence (although individual agents pay fees). Large banks pay only $1,800 a year and their branches $300. Trust companies are exempt from licence fees.

Supermarkets pay only $200 to $350 a year, and the largest single supermarket in Canada (Safeway's Quadra Street store) pays only $430.

The Hudson's Bay Company store here pays $3,000 and in comparson the slightly larger store in Vancouver is charged $40,000 annually by that city.

The local Hudson's Bay store should pay $18,000 in ratio, Ald. Smith contended.

He added Sidney Roofing pays only $280 a year and B.C. Forest Products $400.

"They are here because it's advantageous to be here, there is nothing philanthropic about it . . . the small homeowner is subsidizing business in Victoria."

Ald. M. H. Mooney submitted that local tobacco wholesalers pay no business fee as they say they are merely distributors.

"Standard Furniture pays only $280 while a similar sized store in New Westminster pays $6,000 and that city is less than half the size of Victoria," said Ald. Smith.

"Well, let's go into it," said Mayor Percy Scurrah.

"Shocking," said Ald. Arthur Dowell.

"Let's not drive them into Saanich," objected Ald. W. F. Pinfold.

Ald. Smith replied that one oil company located in Victoria pays more for sending its trucks into Saanich to that municipality ". . . than we charge them for all their business operation here."

Council was unanimous in the decision to review the question.

Big Ben Needs Sponsor

Before another attempt is made by Victoria's "Big Ben" Laughren on the Strait of Juan de Fuca, at least $175 is needed to meet expenses, trainer Ove Witt said today.

"People take a lot of interest in these swim attempts, and get a lot of entertainment from them—when it is done by other people,' he said.

"It doesn't occur to anyone that it costs a bit of money."

The swimmer and trainer this year have made two attempts on the strait. During the last one, about 10 days ago, the swimmer made nine miles from his starting point at Horseshoe Bay, but was defeated by high wind and waves.

Costs of the two swim tries have been born by Laughren and Witt.

Waitresses at McEwen's restaurant where the swimming chef works have contributed toward another swim, but it is not enough to warrant the venture.

Tentative plans, if a sponsor or sponsors can be found, is for another breach of the 18.3 miles of cold water May 7. Failure on that date meant trying the strait again May 8 and May 9.

French Dockers Refuse to Unload Ex-Red's Cargo

LE HAVRE, France (Reuters)—Dockworkers here have refused to unload cargo from a ship commanded by Capt. Jan Cwiklinski, former master of the Polish liner Batory, who asked for political asylum in Britain three years ago. Cwiklinski is in command of the Liberian-registered Wolna Polska (Free Poland), which docked here Monday with 10,000 tons of coal. An official of the local stevedores' branch of the Communist-led General Confederation of Labor said no union directive had been given for the boycott.

Judo Too Much, Wife Sues for Divorce

DETROIT (AP)—Her husband's judo got to be just too much for Mrs. Barbara Clark. In her divorce suit filed Wednesday, Mrs. Clark said her husband, Walter, didn't practice on her but grappled with unsuspecting guests, and "after our friends were thrown to the floor several times, they would leave, never to return."

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Thomas L. Barnecott, former publisher of the weekly newspaper Aylmer Express and five times mayor of that Elgin county town, died in hospital Thursday. Mr. Barnecott had been a printer 40 years.

PETITION SEEKS REOPENING OF CHERRY BANK HOTEL CASE

A petition now circulating in downtown Victoria on behalf of Cherry Bank Hotel owner Fred Donelly is expected to be presented to city council next week. The petition, containing hundreds of names, according to city lawyer A. DeB. McPhillips, will ask council to reconsider leaving the hotel in a "special district" zoning category when adopting the new zoning by-law.

At last council meeting decision was made to change the hotel's zoning back to apartment.

Bad Year Ahead With 'Sons' Says CPR Security Official

VANCOUVER (CP) — J. R. Johnston, assistant chief investigator for the CPR, Thursday prophesied a summer of violence among the Doukhobors of British Columbia's Kootenay valley.

"You can expect lots of nude parades and burnings," Mr. Johnston said in an interview. He is here to attend the annual convention of the protective section of the American Association of Railroads.

The Winnipeg-based investigator said his company is preparing for a bad year.

CITY'S OLDEST SCHOOL RAZED FOR LAOBRATORY

Victoria's oldest school, Kingston Street Elementary (1887), is being reduced to rubble today and the site prepared for erection of a new provincial laboratory, or testing laboratory for the highways department.

The old school was transferred to the province shortly after pupils moved into the new James Bay Elementary School.

A-puttin' around:

The reminder is out that entries for the B.C. Amateur championships at Gorge Vale, May 18-21, close on May 11.

Entries are limited to 99, and handicaps to 10 and under. Don't be shut out.

* * *

The southpaws should be interested in this:

The Nanaimo Golf Club hosts the Island left-handers tounament Sunday, May 18 over 18 holes, medal.

A Big Step

Laurie Kerr reached a peak Sunday as he won the Times Vancouver Island golf chamship. Now the big test for Laurie is the upcoming B.C. Amateur. A victory, or a commendable showing in that one, and Laurie could parlay his Island triumph into a Willingdon Cup berth.

Vince Clarkson, Kerr's opponent in the Island final, was gracious indeed when he commented:

"It's best that Laurie won," for as Vince added: "He's a better representative for the B.C. playoff than me. . ."

But Laurie was quick to give Vince his dues.

"It was my toughest match. That Clarkson never quits."

Yes, Vince needs more experience as he readily admitted.

And he'll get his lumps along with it, too, which will be better. For a guy does need breakfast before he attempts to play 36 holes of golf; Vince didn't eat breakfast Sunday, and breakfast is experience.

Or as Art Donaldson, former professional at the Earl Grey Club in Calgary commented:

"He's a year or two away, but he's got the heart."

Shirley Naysmith, present city ladies' champ, won't be competing this summer. Normal reasoning will provide the answer to the question, "why?"

Not Cricket

Most golfers agree that the cup on the 12th hole at Gorge Vale was unfairly placed Sunday for the Island final. For anyone at the top of the green couldn't stop their ball within 10 feet of the hole unless they hit the flag. It would seem that a competitor should at least have a chance of getting close enough to the hole so that his next putt would be relatively simple. Not so on the 12th, for a ball placed six feet away from the cup on the downhill slope would roll 10 feet past without even being stroked! Honestly now—is that golf?

* * *

Tom Nesbit takes over at Colwood as secretary next week. He was in the same position at Oak Bay . . . Laurie Roland, former Canadian junior champ, is a PWA pilot now, but still shooting golf in the 70s . . . City men's amateur will be June 3 and 10 at Uplands . . . Bill Haldane is the new prexy at Oak Bay, Dr. George Bigelow the club captain . . .

* * *

Want a golfing-fishing holiday for $15 a day? . . . The CPR makes the offer for the week of May 28-June 2 at the Banff Springs Hotel, with the special rate including room, meals, golf, indoor and outdoor swimming. The fish, you have to catch yourself.

Gee, and I've never been to Banff!

* * *

Wine will flow at the Shaughnessy Golf Club Friday in honor of C. E. Robinson, manager of the Royal Canadian Golf Association, as the tub thumping begins for National Golf Day . . . It would be nice if Mr. Robinson would visit Victoria, but then he probably doesn't know that the B.C. president, George Bigelow, lives here . . . or that few other RCGA officials ever bothered to make the trip across the strait either.

Gene on Top

Leading money winner on the Gold Trail this year is Gene Littler, thanks to his $10,000 boot from the Las Vegas tournament of champions . . . JUNIOR ROCKS DRILL

Victoria Junior Shamrocks will hold a workout tonight at the Esquimalt box at 6.30.

NOW HERE'S HOW IT'S DONE

Taking instruction from Mrs. J. Kelly, second from right, on how to hold the discus properly are, from left to right, Margaret Baird, Pete Napper, Jack Showers, Janet Duke, Erica Williams and Gary Taylor, all of Oak Bay High School. The Oak Bay track and field squad is prepping for its own meet May 11 and the inter-high school meet May 18. (Times Photo by Halkett.)

Archie's Miseries Prove Rocks' Cure

Browning Again Nets Winner

Shamrocks 9, Westminster 8

By DENNY BOYD

NEW WESTMINSTER — He complains that he isn't in shape, that his stomach is bothering him and that his shooting is so bad he couldn't hit the broad side of a bus with a bucket of buckshot.

But has anyone noticed that Archie Browning has scored the winning goal in Victoria Shamrocks' first two games of the Intercity Lacrosse League?

Browning, full of complaints and self effacement, did it for the second night in a row here Thursday night as the Rocks came from behind to score a last quarter 9-8 victory over Bill "Whoopee" Tyler's New Westminster Salmonbellies.

Browning, plagued all night by erratic shooting, banked a carefully calculated shot off Harry Preston's leg pads at 3.41 of the fourth quarter to turn what appeared impending disaster into a Shamrock victory. It was the only goal of the last quarter, snapped a tenacious 8-8 tie and sent the Bellies down to one more of those exasperating quarter defeats that have ued them during the last years.

In the New Westminster dressing room after the game, last year's Salmonbellies coach Art Pruden who is due to join the club as a player in the near future, said, "Yeah, they used to break my heart the same way, game after game."

Whoopee Tyler, the presiding coach, raised his booming voice above the post-game post-mortems and boomed, "Tomorrow night, here, 7.30. We have some ironing to do."

Running like elusive wraiths, the Bellies burst into a fast 2-0 lead on goals by veteran Jake Trotzuk and sophomore Murray Duncan, but Shamrocks' two gold-plated rookies, Bert Bertoia and Ed Longpre flipped in a pair of equalizers and it was 2-2 at quarter time.

ONE OF THE BEST

Then, in the second quarter, Cliff Sepka, one of the finest home-grown lacrosse products the mainland has turned out in a flock of years, tore the Shamrock defence to ribbons and flashed in three goals.

Bud Harradine added a fourth while Shamrock arguments came from Bertoia, again, and Al Gill, leaving 'Bellies ahead 6-4 at the half.

Harradine and this very same Sepka made it 8-4 for the 'Bellies and those 700 fans (550 paid) started making a noise like 7,000.

But Al Gill came out of the penalty box to snare a breakaway pass to score, and so unsettled New Westminster goalie Harry Preston that he was easy pickings.

In rapid order, Al Davies, Jackie Thompson and Longpre scored to tie it at 8-8.

Geordy Johnston started pulling rabbits out of hats in the Shamrock nets and he shut the 'Bellies out from 5.04 of the third quarter until the end of the game.

Johnston did his part and Browning the rest.

Bill Bamford, hitting top early-season form, was a standout of the Irish defence, reeling off four scoring passes.

SHAMROCKS MAY LOSE BRADSHAW FOR MONTH

Victoria Shamrocks won their second victory of the lacrosse season Thursday night but, in the process, may have lost forward Peewee Bradshaw for a month.

Injured in Shamrocks' home opener here Wednesday night, Bradshaw told club officials his injured ankle was better and asked to be used in Thursday's game against New Westminster.

He was forced to leave the game at half-time after aggravating the injury in the fast game.

Club doctor, Jack Patterson, said it may be necessary to keep Bradshaw out of action for a month to allow the sprain to heal fully.

Two City Boxers On Olympic List

Two Victoria belters were among the eight winners that emerged Thursday night from the B.C. Olympic boxing trials in Vancouver. They will probably not know until Sunday, however, who will be nominated to represent the province at the Canadian trials in Montreal next September.

Victoria's busy Brian O'Hare gained a split decision over South Burnaby's Johnny Phillips in the 119-pound class, while rugged Squeak Weisgerber, RCN, was uncontested in the 156-pound class.

Another Victoria sailor, Rip Kirby, was decisioned by classy Norm Jorgenson of Vancouver in the 147-pound class, while Richard Murikami, Salt Spring Island, lost to Junior Bull, North Vancouver, in a 112-pound bout.

All except Jorgenson and Bull starred recently on the Victoria Optimist Club's "Tournament of Champions" boxing show at the Central Junior High school gym.

Jimmy Walters of Vancouver, 139-pound Canadian champion and "Optimist Boy" at the Victoria tourney, suffered a TKO at the hands of Jorgenson in the 147-pound class.

The referee stopped the fight with Walters bleeding from two face cuts. Both fighters agreed afterwards to fight again to decide who would go to the national trials.

CANADA LEADS CUP TENNIS

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (CP)—Fresh from victories in the opening singles matches, young Don Fontana of Toronto and Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., teamed up today in the doubles in an attempt to clinch the first round of the North American zone Davis Cup tie against the West Indies.

Fontana, an improved player after a tour of the Far East, had a little bit extra in the pinch to win the second singles match Thursday in four sets over Ian McDonald of British Guiana 7-5, 6-1, 4-6, 6-4 after Bedard polished off Peter Phillips of Jamaica in just under an hour 6-1, 6-4, 6-4.

Leonard Close In Colonial

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Dow Finsterwald, Paul Harney and Peter Thomson led the $25,000 Colonial national invitation tournament with one-under-par 69s in the first round Thursday.

Thomson, 26-year-old Australian, is British open champion.

One stroke back were three noted shotmakers from Texas—Ben Hogan, Byron Nelson and Tommy Bolt.

Five players, including Stan Leonard of Vancouver and Lachute, Que., and Gordon Brydson of Toronto, were bracketed at 72.

Al Balding of Toronto slumped to a 78. Bill Mawhinney of Vancouver scored a 40-37—77. Murray Tucker of Toronto a 39-42—81, Jack Kay of Montreal a 39-41—80, and Bill Kerr, also of Montreal, a 37-38—75.

City Booters Off to Mainland

Victoria will be well represented this weekend at the annual B.C. Tournament of Champions soccer competition in Vancouver.

Four divisional winners in the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association are making the trip to the mainland for the tourney.

Saturday, Eagles, Division One, meet Vancouver Steelworkers at 10.30 a.m. and Eagles, Division Three, take on Vancouver Harrisons at 3.10 p.m.

Sundy morning at 10.30, Canadian Scottish, Division Two, meet North Shore Craftsmen, while at 3.20 p.m. Combines of Division Four, unbeaten this year, battle Vancouver Rainiers.

All the sudden-death matches will be played at Vancouver's Callister Park.

Winnipeg 3, Montreal 1
(Winnipeg Wins Best-of-Nine Series, 5-1)

WINNIPEG (CP)—Winnipeg Warriors, a combination of seasoned veterans and ambitious rookies, Thursday night climaxed their first year of operation by winning the Edinburgh Trophy, top award for minor professional hockey in Canada.

The city's first professional hockey team in 28 years wrapped up the best-of-nine series with a 3-1 victory over Montreal Royals of the Quebec League, who managed to win once in six games against the Winnipeg club.

Warriors maintained a sizzling stride throughout their 90-game season, topping the Western League during the regular schedule, winning the league championship and setting attendance records.

LARGEST PRO CROWD

A crowd of 10,072, largest crowd to watch a professional hockey game in western Canada, jammed Winnipeg's new $2,000,000 arena for the final game. Total attendance of 264,139 also was tops in the nine-team circuit.

Right-winger Bill Mosienko, a veteran of 16 seasons in pro hockey who saw action in the National League, led Winnipeg with two goals while Paul Masnick notched the other. Walt Bradley scored the Montreal goal.

The Winnipeg victory returned the Edinburgh Trophy to the west for the second time since the award was put up for competition three years ago. Calgary Stampeders won it first and Shawinigan Falls Cataracts of the Quebec League captured it last year.

The fans gave a two-minute ovation to Mosienko—the player who had captured their hearts all season. The hockey veteran told the crowd over the public address system: "The NHL was never like this."

General manager Jack Perrin, Jr., simply said: "It's a wonderful feeling, terrific—almost like having a baby."

17 STARTERS

'Beat Needles' ---Derby Theme

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP)—No Kentucky Derby favorite has won in the last three years, but trainer Hugh Fontaine was confident today that his Needles will come through on schedule for the Derby Day crowd at Churchill Downs Saturday.

Every other trainer of the 18 three-year-olds entered in the 82nd and richest running of the first of the triple crown classics agreed that the breaks seem to ride with Fontaine and his colt, which has won $208,000 this year. But they weren't afraid of Needles, a 2-1 choice.

The only trainer who wasn't particularly interested in getting the No. 1 post position was Fontaine. But he drew it for Needles, the stretch-running son of Ponder, who has won two $100,000 added races this year, the Flamingo Stakes and the Florida Derby.

Actually his slow-starting colt might have been better off farther out from the rail when the bulky field is sent after a winner's purse worth $123,400. Needles then could not get caught in a jam.

Also trying to stay out of a jam when the starting gates are sprung at 2.30 p.m. (PDT) on Saturday will be the Calumet Farm's entry of Fabius and Pintor Lea, C. V. Whitney's entry of Career Boy and Head Man, Count Chic, High King, No Regrets, Ben A. Jones, Besomer, Come On Red, Terrang, Jean Baptiste, Invalidate, Black Emperor, King O'Swords and Countermand.

The Derby will be worth a total of $167,550, the richest in history, if 17 horses start.

In addition to the Calumet and Whitney entries, there will be a mutuel "field" grouping of Reaping Right, Come On Red, Jean Baptiste, Invalidate and King O'Swords.

NEWMARKET, Eng. (Reuters) — Sir Victor Sassoon's Honeylight today won by two lengths the One Thousand Guineas, British turf classic for three-year-old fillies.

Straths, Heaneys In Cup Final

Victoria Strathconas will make two changes in their regular line-up Saturday when they meet Heaneys at Athletic Park Saturday at 2 in the Jackson Cup soccer final.

Charlie Mills will take over for John Pickburn at left fullback and Bill Abbott will replace Tommy Druce at centre-forward.

Other positions will have Pete Winter in goal; Bill Hope at right fullback; Joe Robbins, Harold Holroyd and Willie Hamilton as half backs, and Ced Robb, Ernie Eastlake, George Wright and Ken Hibbert on the forward line.

For Heaneys, Dave Unwin will be in goal, with Dave Wright and Wally Thorne as fullbacks; Ken Hill, Frank Lohner and Tom Rimmer as halfs, and Darrel Burley, Frank Greely, Tim Walker, Mel Sellers and Nelson Crisp up front.

Decision Reserved As Fight Probe Ends

NEW YORK (AP)—Decision was reserved by Judge Sylvester J. Ryan Thursday on the government's anti-trust suit against the International Boxing Club, Madison Square Garden and two IBC officials.

Judge Ryan, who heard the nine-day trial, said he felt there was a "serious question of law involved" and added "I do not see many factual issues."

James D. Norris, president of the IBC in New York and Illinois and also president of the Garden, and Arthur Writz, his partner, were charged with conspiring to monopolize title fights and the promotion of pro boxing through the use of exclusive contracts with fighters and managers and interlocking directorships.

In testimony it was brought out that the formation of the two IBC clubs was made possible after Joe Louis retired as heavyweight champion in 1949 and assigned to Norris and Writz exclusive contracts to the four leading contenders, Joe Walcott, Ezzard Charles, Lee Savold and Gus Lesvenich. In return Louis was paid $150,000, given a yearly salary of $15,000 and 20 per cent of the IBC stock.

MANCHESTER BIDS FOR DOUBLE HONOR

English Cup Final Toss-Up

By PERCY J. WOODLEY

Soccer representatives of two great cities will contest the 75th English Football Association Cup Final Saturday on that beautiful playing surface at Wembley Stadium, London.

They are Birmingham and Manchester. It will be the 29th time the final of this great competition has been played at Wembley.

Could it be that the league championship and the English Cup will go to Manchester as they did to Liverpool 50 years ago, or will the cup go to Birmingham City? Only the final whistle can solve this problem.

Manchester United have already won the league championship. Even as early as January the eventual winners undoubtedly had visions of success, since their cup hopes in the third round were relinquished by four clear goals to a theoretically much weaker team, Bristol Rovers.

Now City can give Manchester its double.

English Cup competition still retains its popularity, for an average attendance at 32 third-round games reached over 29,000, about 2,000 per match higher than last year. As is usual, surprisess and disappointments predominated.

Arsenal, glamor club of soccer, suffered one of its worst humiliations in the third round. At Arsenal Stadium and leading at half-time by two goals, the home team allowed a non-league team of part-timers to equalize and force a replay.

After enjoying 85 minutes of glory on their own ground, Bedford Town, the Cinderella club, allowed Arsenal to equalize and snatch the victory in extra time.

Wolverhampton Wanderers and Preston North End, other big names did not survive the third round.

In the semi-final game at Villa Park, Birmingham, hundreds of jubilant fans invaded the pitch in token of Manchester City's triumphant march to Wembley for the second year in succession. Twice have they won the Cup and have appeared in six finals. Birmingham City defeated Sunderland by three goals to provide the opposition.

Winning the second-division championship last season and graduating to elite company, Birmingham City has restored and retained fan confidence this season, so much so that they are joint favorites to win the Cup.

The cup final rehearsal between the finalists ended in a 1-1 tie. As both teams were below full strength, conclusions were hard to draw. Birmingham's consistent progress and eight trying months augurs well for a successful conclusion, even though Manchester City will strive to bring the glory home.

Birmingham City's progress to Wembley has been tough and includes four away-from-home victories.

But with Manchester United league champions, Manchester City will want more than ever to bring home the English Cup.

Lemon's Bat Swings Sweet Tune for Nats

Washington Outfielder Real Surprise

By The Associated Press

Jim Lemon, a minor league whiz and major league bust, is bruising the ball this year at a .381 clip.

Big Jim always hit well in the pre-season training camps. Once the season started, however, he generally stopped connecting. First Cleveland and then Washington sadly shipped him back to the minors.

But this is a new year for Lemon, one of the most surprising of the startling Washington Senators. His batting average is the fifth best in the league and he stands third in runs-batted-in with 13.

Manager Marty Marion of Chicago White Sox apparently thought it was the old Jim Lemon his team was meeting Thursday night. Marty ordered Roy Sievers passed with a two-on, first-base-open situation in the seventh inning of a 4-4 tie game.

475-FOOT HOMER

What happened? Lemon blasted a home run which carried an estimated 475 feet into Griffith stadium's distant left field bleachers and also knocked White Sox right out of first place in the American League.

The 7-4 defeat suffered by Chicago enabled the New York Yankees to take over first, even though the New Yorkers themselves dropped an 8-7 decision to Kansas City.

Cleveland, which whipped Baltimore 7-1 behind Mike Garcia's six-hit pitching, still trails Chicago in percentage, although ahead games won and lost.

Boston pulled up to the .500 mark as big Frank Sullivan, a great Tiger tamer, whipped Detroit 5-2 with a six-hitter.

ROAD JAM

Two streaks were halted as the National League race developed a tremendous traffic jam with six teams bunched within one game of each other.

Brooklyn's defending world champions looked like the runaway team of 1955 as they bombed St. Louis Cardinals 7-3 for their first victory in five starts, while Pittsburgh's Bob Friend ended a six-game victory string for Cincinnati as he pitched Pirates to a five-hit, 5-1 victory.

NASHUA CAN'T MAKE IT EVEN WITH STAKE WIN

NEW YORK (AP)—Nashua will fall a few thousand dollars short of Citation's record as the all-time money winning champion if the four-year-old wins Saturday's Grey Lag Handicap at a mile and a furlong at Jamaica.

Nashua has won $1,040,515 in 22 starts as compared to the total of $1,085,760 banked by Citation when he retired for keeps in 1951. The difference is only $45,245. The $50,000 added Grey Lag probably will have a net value of about $37,000 to the winner, depending on how many horses go to the post.

Solons Take PCL Lead, Padres Edge Mounties

By The Associated Press

Sacramento is finally on top of the Pacific Coast League and the Solons did it the most satisfying way of all—by hauling down defending champion Seattle in two out of three games.

The Solons won the series rubber game 5-2 Thursday night and moved a few percentage points ahead of the Rainiers, who have led most of the season.

San Diego took Vancouver 7-6 on a disputed double in the ninth by Earl Rapp. Los Angeles and Portland were rained out.

At Vancouver, San Diego held a 6-0 lead in the eighth when the Mounties tied it on five hits, a hit batter and a walk. In the ninth Padres Al Federoff and Joe Macko singled, then Rapp slammed his double. Vancouver manager Lefty O'Doul took strong issue with umpire Cec Carlucci's ruling that it was fair as it sailed by first base.

San Francisco split at Hollywood, losing the seven-inning opener 1-0 to Ben Wade's fine one-hitter, then coming back to get the nightcap, 7-6.

PORTLAND, Ore.—Amos Lincoln, 191, Portland, outpointed Howard King, 193, Reno, Nev. (10).

RON PROMISES JOHN HIS BEST

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Ron Delany, Villanova College sophomore who has run the fastest mile in the United States this year, said Thursday he would put forth his greatest effort against John Landy here Saturday.

"I hope I live up to his kind words," Delany said of Landy's statement that the Irish runner should prove his greatest competitor. "I would like nothing better than to run my best against Mr. Landy."

No Justice For Olga On Mat Card

Very little is left to the imagination of the fans when the girl wrestlers show up at Memorial Arena.

Thursday night, during the double main event of the weekly professional show, almost everybody could tell right off just who was who.

Olga Zepeda, the good girl, was encased in a chaste white creation, while the bad girl, Betty Jo Hawkins, was wearing, of course, black.

Lest this symbolism be lost on the public, Betty Jo had red hair, emitted raucous cries throughout the match and heaped indignities indiscriminately on Olga and referee Dave Pye. All Olga did was dimple prettily at the crowd.

Despite those who like the happy ending, however, justice did not triumph. After each girl had won a fall, they took to rassling on the concrete floor of the arena instead of in the ring and the match was declared no contest.

In the other evening's entertainment, The Red Mask scowled his way to a victory over skinny Adrian Baillergon and Leo Numa and Strangler Wagner fought to a draw.

Rock Leaves Door Open 'Urge Will Be There'

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP) — Did Rocky Marciano—in the midst of the hometown fanfare for his retirement from the heavyweight championship—leave the door slightly ajar for a possible return to the ring?

Some of the huge throng who listened to Brockton's favorite son speak at the Fair Grounds Thursday after a 200-car motorcade had traveled 5½-mile parade route pondered the question.

"I'm happy the way everything has worked out," Rocky told his listeners. "My family is happy and everybody in Brockton is happy. My plans don't call for a comeback.

"But, of course, I can't see deep into the future. That will come later.

"I'm going to give it a good try. I'm going to do my best to stick with it, although I know the urge will be there to try it again."

Rocky got some reporters curious at a press conference, too, when he said:

"Should I return, I would want Al Weill as my manager."

"The champion will have to ask me to get him a fight," Weill said. "I will not go after him. I don't think he ever should fight again, now that he's retired."

LEAFS WIN OPENER

TORONTO (CP) — A rare triple-play and Loren Babe's clutch hitting gave Toronto Maple Leafs a 3-2, 11-inning decision over Richmond Virginians in Toronto's International League home baseball opener Thursday. A crowd of 12,122 saw the Leafs score their ninth win in 13 games.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Imperial Oil At New High

TORONTO — Imperial Oil climbed $2.25 to a new peak of $51.50 on the Toronto stock market today.

Trans-Mountain hit a high of $63.50. B-A Oil was up $1.25 at $39.75 after announcing a deal for added pipeline facilities.

Refining oil and pipeline stocks continued to attract the bulk of buying while selected utilities, steels and papers were strong.

International Nickel advanced $2.50 at $96.50 and Hudson Bay moved up $1.37 to $79.37 as features of the mining section.

McIntyre added $1 in golds.

Canadian Export Gas, Prairie and Canadian Devonian notched 25-cent gains in western oils.

VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER—A quiet market with prices steady.

Sheep Creek made the largest turnover, moving 31,200 shares going to $2.78 from $2.

Quatsino sold 10,200 at 66. Silver Standard moved 7,000 at 76. Utica traded 6,000 at 5. Sparmac sold 6,000 at 31. Van-Tor moved 6,000 between $1.22 and $1.27. Beaver Lodge sold 3,500 at 42. Indian Mines traded 4,000 at 6. Mid West Copper sold 5,000 going to 74. Trojan traded 5,000 at 55. Canaam Copper moved 4,100 at $1.42. Inland Gas sold 2,600 between $5.25 and $5.40.

NEW YORK

NEW YORK (AP)—Oils held the most buying attention today in a moderately higher stock market.

Higher with oils were steels motors, coppers, railroads and chemicals. Aircrafts were mixed and quiet today. Most other divisions also were mixed.

Moving higher in the Canadian section were Hudson Bay Mining, up 2, and International Nickel, up 1.

Lower were Granby Mining and Distillers Seagrams, down ¼ and ⅛ respectively.

LONDON

LONDON (Reuters)—The undertone in the stock market was satisfactory today though there was a disposition to hold off before the weekend.

Among rails, Canadian Pacific were lower. There was selective demand for industrials and engineering shares were favored.

Western Canada was a firm feature in breweries. Coppers appeared easier. Oils were active and firm following the good British Petroleum dividend.

Stock closings: Babcock and Wilcox 80s, Bowater Paper 59s 9d, British-American Tobacco 52s 1½d, British Celanese 22s 4½d, Canadian Pacific $61½, General Electric 57s 9d, Gt. Univ. Strs. 45s 3d, Hudson's Bay Co. 187s 3d, Imperial Chemical 48s 7½d, Imperial Tobacco 49s 10½d, Metal Box 55s, Mexican Eagle 20s 9d, Rand Mines 68s 9d, Rolls-Royce 105s 6d.

MONTREAL

MONTREAL (CP)—Prices today moved higher in most sections of the industrial list in moderately active trading on the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges.

Imperial gained 1½ and BA 1¾ to lead the advance in the refining oils. Trans-Mountain added ¾ in the pipelines.

False Dividend Shakes Market

LONDON (UP) — Thousands of dollars were won and lost in 20 minutes last night on the London stock exchange when a financial news agency made a mistake in reporting a company's dividend.

At 5.15 p.m. the financial service Comtel (Reuters) flashed out a dividend that brokers throughout London's financial district had been waiting for. This was an hour and 45 minutes after the exchange officially closed.

"British Petroleum, Ltd., have declared a final dividend of 15 per cent tax free, making 20 per cent tax free for 1955," it said.

British Petroleum, formerly Anglo-Iranian, was selling for 143 shillings, 7½ pence at the time.

Although the stock market was closed, brokers returned to their offices and dealers rushed for phones. Thousands of shares changed hands as jobbers snapped up holdings offered by speculators who had bought earlier in anticipation of a bumper dividend.

Financial circles estimated that nearly $3,000,000 changed hands as the price rose to nearly 160 shillings.

Twenty-two minutes later British Petroleum said the final dividend was 10 per cent tax free, not 15 per cent. Five minutes later Comtel flashed a correction.

The genuine B.P. dividend was announced, as usual, after the exchange closed.

Cash for Art Frank Aim Of Peter Ustinov's Uncle

A Canadian artist who believes art is for gold, not glory, opens a one-man exhibition Saturday in T. Eaton Co. drapery department.

He is Platon Ustinov, a resident of Salt Spring Island the last 10 years and one of Canada's few successful free-lance painters.

Although a true artist in the esthetic sense, Mr. Ustinov would rather sell a picture for $5 than have it hung in a gallery at no gain.

As an added attraction, Mr. Ustinov will for one hour a day—12.15 to 1.15 p.m.—demonstrate the actual development of an oil portrait, using a model from Eaton's grocery department chosen by himself because of the character and "paintable" qualities in her face.

The exhibit, consisting of paintings done during the last 10 years (mostly in the past five years) in the Near East, Salt Spring Island, Vancouver, Hollywood, Carmel and San Francisco, will be open daily until May 12.

One of them is a study of the British actress Jean Simmons, done on the set of the recent movie, "The Egyptian," in which Mr. Ustinvo's nephew Peter, also English, played a leading role.

KNOWS POVERTY

Like many artists, Mr. Ustinov knows the misfortune of little cash. He came to Vancouver when about 24, after studying art in Paris, Munich and Stuttgart, and won the Beatrice Stone silver medal given in B.C.

He soon became a member of Vancouver Art School staff where he stayed about 12 years on salary.

"I paint with a vengeance now because I taught so long and got only my cheque at the end of the month; not for painting, just for teaching."

His last exhibition brought about $1,500 in sales.

"The fact that paintings are hung in galleries is not necessarily of any use to living artists, who should find a commercial outlet for their work.

"A pat on the back for having paintings hung is no good at all. Even if someone offers five dollars for a picture, then it has a function. It doesn't matter who it is.

"It is not a shameful thing for an artist to earn money," the artist said.

HANGS ALL OVER

Mr. Ustinov's work hangs in all parts of the world from Beunos Aires to Cairo, from Seattle to Washington.

He was born in Turkey in 1903, the son of an archaeologist, and began his education in England, home for his first 20 years. After a year in Berlin he decided to emigrate to Canada, first spending six months in Saskatchewan, then coming to the coast.

His wife's headquarters are in New York, from where she arranges shows and travels with the Miss America and Miss Maid of Cotton promotions.

IN RECITAL—Compositions by masters of organ music will be heard Friday, May 11, when William P. McColl joins with Centennial United Church choir to present a concert of sacred and secular music at Victoria West United Church where Mr. McColl is organist and choir director.

When Them Cats Blow, Satchmo Don't Recognize It, Neither

BY EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—Louis Armstrong and his trumpet are itching to rend the English air with real American jazz.

"Man," growled Satchmo in his gravel-toned voice, "old Satch is raring to blow."

Barred previously from playing in the United Kingdom because of rows between the American and British musicians' unions, Armstrong was allowed in when the U.S. union consented to let Freddy Randall, a British trumpeter, play in the United States.

Two Dixieland British type jazz bands blared out "When the Saints Go Marching In" as Armstrong stepped from his plane.

"Blow, it, daddy, blow it," yelled Armstrong across the landing strip. Then the reporters gathered.

"Mr. Armstrong," asked a representative of the BBC, "as a traditionalist, what do you think of progressive jazz as a new art form?"

"Man," answered Satchmo, "I just don't pay no attention to that bop slop. I just try to play that good old New Orleans music in the same old way—and try to play it good."

"But," persisted the BBC man, "some of their music is truly inspiring."

"Yes, sir," said Louis, "It must inspire somebody, but I sat around Pittsburgh listening to them cats for 45 minutes before I realized they was playing Lover Come Back to Me."

Someone asked him about the international situation.

"Why, I reckon it's all right. The last time I looked at it it was all right. Anyhow, they still blowing and they ain't shooting."

ADD INTERVIEWS I WOULD LIKE TO READ, BUT . . .

Phidialloplis Phinnegan, conductor of the Floogel County Symphony Orchestra, said today he suggests the directors of the Symphony Society cease efforts to raise money from private sources to maintain the orchestra for another season.

Signor Phinnegan said: "The symphony is losing money. The reason the symphony is losing money, they are paying everyone too much salary. Including me.

"Also, the public does not wish to buy tickets to hear the symphony."

Signor Phinnegan said this public apathy meant the symphony wasn't worth an E-flat on the oboe.

"If the symphony was any good, the public would rush to buy tickets to hear it," he said. "Why throw good money after bad to keep it going?"

Asked about his plans if the symphony folded, Signor Phinnegan said: "Don't worry about me. I'm working on an arrangement of Blue Suede Shoes for washboard, ocarina, and steam kettle. With sound effects of cows at milking time. And echo chamber, of course.

"It will sell a million copies," the maestro concluded.

The last-place Campahooga Pink Sox of the Three-Z league would be in first place if it weren't for the managing, Donald "The Brain" Dumn, manager of the Sox, said today. In the clubhouse after the Sox lost a close one to the State Teacher's College for Women, 18 to 0, "The Brain" said:

"It ain't that we ain't got the pitching and the fielding and the hitting and the baserunning.

"We got the fastest infield and the hardest-hitting outfield and the best catching in the Three-Z."

"The Brain" paused as he pushed another stick of bubblegum into his cheek.

"In fact," he sighed, "them boys of mine is ready for the Big League, if it weren't that their manager is a no-good bum what don't know a pop-fly from a popsicle.

"However," he added, gritting his teeth in determination. "I ain't licked yet. As long as my wife is the daughter of the owner, I'll be the manager, fouling things up."

The Floogelian armed forces are at their lowest ebb since the country was founded, 89 centuries ago, E. Le Mer Legoolf, national defence minister of Floogelia said today.

"If the enemy struck at 9 a.m. tomorrow," he said, "we would all be in concentration camps before coffee break."

Morale, he said, was so low the army psychiatrists were using couches UNDER their couches and still hadn't been able to find rock-bottom.

"Physical condition of forces personnell is such that we cannot hold manoeuvres on land, sea or in the air in anything more than a three-mile per hour breeze without all the men being blown flat on their backs," M. Legoolf said. "Where they should stay already," he added.

As for armament, the minister said the longbows and sling-shots which are standard equipment are in excellent condition, but possibly inadequate for a modern war.

"I just hope I'm not too nervous to sign my name to the treaty of surrender," he concluded.

. . . BUT I DOUBT VERY MUCH I EVER WILL.

VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, MAY 4, 1956 15

Doreen Alert, Showing Steady Improvement

Generally steady improvement in condition of four-year-old Doreen Sanders, who hung in a coma 46 days after a traffic accident, was reported by Royal Jubilee Hospital today.

The child said her first word, "Hi" when her mother, Mrs. Fred J. Sanders, 236 Cadillac, went to visit her Tuesday.

According to Mrs. Sanders, she has not spoken since, but is alert and bright.

ENJOYED BOOKS

Thursday Mrs. Sanders took Doreen some of her picture books and she enjoyed looking through them.

The mother plans an experiment to try to draw further conversation from the child who underwent two major brain operations.

She will read her daughter familiar stories, purposely altering them slightly without indicating the "error" to Doreen. She hopes Doreen, like most small children with their favorite tales, will object to the deviation—the louder the better.

When cameramen took her picture in hospital Thursday, Doreen was thrilled, in a subdued way.

"She goes to physiotherapy every day," said Mrs. Sanders, "and really enjoys that. She likes splashing in the pool."

Meanwhile, it has been announced the Victoria Kinsmen Club will assist in paying medical expenses resulting from the girl's injuries.

Funeral Today For Well-Known Victoria Woman

Funeral service for Mrs. Cassie Morley McWilliams, wife of provincial forester in charge of reforestation and library board member, Harold G. McWilliams, and mother of 1952 Rhodes scholar James, was scheduled to be held at 2 p.m. today from McCall Bros.' chapel.

She died in Vancouver April 30 while visiting there. The late Mrs. McWilliams was 48.

Rev. A. I. Higgins officiates at the service which will terminate at Royal Oak.

The family home here is at 1825 Hollywood Crescent.

Among survivors are her husband and son; a daughter, Mrs. R. J. Donaldson of Houston, Texas; five sisters, Mrs. D. A. Adair, Mrs. Anne Smith and Miss Dinah Armstrong, all of Vancouver, Mrs. James Chambers, Chilliwack, and Mrs. L. Wilton, Wawanesa, Man.; and a brother, William, in Vancouver.

9 City Stores Close All-Day Wednesdays

At least nine Victoria stores are now closing all day Wednesday in face of a movement towards six-day opening by many downtown merchants.

Woodward's on Douglas street, and five downtown furniture stores and one radio store have adopted all-day Wednesday closing. Others are waiting to see what happens.

Harmony House and Steick's Hardware at Hillside also close Wednesday.

A spokesman for Young and Banfield Radio Service, 794 Fort, said today:

"We shall close every Wednesday until Labor Day and then review the problem in the light of our experience."

"We are definitely opposed to the six-day week advocated by some of the larger stores. Many small stores would be adversely affected by six-day opening as they cannot afford to employ the staff required for staggered hours."

The five furniture stores now closing all day Wednesday are Humber's, Arrow Furniture, Champion's Ltd., Home Furniture and Vogue Furniture.

The Standard Furniture Co. at 737 Yates is continuing on a five and a half day week.

"We see no reason to change to a five-day week at present," a spokesman said.

Meanwhile, leading merchants on Douglas and Yates have formed a committee to press for a six-day shopping week.

They are awaiting legal advice from a lawyer as to what legislation is necessary to permit stores to open all day Wednesday.

Stan Mossop Heads City Kiwanis Club

Stan Mossop was elected president of Victoria Kiwanis Club at its annual meeting Thursday night.

HARDLY EXACT SCIENCE

'Much Theory' Noted In Sustained Yield

There is still much theory embraced by the forest term "sustained yield," T. S. Goodyear, Olympia, Wash., manager of the Olympic Peninsula State Sustained Yield Forest No. 1, told the 11th Olympic Logging Conference here today.

"It can hardly be classed as an exact science, since considerable guesswork and risks are involved in balancing annual growth and timber removal over a long-term period."

Fires, insect infestation could all disrupt management plans for a long-term operation.

He told the 375 logging operators from the Pacific Northwest that Washington State logging area is now 185,275 acres containing about 5,474,000,000 board feet of merchantable timber worth, at present stumpage prices, about $70,000,000.

This allows an annual cut of about 91,000,000 board feet, he said. Last year 92,832,550 board feet were advertised for sale.

During the past five years "the independent logger has become almost extinct," he said, as without backing of large mills or corporations they could not bid against owners of saw mill, plywood and pulp plants.

An annual cut of between 80,000,000 and 90,000,000 board feet means work for 2,020 wage-earners at an annual average wage of $2,500,000, he said.

Earlier, Washington Attorney-General Don Eastvold, 36, who will be running for state governor on the Republican ticket, told the conference that six "overlapping" state agencies which manage resources worth $800,000,000 should be combined into a single department of natural resources.

He said there was a strong need for a sustained yield policy and recommended that "we do away with the politicians and replace them with technicians."

On the non-forestry front, he predicted President Eisenhower will win re-election next fall, but that the Republicans would have only a small Senate majority.

Election of officers will be held this afternoon.

RECORD ATTENDANCE EXPECTED

Out-of-Towners Crowding Into Fine City Gardens

Over one hundred visitors from Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, Ore., and Vancouver, toured today some of Victoria's most graceful and spectacular gardens, featuring a wide variety of Alpine flowers, rare shrubs and plants.

The private gardens—some 30 in number—have been thrown open to the public for the spring garden festival sponsored by the Victoria Horticultural Society. Since the opening day of the festival on Wednesday about 500 persons have visited the gardens.

CLOSE SATURDAY

Festival officials expect a record crowd Saturday, the closing day of the four-day festival.

Among the visitors is Cecil Solly, well-known garden expert, who arrived here Thursday from Seattle.

Mr. Solly said there is no city in the Pacific northwest which can surpass the gardens of Victoria.

"Victorians take greater pride in their gardens than people of other cities," he said. "You seemed to have a greater number of skilled gardeners than other cities on the coast."

Visitors toured the gardens of Mr. and Mrs. N. Abkhazi, 1946 Fairfield road; Mrs. H. G. Worth, King George Terrace; Hon. R. W. and Mrs. Mayhew, 3125 Beach Drive; Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Edgell, 3230 Beach Drive; William Cameron, 3441 Mayfair Drive; V. W. Ahler, 1233 Palmer road; Mrs. E. Mallek, 310 King George Terrace and others.

Empress Hotel Claims Big Loss

$800,000 In 7 Years

Victoria's Empress Hotel has operated at a loss of more than $800,000 over the last seven years, city council was informed today.

This was the reason given by CPR authorities for refusal to consider a new tax agreement with Victoria.

Council had asked an increase of $20,000 be paid in taxes in view of the fact the hotel now pays only $34,000, according to a 1913 agreement.

(If full taxes were payable by the hotel, the new 44½ mill rate applied to the almost $2,000,000 assessment would yield a city income of $69,331.)

The $34,000 now paid by the hotel is reduced by the fact that under the 1955 school formula the city must pay $20,000 to Greater Victoria School Board on behalf of the Empress assessment.

Council thought that although there was no legal responsibility (the agreement with the Empress for special tax concessions expires in 1963) the hotel might feel a moral responsibility to pay more.

ASSET TO CITY

The hotel officials pointed out, however, that the agreement had been made as the hotel was considered an asset to the city.

The letter added many other city businesses which might be considered to be paying the hotel's share of taxes would not be in existence if the hotel were not located here.

There followed a statement of losses incurred by the hotel annually since 1949, which ranged between $67,500 and $176,430. Losses ranging from $2,649 and $12,635 annually, totalling over $60,000 in the same seven-year period, were claimed for Crystal Garden, another CPR property.

City manager C. C. Wyatt informed finance committee that when similar hardships were imposed on Port Alberni through a tax deal with Macmillan, Bloedel Ltd., the company voluntarily accepted a tax increase.

The committee filed the letter without recommendation to council.

CNR Diver, Crew Start Repairs On Ogden Pt. Dock

A CNR diver and six-man crew started repair work today on the concrete facings of Ogden Point docks, below the waterline.

Main part of the maintenance job is to replace cement fillings between concrete slabs, which wear loose due to action of tide and water.

The job will take up to two months, depending on weather conditions. The diving tender cannot operate under adverse wind conditions.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—Will you please tell me how I can receive all newspaper articles written so far about Autherine Lucy and her college troubles?—D.D.

A.—It is assumed your question deals with Victoria, or even all B.C. papers. To trace and note all the dispatches and articles by special writers would be a task of some magnitude. However, The Times receives a year-round publication, "Facts On File," a well-known weekly world news digest with cumulative index, which lists all the chief events in that university dispute. You may consult it in The Times library and doubtless will find a starting point for your research.

MRS. DOROTHY MALLORY

FAREWELL CONCERT

Post in Rome For Organist At Cathedral

Mrs. Dorothy Young Mallory, 24, assistant organist at Christ Church Cathedral here since last October, leaves with her husband at the end of May when she will take over as organist and choirmaster of the American Episcopal Church in Rome, Italy.

"It will give her an excellent opportunity to study in one of the great cultural centres, and will be an excellent opportunity for me also," said Mr. Mallory today. He is an architect, aged 29.

Cathedral organist Graham Steed termed Mrs. Mallory: "A very brilliant organist. We shall be sorry to lose her."

She gives a concert here at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Sunday, May 13, at 8.45 p.m., marking her final concert appearances in this city.

The Mallory's came to Victoria from Honolulu.

FINE RECORD

Mrs. Mallory brought to Victoria a long record of achievement in her profession, among these the distinction of having been first place winner of the American Guild of Organists' national competition in 1952 when she was 20.

A scholarship thus won enabled her to study in France under Marcel Dupre, one of the world's greatest living organists. It was in Fontainbleau she met her husband while studying at the school of fine arts and music. They were married in 1954.

She was born in Atlanta, Ga.

Her program May 13 will consist of numbers familiar to organists and laymen alike.

It will include: "Chanonne," Louis Couperin; "Chorale Prelude," Bach; "A Minor Vivaldi Concerto," Alain, and "Ascension Suite," Messiaene.

On the same program Victoria baritone John Bray will contribute two solos, "Be Thou With Me," by Bach, and "Lord God of Abraham," by Mendelssohn. He will be accompanied by C. C. Warren.

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

Ontario and Sioux en route Colon return Esquimalt May 25.

Crescent, Cayuga, Jonquiere, New Glasgow and Ste. Therese leave San Diego Sunday, due Esquimalt May 10 at 10 a.m.

Oshawa, Brockville on exercises, returning today.

USS Magoffin arrives 10 a.m. Saturday, leaves 10.30 a.m. Monday.

Inquiry Decision Delayed

Sloan to Rule After U.S. Trip

Chief Justice Gordon Sloan today reserved decision on whether former Social Credit Forests Minister R. E. Sommers should be invited to give testimony before the Royal Commission on Forestry.

"I regret that I have not reached a decision," said the chief justice.

It will be at least a week before his decision is announced, since commission officials leave at the weekend for an eight-day tour of tree farms, logging operations, and mills in Oregon and Washington.

Motion to have Mr. Sommers called to appear before the Sloan Commission was made Monday by former Liberal MLA Gordon Gibson.

He said the former minister should be invited or subpoenad to appear, to face question on charges he (Sommers) made in his statement on resignation.

In the statement, Mr. Sommers charged Mr. Gibson, the Liberal party and the Victoria Daily Times of being co-conspirators in a conspiracy aimed at wrecking forest legislation.

Ron Howard, counsel for Western Forest Management Association, and Lawrence Eckhardt, counsel for B.C. Truck Loggers, made application to have Mr. Sommers and E. T. Kenney, forests minister in the Liberal government "invited" to appear.

LEGAL ARGUMENT

The entire Thursday sitting of the commission was taken up with legal argument on the applications.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner, through Alan H. McLean, deputy attorney-general, opposed both applications, citing legislative immunity and executive council oaths of secrecy as reasons.

Mr. Gibson said "These charges were serious enough to cause the former minister to resign. I feel, and I hope, he will come forward.

"I feel he will do this so anything that would cause a minister to resign will not happen again."

Mr. Gibson said Mr. Sommers was in charge of "the ship when it foundered," and that he should be willing to assist in building "a better ship."

WITHDREW DEMAND

Mr. Gibson pulled a surprise action when he withdrew his demand that Mr. Sommers face questioning on the conspiracy charges. "I will very gladly withdraw my request . . . that he be questioned on matters stated in the Legislature," he said, "if it will help bring him here."

The issue involves matters of complicated constitutional law reaching back to the earliest days of the British House of Commons.

Mr. McLean argued that a member of the Legislative Assembly cannot be called before a tribunal or judiciary body to discuss statements made before the Legislature.

He contended also that a minister of the Crown could not be compelled to discuss matters of government policy. "There is a privilege attached to such communication," he said.

"There is absolute privilege attached to the executive branch of government," said the deputy attorney-general. "The only disclosure is of the final result."

Mr. Howard said he did not propose to ask questions of policy, but of administration.

He said, as an example, he would ask Mr. Sommers how Pacific Pine managed to obtain its forest management licence in the Fraser Canyon.

"There were many applications for the licence. All were refused. But within a few days after the rest had been disallowed, Pacific Pine reapplied, and in two or three days its application was accepted," he said.

MATTER OF POLICY

Mr. Howard said that throughout the hearing, Dr. C. D. Orchard and other government officials have stated, on reaching a certain point, that "that is a matter of policy."

He said that on the Pacific Pine application, Dr. Orchard "told us it was taken out of his hands."

"I would like to discuss that with Mr. Sommers," he said.

Mr. Howard also proposed asking the former minister the reasons for a cabinet level "time lag" on certain applications.

What Next! Homemade Soup Made From a Powdered Base

By PENNY SAVER

It's often said that making home-made soup is a real art. Well, even if your last attempts haven't been exactly successful, there's hope yet, because now there's even a prepared base for home-made soup. Sounds paradoxical, it's true, but that's what it is. Chicken base is added to boiling water, and then you add the noodles, vegetables and other ingredients to suit your own palate. The base is powdered, and the four-ounce jar I saw would make 25 servings. It costs 59 cents. For the larger two-pound tin of soup base, you pay $4.29. Choose from beef, jellied consomme, cream of onion, neutral cream, cream of tomato, tomato boullion, cream of celery, cream of mushroom, cream of green pea and fresh onion. You have the old-fashioned home-made flavor with modern means of preparation. Wonderful!

Another old-fashioned recipe brought right up-to-the-minute is one for shortbread. If you're rushed so that you simply can't use your traditional shortbread recipe, but you'd really like some tasty, smooth shortbread cookies, the prepared mix is for you. You add three ounces of butter, cream and cook. That's all there is to it. The box is yours for 19 cents.

★ ★ ★

Dried fruits are full of good nutrition, and are so tasty that in any weather they prove to be favorites for desserts or for nibbling. I've found that dried apricots, which actually aren't too dry, but soft and chewy, are just right at snack time or for in-between meals when you feel you'd like a little something to nibble. The flavor makes them a real treat. For cooking, a little while soaking will have them ready for use. Apricots are 77 cents a package, and tender California pears are 59 cents for a 12-ounce package.

★ ★ ★

Everyone has a favorite type of jelly and most people like to experiment with different types. Packed in a long gold cardboard box are six squat round jelly jars with pastel lids marked with floral bouquets.

You'll find peach preserve, two spiced apple jellies, grape preserve, plum preserve and orange marmalade. The box has a clear, hard cellophane top so that you can see the attractive arrangement without opening the box itself. The box of six is $2.35, and a small box of three is $1.19. A novel gift.

Call me at 2-3131 and I'll tell you where to find the items mentioned in the column during the past weeks.

Pastel Gowns, Flowers For Spring Wedding

Three attendants gowned in pastel princess line gowns entered St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, with bride, Miss Joan Frances Cross, recently for the ceremony which united her in marriage with Robert Bernie Herbertson. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Cross, Dufferin Avenue, was gowned in a gown of imported white lace over satin. The fitted bodice was trimmed with mother of pearl sequins and had long lily point sleeves and a Peter Pan collar. The bouffant skirt was inset with net and trimmed with sequins. Her chapel length veil was held by a dainty bonnet-shaped headpiece of white lace trimmed with satin, sequins and seed pearls. Pink rapture roses and stephanotis were in her cascade bridal bouquet.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Dolores Bailey; bridesmaid, Miss Helen Sinclair, and junior bridesmaid, Miss Carol Ann Cross, sister of the bride, wore yellow, pink and green, respectively. Their crystalette taffeta dresses were complemented with bouquets of pink carnations.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Herbertson, Colville Road, had Charles Hamilton as best man. Ushers, Dave Fanthorpe and Alec Irvine, showed guests to pews marked with pink carnations and white ribbon.

Tall standard baskets of pink and white snapdragons, pink tulips and white carnations were at the front of the church for the ceremony which was performed by Archdeacon A. E. deL Nunns. Richard Proudman, organist, played traditional wedding music.

Cyril Cross, uncle of the bride, proposed the toast to her future happiness at the reception which followed at the Club Tango, Oak Bay. A white wedding cake trimmed with yellow roses and green fern centred the bride's table, and was set in a mist of green tulle. White candles completed the arrangement.

For her going-away outfit, the bride chose a turquoise knitted suit with winter white topcoat, pink hat and shoes and a corsage of pink carnations.

Following their honeymoon trip motoring on the island and mainland, Mr. and Mrs. Herbertson will live in Victoria.

Hawaiian Honeymoon

Following their recent wedding, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Stephens left by air for Honolulu, where they will spend their honeymoon at the Edgewater Hotel.

Rev. J. A. Roberts officiated at the wedding ceremony in St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church when Miss Elsa Kristine Nielsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kristian S. Nielsen, Sussex Street, exchanged vows with Thomas Alfred Stephens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred A. Stephens, Lovatt Avenue. Spring flowers decorated the church for the ceremony, during which T. R. Myers played traditional organ selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length torso line dress of net over satin and lace with bouffant skirt posed over hoops. The Chantilly lace bodice was embroidered with rhinestones, and the sleeves were long and tapered. A lace cap embroidered with rhinestones and pearls held her net veil which misted to shoulder length. Red roses and white hyacinths were in her cascade bouquet.

Attendants were Mrs. F. Severson, matron of honor, and the bride's sister, Mrs. E. McLeod of Seattle, bridesmatron, who was gowned in hyacinth blue taffeta waltz-length dresses. They were fashioned with sheath skirts with self overskirts and contour belts. Their caps and shoes were en tone, and they carried cascades of white hyacinths, carnations and marguerites.

The groom has his brother, Donald Stephens, as best man, and Robert N. Whittemore, Reginald J. Hooper and Fred R. Severson as ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Olde England Inn. Paul Ross proposed the toast to the bride. The newlyweds cut their wedding cake, which was set in a mist of white tulle in the centre of the bride's table. Rosebuds completed the table arrangement.

For travelling, the bride wore a pink printed silk dress with black duster coat, pink picture hat and accessories and a white gardenia corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephens will live at 471 Obed Avenue when they return.

NOVEL THEME FOR RECIPE TEA

The convener, Mrs. R. Buller, left, Mrs. H. Molyneaux and the club president, Mrs. Vincent Smith, standing, have been checking, trying out and writing recipes for many days now so that each guest who attends the novel Recipe Tea arranged by the Comitas Club for Saturday afternoon from 2.30 to 4.30 in the Douglas Room at the Hudson's Bay, will receive a free souvenir recipe. There will also be a door prize and a raffle. Proceeds will be used for the club projects.

Children Sing for Guests At Orphanage Linen Shower

Guests at the annual spring linen shower of the B.C. Protestant Orphanage, yesterday afternoon, felt the worth of their gifts, when the children presented a program of songs, concluding with their theme, "God Bless Our Children's Home." Mrs. F. Shandley and Mrs. N. Harwood arranged the program.

Approximately $600 in cash, and linen donations of sheets, towels, a bedspread, pillow slips and miscellaneous articles were received by Mrs. J. C. Scott, Mrs. F. C. Dillabaugh, Mrs. A. Cox, Mrs. M. H. French and Mrs. M. H. Couttes.

Mrs. Ada Barner, matron of the home; Mrs. W. Holder, past president, and Mrs. W. Luney, president of the ladies' committee to the orphanage which sponsored the affair, received the many guests. Visitors were shown over the orphanage by Mrs. J. McGimpsey and Mrs. G. I. Warren.

Tea was served in new china cups with their matching "TV" trays, which have recently been purchased by the committee expressly for their teas. The TV sets eliminate the use of tables, allowing more guests to enjoy the home's hospitality.

Mrs. J. W. Collins was general convener of the affair. Others on her committee included Mrs. Rita McTavish Hughes, Mrs. O. M. Brown, Mrs. G. J. Alexander, Mrs. W. B. Wellwood, Mrs. A. Adams, Mrs. S. J. Clark, Mrs. F. Leslie, Mrs. J. F. McConnell, Mrs. W. Dinsmore, Mrs. W. Clark and Mrs. J. King.

WOMEN NEED IT MOST

Real Friendship the Greatest Need in Integration of Immigrants in Canada

A special plea for women immigrants was made by Dr. W. G. Black, regional liaison officer of the department of citizenship, at a meeting of the Women's Canadian Club, Thursday afternoon, in the Empress Hotel.

In explaining the problems that confront immigrants entering Canada to make their homes, the speaker pointed out that either too much or too little help is very often given. "The wise plan is to help them to help themselves," he said quietly.

Needs include the immediate learning of English, information about social services available, wise counselling on their problems, and, most of all, friendship.

MEANS MUCH TO THEM

"Friendship is the most important thing in making the immigrants feel at home," he urged.

"These people have left their various homes. Many of them will never go back. They are going to make new homes in Canada and if they are to become good citizens we must meet them with warmth and friendship.

"The women especially need this friendship," he said. "Husbands meet it at their work; children find it in the schools, but the women are at home and often lonely.

"Genuine friendship will definitely help in promoting the process of integration in which the majority of these immigrants become good Canadians," Dr. Black urged.

Speaking briefly of minority groups in Canada, Dr. Black said that "nothing less than equality must be the objective in Canada toward these groups." He stressed the importance of getting rid of "the evil called exclusiveness."

One way to speed integration of minority groups is to study their cultural and historical backgrounds, then work with them, get to know them and they will soon find the security and sense of belonging that is needed.

In conclusion the speaker pointed out that Canadians, as individuals, might well develop and practice a better citizenship in the home, the community and finally in the country and to the commonwealth of all mankind.

"A good citizen of Canada is a better citizen of the world," he said, "and good citizenship is based upon enlightenment, knowledge and a sense of destiny."

Dr. Black was introduced and thanked by the club president, Mrs. Gordon Wismer. Report of the nominations committee was given by Mrs. E. S. Farr.

PARENTS SEE CADETS RECEIVE AWARDS

Cadets' parents, many of whom had not seen their sons for a year or more, were guests Thursday afternoon at a tea and presentation of academic awards on the castle lawn at Canadian Services College, Royal Roads. Above, Air Vice-Marshal J. L. Plant, left, Air Officer commanding Air Material Command, who made the presentations, meets the parents of Cadet Murray D. Thom, winner of three awards. Cadet Thom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. C. Thom, came from Vernon for the graduation ceremonies.

All the way from Charlottetown, P.E.I., came Cadet Wing Commander James C. Wood's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George C. Wood. With them is Miss Joan Cameron, Montreal, P.Q. This afternoon the graduation parade and presentation of College awards took place with Air Vice-Marshal Plant the inspecting officer. This evening cadets and their guests will attend the graduation ball on the quarter-deck of Grant Cadet Block.

Parents were served tea in the wardroom of the castle, and on the terrace. Cadet Squadron Leader George Jackson is seen with his parents, Capt. R. Jackson, RCN (Ret.), and Mrs. Jackson, of Victoria. This is the first time a parents' tea has been arranged as part of Royal Roads graduation ceremonies.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books? Then ask Andy?

Andy, who is a pixie, not a person, will answer two questions daily submitted by child readers of Canada and the U.S. Children who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive as prizes, for the main question, either a 16-volume set of "The Children's Hour" or a 20-volume set of "The American People's Encyclopedia." Prizes for the secondary question will be an "American People's Encyclopedia Year Book" or a year's subscription to "Treasure Trails" plus "Andy's Everyday Encyclopedia."

Address your questions to "Ask Andy" Victoria Daily Times, Victoria.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of The American Peoples Encyclopedia to John L. Scott, aged 11, Reseda, Calif., for his question:

What Is An Emerald?

The ancestors of this precious stone are three silver-white metals. Only nature can combine them to form the vivid green emerald. And she has made only a small quantity of them. It takes ages of time to crystallize the proper amounts of these elements, or their compounds, to make an emerald.

Beryllium is rare in nature. What's more, it does not occur by itself. It has been isolated as a very hard, silver-white metal. Mixed with copper it forms a valuable alloy. Beryllium copper is as strong as steel. Unlike steel it refuses to strike sparks when hammered. Tools of this alloy are useful where flying sparks are dangerous.

But in nature beryllium prefers beauty to usefullness. For a compound of beryllium, with the help of aluminum, often forms beautiful crystal. This semi-precious stone is beryl and it comes in many varieties. It is plentiful and often occurs in slabs weighing many pounds.

A huge chunk of beryl is a beautiful thing to see. So also are the smaller stones. The colors are pale and delicate. One variety looks like frozen sea foam of greenish blue. Another looks like captured sunlight of gold and yellow.

Morganite is a rose colored variety of beryl. Another variety is phenacite. The name of this crystal means imposter. Phenacite is often mistaken for quartz. It may be colorless, or it may come in gentle tones of yellow, rose or brown.

All varieties of beryl are children of the elements beryllium and aluminum. To make emerald, nature adds still another element to the family tree. This is chromium, the third ancestor of silver-white metal. For emerald is a crystal form of beryl and oxide of chromium. It is the chromium which gives the intense color to the most precious of precious stones.

The emerald is valued for its deep color of vibrant green. A large flawless emerald is very rare indeed. The loveliest stones often have flaws which look like cracks. However, these help to refract the light and enflame the glowing color. As a rule, the flaws do not make the stone less valuable.

As a stone, the emerald is far less durable than the diamond. The diamond is the hardest of stones. Only another diamond can make so much as a scratch upon it. The emerald is much softer. It is easily scratched and chipped. Yet a fine emerald may be far more valuable than a fine diamond of the same size. This is because of the deep, rich color of such a stone. It is also because the emerald is far more rare than the diamond. Whatever the recipe for mixing beryllium, aluminum and chromium, nature used it very sparingly.

Most of the world's emeralds are mined in Columbia, South America. Here there are supplies of the precious stones in the darkest of shades. A few emeralds are found in the United States.

Andy sends a copy of The American Peoples Encyclopedia Yearbook to Donna B. Silver, aged 11, of Revere, Mass., for her question:

How did coal get into the Arctic regions?

Fifty millions years ago, there were magnolias growing in Alaska. There were palm trees in South Dakota. There were alligators in the streams of the northwest. There were fig trees in the Yukon. For the whole world was enjoying a spell of warm tropical weather. Many times the climate of the earth has changed. For millions of years, during the days of the dinosaurs, there was a period of balmy, springlike weather.

At other times, large parts of the world froze over. The poles were covered with ice caps. Glaciers crept down over the continents. The climate changed again and the trees and forests marched once more toward the polar regions. During the long warm periods, they lived in the polar regions long enough to form beds of coal. Then the cold returned and again the Arctic regions were too cold for lush forests.

Right now, the world is still recovering from the last of the cold Ice Ages. It may get warmer and some day melt all of norhern ice and snow. Once again the coal making forests may creep up to the polar regions. On the other hand, the world's climate may turn cold again. We do not know.

Kentucky Derby, Landy Mile Top Saturday Attractions

TWO TOP RACES—Sport fans and even the non-sport fans should be interested in Saturday's two top athletic TV attractions. The first is the Kentucky Derby and the second is "The Landy Special Mile Run."

Both will be telecast "live" over Channels 11 and 12.

Commencing at 2.15 p.m., local time, the cameras will journey to Churchill Downs, Kentucky, for the 82nd running of the famed Kentucky Derby. Three horses currently mentioned for honors in the $125,000 added "run for the roses," are Needles, the favorite; Head Man and Career Boy.

Bryan Field and Fred Capossels will describe the thrilling action.

Meanwhile, at San Francisco's Colisseum, Australia's great John Landy, the fastest miler in the world will be preparing to pit strides with some of the finest milers in the United States.

TV cameras will pick up the action at 2.45 as Landy makes his first appearance in the U.S. against two experienced milers, Bill Dellinger from the University of Oregon and Jim Bailey from Australia. Also in the "beat Landy" mile will be Villanova's Don Delany, unbeaten in indoor competition this season, and Jerome Walters, a Los Angeles runner.

Interest runs high as a duel is expected to develop between Landy and Len Spurrier, who is holder of the world's half-mile crown.

Remember, both of these are on Saturday afternoon on Channels 11 and 12.

HUDSON'S BAY COMPANY

APRIL FLIES BY . . .
THERE'S MAY IN THE SKY . . .
MAY

O, the wonder of living, while May is here giving, ten thousand new dreams. Who unfurled new blue in the sky, new gold in the vale. New bonnets, new scarlet, new caps for the blossom, the bud and the bush; new songs for the singers in forest and dale, new marvels of love for the world.

IF . . . you are dreaming about furnishing a little flat, we have a cosy setup, all laid out, so you can see just how it would look in YOUR home. 'Bout 49 bucks (plus the tax) is all you'd need to make this dream come true.

GARDNER BURNS'S ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

SATURDAY, MAY 5, 1956

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Private pleasures can be all you desire today and tonight if you put yourself in a position to obtain them. Make sure you do study quietly whatever you wish to know about: the information is at your fingertips by going after it.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Friends in all walks and stations of life see what you are trying to do. They will give you the lift necessary to gain your hopes and wishes. YOU must let them know just what they actually are.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Public or worldly matters which are difficult to attend during busy week can now be easily attended by you. Make sure you do whatever is possible to show influential persons you appreciate their loyal service, and are equally so yourself.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—Take that trip, get off to new sources of information, make some new acquaintances who can give you the outlets, data you need to expand, enrich, extend your current expressions. Be open-minded. Be outgiving.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Now you have a chance to sit down and thresh out where you are mutually headed with financial and emotional ties and companions. Be frank and outspoken of your enjoyment of them personally as well as any current confusions between you.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Much conversation with associates, colleagues, opponents who have their own ideas about where you should go together brings chance to solve some long-time misunderstanding. However, keep tactful and real results, worthwhile, follow.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Pitching in with vim, vigor and vitality to toss off and wind up all those odds and ends, charm duties, congenial tasks, diet requirements, etc., can make this one of your best days in a long while. Finish what you can complete.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Now you have a beautiful day to get out and have your personal appearance made more attractive at the treatments of your choice. Then go out with those you enjoy the most. Have fun and BE HAPPY.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—This is your day to stick to home as much as you can. Add those articles, standpoints that will bring more harmony between you and other members of your own clan. Entertain or relax pleasantly there tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Finishing all errands, making sure you come to meeting of minds with close comrades, such as relatives, neighbors, business companions, etc., you can't see conveniently during week, makes this excellent day for progress.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Now you can really get all those repairs made that will enhance the value or increase the attractiveness of your own property and possessions. Devise a budget fitting to your own position. Realize an abundance for all your needs.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—This is YOUR day to howl. You've had lots of difficult moments. Now you can really have some fun. It's necessary you forget annoyances, irritations or they mar the pleasures otherwise yours today and tonight. Think happiness, it's yours.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN SATURDAY . . .

Saturday's child is one of those very fortunate youngsters who is imbued with special charm and magnetism. You will find that your youngster has an unusual feeling for art or emotional interpretation and that he, or she, can have just as much social prominence and high position in worldly affairs as appeals to him, or to her. Make sure you early give courses which include proven principles and precepts of right living as well as the means by which they can be expressed in physical ways in everyday living.

SUNDAY, MAY 6, 1956

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) — A very accurate hunch can give you the answer which you have long been seeking. However, it's necessary you be quiet so this receptivity can come above the surface. Plan with intimates tonight. Co-operate.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Getting off with resourceful associate, your joint objectives gain real momentum by talking over mutual aims and arriving at better understanding exactly what is in the mind of each. Then make definite deals.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Thinking in practical terms how you can get along better with both higher-ups and your usual co-workers and associates reveals some very satisfactory method for showing your capabilities, working harmoniously. Be thoughtful.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—Now you are under beautiful aspects for first gaining the principles under which you'd like to operate at the means most dynamic to you. Rest of day, P.M., unusually good for social and general prosperity, happiness. Be outgiving.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Sticking pretty much to methods for bringing more concord to daily living with your own clan best way to make today full of meaning, constructive action. Look at obligations and decide how best to handle them in the future.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Much conversation with understanding companions, taking trips, jaunts to see relatives and neighbors, studying whatever you do not wholly understand, making sure you savvy kin, neighbor's needs makes this very worthwhile day, P.M.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Now you can look to more charm, harmony and comfort in your surroundings by looking at principles and methods which have long been found workable and applying them to food, furnishings, pets, art, dealing with co-workers.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—This is your day to early think out exactly what your desires are, how they can be elevated to the finest plane of consciousness and living. Rest of day, P.M., is splendid for romance, recreation, sports, entertainment. Have fun. Be happy.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Now you have a beautiful day to keep right down to fundamentals. Let your family see that you appreciate them and will quietly back them in whatever they are earnestly trying to do that you KNOW is right. Be stalwart.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Using that very fine, down-to-earth mentality of yours to let others see you appreciate their loyalty, friendship, support brings you even greater backing. Get out tonight with those with similar sense of humor, fun to your own.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Your inherited background, your own individual experience answers whatever questions may be in your mind today. Keep on secure basis however. No flights of fancy help. Show you have common sense.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Now you have a beautiful day to get out of your own rut, to listen to understand suggestions given by very devoted attachments. Fine for enjoying yourself the afternoon and evening as most delights you. Be happy.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN SUNDAY . . .

Sunday's child is one of those very attractive youngsters who has a very earthy outlook and who is able to plod methodically toward the aims and ambitions which are more important to him, or to her. Make sure you early give as fine a training in spiritual and commonsense studies as possible since your offspring will not be happy until he, or she, can actually live the ideals that are expressed on a solid and secure basis. Fine chart for work connected with either finance or art.

U.S. Groups Move to End Death Penalty

Vote in Britain Sparks Action

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP) — Reform movements seeking abolition of the death penalty are gaining strength in the United States.

They appear to have picked up momentum from the recent vote by the British Parliament in favor of abolition of capital punishment for murder in the United Kingdom. This brought to 31 the number of countries which have done away with the death penalty for civil crimes.

But, while abolition would be a relatively simple step in Great Britain, it is a much more complex problem in the United States, where capital punishment is controlled by 50 different jurisdictions—the 48 states, the federal government and the District of Columbia, the seat of the U.S. capital.

Six states already have banned the death penalty — Michigan, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Maine, Minnesota and North Dakota, in that order.

Abolition bills have been introduced from time to time in almost all of the other state legislatures but state authorities now report that the pressure for abolition is being intensified. This year, capital punishment has become an issue in Massachusetts and California.

SPECIAL INVESTIGATIONS

The problem also is coming to the fore in the legal field. The American Law Institute, which has avoided the capital punishment question in recent years while working on a model penal code, now is in the process of drafting penalty articles.

The American Bar Association has asked its committee on the administration of criminal justice to make special investigations into the effectiveness of the death penalty as a deterrent to crime.

Under state and federal laws, capital punishment generally is limited to first-degree murder, rape, treason, arson, kidnapping, sabotage with loss of life and perjury resulting in the execution of an innocent person.

However, 18 states still provide the death penalty for duelling, 15 have it on their statute books for train-wrecking, 10 for lynching, seven for dynamiting, seven for armed robbery, five for train robbery and four for burglary. Some states list only one offence punishable by death while one—Georgia—has as many as 14.

Meantime, statistics indicate the use of capital punishment is lessening in the United States. The number of executed criminals went below 100 in 1950 for the first time in decades and has not risen above 83 in any year since.

Eight states employ gas as the mode of execution, seven use hanging or shooting and the rest, including the district of Columbia, use electrocution.

Did Russians Grab Frogman?

British Press Speculates About Missing Naval Officer

LONDON (UP)—British newspapers speculated today British frogman-hero Lionel (Buster) Crabb may have been snooping around the Soviet cruiser Orjonikidze when he vanished into the murky depths of Portsmouth Harbor last month.

The burden of the speculation is that the Rusisans killed Crabb, but the Conservative Daily Sketch said unidentified naval officers in Portsmouth believe the Russians may have captured him and carried him off as a spy.

The mystery surrounding Crabb's disappearance and probable death during the visit of Soviet leaders Nikolai Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev has created a furore here. The question will be brought up in parliament next week by questioners who want to know what proof the government has that the missing man is dead.

The former naval commander was last seen April 19—the day the Orjonikidze arrived in Portsmouth—when he donned underwater gear and plunged into the harbor a few miles from where the Russian cruiser was anchored.

BELATED STORY

The navy waited until the Orjonikidze and its passengers, Khrushchev and Bulganin, had left British waters before announcing last week that Crabb was missing and presumed dead.

His body has not been recovered, and no official theory has been advanced to account for his disappearance.

The official announcement said the frogman was doing secret work for the government when he vanished, but gave no clue to its nature. A later naval announcement denied that his task would have taken him near the Orjonikidze.

Portsmouth police said Thursday they are investigating the disappearances on secret orders from London, but would give no details of facts uncovered by the investigation.

Russ Radio Beats CBC In North

OTTAWA (CP)—Two northern government officials today indicated that Russian propaganda broadcasts have a measure of effectiveness in the Canadian north because Canadian broadcasts are not easily heard there.

R. Gordon Robertson, deputy northern affairs minister and federal commissioner of the Northwest Territories, told the royal commission on broadcasting Russian and other foreign broadcasts have been achieving "more than average effectiveness" and will continue until northern residents get objective Canadian news readily and regularly.

F. H. Collins, commissioner of the Yukon Territory, said Radio Moscow's regular broadcasts are widely heard in his area.

Suspended Term For City Man Who Pointed Gun

Paul James Osline, convicted gun-pointer, received a suspended sentence and was placed on a $500 bond for six months' good behavior when he appeared in city police court today.

Magistrate H. C. Hall found Osline guilty Thursday after hearing testimony from his ex-common-law wife, Doris Corrinne Rutherford, with whom the defendant had a difference of opinion over a domestic matter.

She said he held a revolver on her to get her into his car and keep her there while they talked early in the morning of April 25.

"At considerable reluctance in view of the prosecutor's statement (recommending suspension), I am suspending sentence," the magistrate said.

Osline had stated it was only the "angry tone of my voice" which forced the complainant into the car.

Navy Sailing Group Opens Season Sunday

Royal Canadian Naval Sailing Association will open its 1956 season Sunday, with a sail-past of RCNSA craft and guests from RVYC, starting at 2 p.m.

Rear-Admiral Hugh Pullen flag officer, Pacific coast, will take the salute from the deck of HMCS Oriole, only commissioned sailing ship in the Canadian Navy.

Following the sail-past, a short race for all classes will be held on a course laid out in Esquimalt harbor. A reception will follow in the RCNSA clubhouse.

A strong representation from the Royal Victoria club is expected. RVYC's season opens a week from Saturday.

Vic-Van Isle Kinettes will hold a variety bazaar in the Public Market Building Saturday. Stalls for home cooking and handmade items will be set up.

ACCIDENT WITH PRINCESS

Motorist Savors His Royal Bump

LONDON (UP)—"Sorry darling," Leslie Schutt told his wife, Avice. "I had an accident with Princess Margaret."

Schutt, a 26-year-old paint salesman, was driving his car Tuesday when it was rammed by one driven by the Princess.

"I felt a bump," he said. "I looked at the driver. I was amazed."

His smashup with a Rolls-Royce driven by the Princess was the first accident she has had since she learned to drive eight years ago.

Schutt, who lives in Hertfordshire, said he was driving home for lunch Tuesday along the Great North Road, the main highway from London to the north.

The accident occurred at Stanborough, where his Standard Eight met Princess Margaret's Rolls-Royce as she was driving to London from the Royal Palace at Sandringham.

PRINCESS AT WHEEL

"I was going along at about 30 miles an hour in a stream of traffic when the car in front of me braked suddenly," Schutt said. "I had to slam on my brakes, and as I pulled up I felt a bump behind me. I got out to look at the damage."

"And then I looked to see who was driving the car," he said. "I was amazed. I saw the Princess sitting at the wheel of the car. She smiled at me and I started to walk to her door.

"Then two policemen, who seemed to have appeared from nowhere, stopped me and asked me to pull into the side of the road.

"While the policemen and I inspected my car — the trunk was slightly dented—the Princess smiled charmingly at me several times.

"She seemed very interested in the damage to the back of my car.

"After a few minutes, while the police took my name and address, the Royal car was waved on.

"As she pulled away, the princess waved to me and smiled. I wish I had been able to talk to her."

Schutt said he estimated the damage would cost around $14. He said the car was owned by his firm and that they would put in a claim to the insurance company.

"I don't think anyone was to blame," he said. "It was just a matter of acting quickly in an emergency."

City's 'A' Softballers Open Season Sunday

Victoria Senior "A" Men's Softball League will open its 1956 season Sunday at Central Park with only three teams entered.

Chinese Students will meet Arrow Furniture in the first game of the double-header, with Arrows coming back to take on Gorge Hotel, last year's B.C. Senior "A" champs under the Fletcher's label, in the nightcap.

After Navy and Victoria City dropped out of last year's five-team loop, attempts failed to bring in up-Island and senior "B" teams, and the league was reduced to three clubs.

Teams will play 16 games against each of the other clubs. Games will be played Monday, Tuesday and Thursday at 6.30, and Sunday at 2.

First month's schedule follows:

May 6—Chinese Students vs. Arrow Furniture; Arrow Furniture vs. Gorge Hotel.
May 8—Gorge Hotel vs. Chinese Students.
May 10—Chinese Students vs. Gorge Hotel.
May 13—Arrow Furniture vs. Chinese Students.
May 14—Gorge Hotel vs. Arrow Furniture.
May 15—Chinese Students vs. Gorge Hotel.
May 17—Arrow Furniture vs. Chinese Students.
May 22—Gorge Hotel vs. Arrow Furniture.
May 24—Chinese Students vs. Arrow Furniture.
May 28—Arrow Furniture vs. Gorge Hotel.
May 29—Gorge Hotel vs. Chinese Students.
May 31—Chinese Students vs. Gorge Hotel.

Labor Urges Gov't Pay CBC Fees

$3 Per Radio, $15 for TV Set

(From CP and BUP)

OTTAWA — Parliamentary grants heavily swelling CBC revenues without receiver licence fees were recommended by the Canadian Labor Congress today before the Royal Commission on Broadcasting.

The 1,000,000-member congress also proposed that the CBC receive a statutory grant of $3 per radio home and $15 per television set which would total about $11,526,000 and $29,792,625 respectively. The grant would be in addition to a small percentage of profits from the CBC's commercial resources.

The CLC also made these submissions in a 27-page brief to the broadcasting royal commission:

1. The CBC should not change the fundamental principles of its 25-year-old policy.

2. The CBC should continue to "dominate and control" radio and television broadcasting.

3. Private stations should be maintained to provide local and community services as an ancillary to the national-owned system.

4. Private networks should not be authorized.

5. Newspaper-radio-television monopolies should be broken up.

6. Canadian talent should receive more encouragement.

7. Parliament should provide the CBC's capital requirements.

The brief said the CBC board of governors "should establish its own enforcement branch charged with enforcing the board's regulations . . ."

Such action would make it obvious that the board was the regulating and controlling body governing all broadcasting, the CLC said.

"We think that monopolies of this sort (newspaper-radio-TV) should not be allowed to develop," the brief said. "And where they have, they should be broken up."

B.C. CENTENARY STAMP GIVEN OTTAWA OKAY

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. centenary committee announced today the post office at Ottawa has indicated its willingness to issue a special stamp to feature the province's 100th anniversary in 1958.

L. H. McCance, newly-appointed executive secretary of the committee, will open offices in Victoria, May 15.

The committee has advertised for proposals for compilation of the official centenary program. Proposals are to be submitted by May 10.

Double-Cross Charged by Drew

McMahon's Cancelled Proposal Sparks Outburst in Commons

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition leader Drew today charged Trade Minister Howe with double-crossing Parliament by denying possession of documents from Calgary gas executive Frank McMahon proposing an alternate cross-country gas pipeline.

"I have never double - crossed anyone in my life," Mr. Howe declared in the Commons.

The minister argued that a "private and confidential" letter to him from Mr. McMahon containing the proposal was not a document because he was not free to table it in the Commons.

"If anyone was double-crossed," Mr. Drew said, "Parliament was double-crossed by the minister."

ARGUE PROCEDURE

The opposition leader presented a motion to adjourn normal House business to debate the issue today. Speaker Rene Beaudoin said the motion was not in order and a long procedural wrangle followed.

The issue grew out of the tabling by Mr. Howe Thursday night of an April 4 letter by Mr. McMahon, president of Westcoast Transmission Ltd., containing a proposal to build the Alberta-to-east gas line instead of Trans - Canada Pipe lines Ltd. With the letter was a telegram from Mr. McMahon, sent Thursday, saying he was dropping his proposal.

Mr. McMahon's proposal, outlined in correspondence tabled with his telegram, declared a Canadian-owned line could be built without government aid, based on exports to the United States midwest of twice the amount proposed by Trans-Canada.

He had expressed willingness to put up a $500,000 cash bond to guarantee completion of the 2,200-mile project by the fall of 1958 provided he could get steel pipe and other materials.

NO DECISION YET

The Trans-Canada proposal before the cabinet is that the government put up 90 per cent of the $80,000,000 cost of the western leg of the 2,200-mile line, provided Trans-Canada sponsors put up the other 10 per cent. The government advance would be in the form of an interest-bearing, short-term loan.

This afternoon, Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent told parliament —for the third time in as many days—that the cabinet "has not yet reached any firm decision" on what form of finanical aid, if any, should be given to Trans-Canada.

U.K. BASES IN CEYLON 'MUST GO'

COLOMBO, Ceylon (Reuters)—Ceylon's new Socialist government has informed British authorities that British air and naval bases in Ceylon must be removed and "there is no question of reconsideration of that." Prime Minister Solomon Bandaranaike told the House of Representatives tonight.

TWO WOUNDED

Teacher Shot Dead By Student

SEAT PLEASANT, Md. (AP) —A 15-year-old pupil went berserk with a rifle at Maryland Park Junior High School today, shooting to death one teacher and wounding two others.

The incident threw the school into an uproar. After the shooting, the school was closed immediately for the day. Instructors began helping hysterical, crying boys and girls into buses.

Fraser Cameron, 32, was wounded fatally.

Francis Daniel Wagner, 25, the athletic coach at the school, was shot in the chest.

The third victim, Robert Hicks, 31, was shot in the hand.

Police Chief George J. Panagoulis said police took into custody Bill Ray Prevatte, 15.

The scene was one of complete confusion, as the students ran through the building weeping. Some of the girls fell onto the school lawn sobbing.

Five Girls Escape

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two prisoners of the Girls' Industrial School escaped Thursday under cover of a brush fire. Police said the two slipped away from a party of girls who had been granted permission to watch the fire, in brushland three blocks from the school. Three other girls escaped from the home later in the evening.

Arms Parley Ends

LONDON (UP)—The five-power disarmament conference between the Soviet Union and the West broke up without agreement today. But the Western powers declared that a future agreement now "is possible."

Big Up-Island Fire Under Control But Danger High

Tinder-dry mid-Island forests and Burnaby bushland on the mainland exploded into flame Thursday, and lower-level forest conditions on Vancouver Island and areas near Vancouver were labeled "near critical" today.

Victoria is in its 28th rainless day—just 36 hours away from an all-time record.

Worst fire of the year occured Thursday at Youbou, on Cowichan Lake, where 200 acres burned before the fire was brought under control today.

The hazard for the entire Vancouver forest district, which includes Vancouver Island, is rated as "increasing, and moderate," but valleys and flat areas are tinder dry.

"Cool nights, and snow in the hills are our saving grace right now," said a forest service spokesman.

Some 22 fires are now burning in the Vancouver district.

The fire total throughout the province today is 70.

Prince Rupert forest district reports 11 fires and a low hazard.

Cloudy weather conditions and occasional showers have lowered the hazard through the interior.

Prince George district reports 7 small fires burning, and Kamloops 20.

Officials said moss in Southern Vancouver Island valleys is bone dry, and that anything could touch off a fire.

Green growth has not yet started to appear.

The total number of fires burning at the end of the first week of the fire season last year was 33 compared to this week's 70.

The Youbou fire, which started Thursday and burned through the night in 20-year-old fir and hemlock, was spiked before it could spread into virgin timber atop a 3,000-foot hill in the Widow Creek area of South Central Vancouver Island.

OUTDOOR FIRES FORBIDDEN IN VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER (CP) — All permits for outdoor fires have been cancelled in tinder-dry Vancouver until further notice, Fire Chief Hugh Bird said today.

"There will be no exceptions," he said.

His edict followed a month of hot, dry weather which has resulted in an outbreak of bush and grass fires within city limits.

400 Fighting Cowichan Blaze

More than 400 men were engaged in firefighting.

The flames, ripping through tinder-dry underbrush, threatened the B.C. Forest Products Ltd. mill at Youbou for a while Thursday night but were turned away from it before midnight. A new threat arose, however, when the fire started up the hillside.

Throughout the night five company pumps and three forest service pumps were streaming thousands of gallons of water in an attempt to check the blaze. The uphill surge of the flames was checked finally with the aid of several bulldozers which continued to cut swaths around the base of the hill.

Forest Service officials said the blaze started at 2.30 p.m. Thursday between Cottonwood Creek and the mill, about a quarter-mile from the plant. The Forest Service said cause of the fire was unknown. Other reports said it started from burning refuse behind the company bunkhouses.

Most of the firefighters were recruited from workers in the mill and loggers in the woods.

Burnaby Bush Fire Struck Out

In North Burnaby, on the mainland, a bush fire badly damaged a trestle of the Great Northern Railway today. The bush fire burned through the night along the right-of-way and scorched the trestle today. Although it is now useless, railway officials say there will be no delay in train service as a nearby trestle is still in operation.

In Vancouver meanwhile, the lives of children and the homes of East Hastings residents were threatened late Thursday by a stubborn fire that scorched five acres of bushland.

Firemen and police were kept busy herding curious youngsters out of the path of the flames

The two-hour fire sizzled over almost five city blocks, endangering houses and forcing firemen to call for volunteers among the homeowners.

Some youngsters courted death by walking into the heart of the bush and playing in a cleared field in the centre of the property. Firemen said they might have been cut off by the flames and either burned or suffocated. Another group of youngsters was soaked when they got too close to the blaze and the firemen's hoses.

Weatherman William Mackie pointed out in Victoria today that the city has gone 28 days without rain, and that the record for this season is 29 consecutive days without measurable precipitation, set in 1951.

It is "nip and tuck between sun and clouds," he said, but he expects sunshine for the remainder of today and Saturday. A Pacific storm has brought rain to Washington and Oregon, but is expected to brush by Vancouver Island.

Professional rainmakers, who signed a contract with B.C. Power Commission last month to encourage rainfall to keep John Hart hydro plant in production, are "on the spot" in the warm spell.

They need clouds to "seed" with silveriodide to bring rain. And it is apparent the right kind of clouds haven't been appearing.

'Brain-Wash' Confessions Wiped Out by Red Decree

Stalin Purge Trial Methods Forbidden to Secret Police

MOSCOW (AP)—The praesidium of the Supreme Soviet has revoked certain laws which permitted using "special procedures" in extracting confessions in cases of treason and sabotage.

The new decree, dated April 19, appeared in the Bulletin of the Supreme Soviet which reached Western correspondents today.

It specifically declared null and void three laws of the 1934 and 1937 which were promulgated by Stalin, the first two after the murder of Sergei Kirov, Leningrad Communist party leader, and the other to speed up convictions during the purge trials.

The laws which have been revoked permitted the secret police to use all sorts of methods to short-cut what now is declared to be normal Socialist legal procedure and obtain "confessions" from accused persons.

SPURIOUS CONFESSIONS

The procedures permitted under these Stalin-proclaimed laws were generally considered responsible for the long series of abject confessions—now declared spurious in many instances — which marked the purge trials.

Two of the cancelled decrees were enacted on Dec. 1, 1934, the day on which Kirov was assassinated.

Child-Killing Suspect Remanded

LANGLEY, B.C. (CP)—Gerald E. Eaton, 51-year-old ferry worker, was remanded to May 11 when he appeared in a dingy police court here today charged with murder in the death of eight-year-old Carolynne Moore.

He appeared without counsel in a courtroom 18 feet long and 12½ feet wide and packed with 24 persons. Another dozen overflowed into the corridor. Ten of the spectators were women.

The hearing lasted less than a minute.

The slightly-built, grey-haired Eaton, charged with bludgeoning the schoolgirl whose body was found last Saturday, stood with his eyes down.

The courtroom, in a converted house, once served as a mortuary.

It had been expected that evidence would be given today as to how the victim died. Cause of death was decided on last Tuesday at a close autopsy but was not made public.

She was badly battered with a tire iron.

SPECIAL GUARD

After the remand to give RCMP time to develop their case —Eaton was returned to Oakalla prison farm on the outskirts of Vancouver and to the security measures ordered following threats against him.

Warden Hugh Christie of Oakalla confirmed Thursday that some of the younger prisoners had threatened to "gang up on" Eaton and that security measures would be "strictly adhered to."

He said the middle-aged deckhand was exercising with older and more stable prisoners and being kept out of the yard when the excitable younger prisoners were present.

Carolynne Moore disappeared April 26 on her way from school to meet her mother at a church. They were to go to Vancouver to meet her father, Lawrence Moore, returning from a trip into interior B.C. for the department of veterans' affairs

Her body was found 40 hours later about four miles from her home, eight miles from Langley. Scene of the slaying is 30 miles east of Vancouver.

Slayer Gets Life

TORONTO (CP)—Gregario Giannotti, 37, today was sentenced to life imprisonment for the slaying of Mrs. Lilo Sturm last July 26. Giannatti last Tuesday was found guilty of manslaughter.

WIRE BRIEFS

Dope King Jailed

TORONTO (CP) — Jack Goldhar, 45, king-pin of a $1,000,000 dope ring that RCMP investigators broke last spring after a Europewide evidence-gathering tour, was sentenced today to 14 years in penitentiary.

Living Cost Rises

OTTAWA (CP)—The consumer price index rose by one-fifth of a point to 116.6 from 116.4 during March, following price rises for some foods, rent, automobile licences and medical and dental fees.

Strike at Kitimat

KITIMAT (CP)—Construction workers, building four additional potlines at this burgeoning up-coast aluminimum smelter, went on strike today over the firing of an operating engineer. The men are employees of Saguenay-Kitimat Ltd., a subsidiary of the Aluminum Company of Canada.

New Air Service

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canadian Pacific Airlines will inaugurate regularly scheduled passenger service between Canada and Argentina June 2 using Super DC-6B Empress airliners it was announced here today.

U.S. Triggers Nuclear Tests

ENIWETOK (UP) — The United States kicked off a vital new test series with a nuclear flash that drove pre-dawn dark from Pacific skies at 6.25 a.m. Saturday, Eniwetok time (11.25 a.m. Friday, Victoria time).

The blast was the curtain raiser for the biggest nuclear test program ever held in the Pacific proving ground.

It was a "small" atomic warhead packing concentrated fury of "a few thousand tons of TNT."

Ottawa Sure Pearson Will Take NATO Post

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — Possibility that Hon. L. B. Pearson, secretary of state for external affairs, might leave his Canadian cabinet post to take the position of secretary-general to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization has the halls of parliament humming with speculation.

Members appeared agreed that should the $30,000 a year tax-free international office be offered to Mr. Pearson, he would be inclined to accept, and that Hon. Paul Martin, present minister of national health and welfare, would be his successor in the post of external affairs minister.

After a few years in the internationally important post of NATO secretary-general, Mr. Pearson's prestige would be enhanced to the point that should he care to return to Canada and contest the next Liberal leadership convention, he might have a good chance of winning, observers suggested.

Before leaving Ottawa for London and Paris last week Mr. Pearson told newspapermen that he would "give most careful consideration" to any offer of the post of NATO secretary-general, that might be made when Lord Ismay retires, next April. He flatly denied reports circulating on Parliament Hill that he had rejected a suggestion from abroad that he take the NATO post.

At the current Paris meeting of NATO Mr. Pearson planned to make his own survey of the prospects of how the organization might develop in the years immediately ahead. He is most anxious that NATO become more than simply a military alliance and has repeatedly emphasized that Article II of this charter be implemented, calling for greater co-operation among the member states along economic, political and cultural lines.

PARIS (CP) — Practically everyone except the principals involved appears convinced that L. B. Pearson is ready to take over from Lord Ismay as secretary-general of the North Atlantic alliance.

The big question is: When?

The "Pearson for NATO" movement has produced denials from NATO headquarters here as usual. But circumstances strongly suggest that barring unexpected developments Pearson will move next year into the secretary-general's tastefully appointed villa off Avenue Foch.

T'WAS 'JAW', NOT 'SAW'; CROSSWORD PRIZE $125

The little word "jaw" crossed up most contestants in The Times' Crossword Puzzle last week so the prize to subscribers for this week jumps to $125.

"You usually expect it to have teeth "was how the clue read and most entries contained the answer "saw." But every saw has teeth so you don't "usually expect" it, you just know a saw has teeth. But some jaws have no teeth at all though you would usually expect them to.

Complete answer to last week's puzzle and a new contest for this week are on Page 23 of today's Times.

—And George Is Really Mad

Publicity Commissioner George Warren has a perpetual headache straightening out publications which place Vancouver Island landmarks on the mainland.

Today Mr. Warren discovered a new kind of error—the moving of Ottawa's Peace Tower to Victoria, and, of all things, it was done by a Vancouver newspaper.

To add insult to injury the caption under the picture said:

"Parliament Buildings, Victoria, impress visitors to B.C. with their dignity and solid beauty. The capital is much in the news as far-reaching decisions are made affecting every citizen. Here then is the hub of B.C., and the well-known clock intones the long hours through which legislators have sat on the people's business."

The caption concluded: "Naturally, the scene is not complete without the RCMP constable." (There is no RCMP constable outside Victoria's Parliament Buildings nor, of course, is there a clock in the building's dome.)

Mr. Warren lost no time in registering a protest. He telephoned the Vancouver paper and said it was the "most glaring error" he had ever seen.

The editor agreed. He tendered a full apology to Mr. Warren and the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, and promised that a full correction would appear tomorrow.

"It is unthinkable that a responsible newspaper should make such an error as this," Mr. Warren said. "We have enough difficulty educating people far away from mislabelling this city without having to educate Vancouver papers as well."

PRAYER FOR TODAY

OUR FATHER, make us know that every opportunity —and there are many which come our way each day— carries with it the responsibility to conduct ourselves in any and every circumstance as a child of Thine, through Jesus Christ. Amen.

IN PARLIAMENT

Farm Credit Act Urged by Thatcher

(From Times News Services)

A blunt-speaking Saskatchewan independent member has suggested creation of a national farm credit act through which farmers could get long-term, government-guaranteed bank loans.

Ross Thatcher, a hardware merchant who also farms and raises cattle on a large scale in Saskatchewan, made the suggestion on Thursday as agriculture department estimates were studied.

Lack of long-term credit, said the member for Moose Jaw-Lake Centre, has resulted in concentration of farms in the hands of fewer owners. The number of tenant farmers had grown and farm productivity had been reduced because farmers could not afford irrigation projects and modern equipment.

Agriculture, in an otherwise booming economy, should not be allowed to lag behind through a shortage of long-term credit.

Mr. Thatcher, who spoke during a debate in which a number of members brought up local agricultural problems, said the federal government had accepted the principle of providing guarantees for long-term bank loans in the National Housing Act. It enables federal guarantee of mortgages.

A national farm credit act, he said, would guarantee the banks against loss on farmers' loans for periods of 20 and 30 years. The money thus obtained would be used to buy farms and equipment, or for building homes and barns.

Seek Less Risky Loan Fields

Mr. Thatcher said most lending institutions now seek loan fields that are less risky and more profitable than agriculture. Their lack of enthusiasm for farm mortgage lending was understandable.

But federal plans so far evolved for direct government loans to farmers had proven they are not the answer to the farmers' credit needs.

Hazen Argue (CCF, Assiniboia) reiterated past demands on the government for implementation of some form of price support or parity prices for all types of agricultural products.

He said the federal index of farm prices, based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100, was 218 last month, while the index of costs of production on farms, based on the same period, was 235.

This means in effect, he said, that farmers are worse off now than during the depression period of 1935-39. The federal government had a reasonably good support program for butter. But beyond that there was nothing. Price support for eggs and hogs was just "window dressing."

Mr. Argue said even the new 1,000,000-member Canadian Labor Congress, in a resolution passed at its founding meeting last week, advocated parity prices for farm products which bear a fair relationship to costs of production.

The government Thursday declined to say whether it is considering direct housing loans in the face of reported drops in the amount of mortgage money made available by the chartered banks.

Works Minister Winters, who reports for Central Mortgage & Housing Corporation, said that the question is a matter of government policy and that any decision would be announced only after it is reached.

Stanley Knowles (CCF, Winnipeg North Centre) asked the minister's view after referring to newspaper reports saying the banks' housing loans are down 30 per cent from last year.

The Senate Thursday gave second reading — approval in principle — to legislation to ratify a Canada-Denmark agreement to avoid double taxation.

The bill was referred to a committee following protests by Liberal and Progressive Conservative senators that ratification would make the agreement the law of Canada. These members felt all Canadian laws should be contained in Canadian statutes.

The Canada-Denmark agreement provides for income tax exclusion on industrial and commercial profits of permanent enterprises of one country operating in another.

Federal expenditures for flood control on the Assiniboine river were more than doubled during the last fiscal year, Agricultural Minister Gardiner reported Thursday.

In a reply tabled for Walter Dinsdale (PC, Brandon-Souris) he said $140,839 was spent for diking and cut-offs on the prairie river. That compared with $69,154 in the entire 1954-55 fiscal year and $99,989 the preceding year.

A former New Brunswick health minister said Thursday television is assisting crime comic books in the corruption of youth.

Liberal Senator Frederic McGrand, a physician, made the statement in an hour-long speech in the Senate urging a greater appreciation of mental health in the field of crime prevention. He was speaking on a motion of Senator David Croll (L, Ontario) for penal reform in Canada.

"In the corruption of youth, the comic book has been ably assisted by television programs," he said.

Woman's Screams Bring Rescue

Motorist Bert Longhurst, 2530 Cedar Hill, was credited by police today with saving the life of 72-year-old Mrs. M. C. Kayter, whose South Fairfield room was gutted by fire Thursday.

Attracted by screams from the deaf, half-blind woman, and smoke pouring from under the eaves of the two-story house, Longhurst saw Mrs. Kayter bring a burning object onto the front porch and go back into the house at 411 Linden.

He rushed after her, followed her upstairs to a hallway on which her room was located. Flames shot into the hall, trapping Mrs. Kayter in the upstairs kitchen, where she had gone to retrieve some money.

FACE SCORCHED

Longhurst pushed past the flames and grabbed the elderly, highly excited woman, whose hair, face and hands were scorched.

"He had to drag her out," said Cpl. Joe Barlow. "He saved her life all right."

She was alone in her room when the blaze started. Owners of the house, Mr. and Mrs. Lucien La Pierre, were at work.

Mrs. Kayter leaned from a window screaming for help to save her furniture, money and belongings.

In the house behind, at 1214 Oscar, Mrs. R. Bedford heard cries and saw the smoke. She rushed over to assist.

"She struggled hard with me," said Mrs. Bedford. The boarder wanted to go back in the house again.

Flames got to her purse before firemen rescued it, but its contents were undamaged. About $80 was in it—her sole remaining possession.

Interior of the room was ruined. Firemen dropped charred lumps of burning furniture and clothing from the window to the driveway where it was extinguished.

Damage to the rest of the house was mostly from smoke and water.

Firemen were at the blaze moments after receiving the call, and roared up in three trucks.

ROAD CONTRACTORS SUE LOCAL ENGINEER

VANCOUVER (CP) — A second libel suit has been filed by the contractors of the controversial Stewart-Cassiar mine assistance road in northern B.C.

C. C. I. Merritt, Vancouver lawyer, said Thursday he has started action in Supreme Court against E. A. Jamieson, Victoria engineer and former sergeant-at-arms of the B.C. Legislature, on behalf of Wade and Wells Co. Ltd. of Trail.

Last month the contractors began libel proceedings against Arthur Laing, leader of the B.C. Liberal Party.

Lemon's Bat Swings Sweet Tune for Nats

Washington Outfielder Real Surprise

By The Associated Press

Jim Lemon, a minor league whiz and major league bust, is bruising the ball this year at a .381 clip.

Big Jim always hit well in the pre-season training camps. Once the season started, however, he generally stopped connecting. First Cleveland and then Washington sadly shipped him back to the minors.

But this is a new year for Lemon, one of the most surprising of the startling Washington Senators. His batting average is the fifth best in the league and he stands third in runs-batted-in with 13.

Manager Marty Marion of Chicago White Sox apparently thought it was the old Jim Lemon his team was meeting Thursday night. Marty ordered Roy Sievers passed with a two-on, first-base-open situation in the seventh inning of a 4-4 tie game.

475-FOOT HOMER

What happened? Lemon blasted a home run which carried an estimated 475 feet into Griffith stadium's distant left field bleachers and also knocked White Sox right out of first place in the American League.

The 7-4 defeat suffered by Chicago enabled the New York Yankees to take over first, even though the New Yorkers themselves dropped an 8-7 decision to Kansas City.

Cleveland, which whipped Baltimore 7-1 behind Mike Garcia's six-hit pitching, still trails Chicago in percentage, although ahead [illegible] games won and lost.

Boston pulled up to the .500 mark as big Frank Sullivan, a great Tiger tamer, whipped Detroit 5-2 with a six-hitter.

ROAD JAM

Two streaks were halted as the National League race developed a tremendous traffic jam with six teams bunched within one game of each other.

Brooklyn's defending world champions looked like the runaway team of 1955 as they bombed St. Louis Cardinals 7-3 for their first victory in five starts, while Pittsburgh's Bob Friend ended a six-game victory string for Cincinnati as he pitched Pirates to a five-hit, 5-1 victory.

NASHUA CAN'T MAKE IT EVEN WITH STAKE WIN

NEW YORK (AP)—Nashua will fall a few thousand dollars short of Citation's record as the all-time money winning champion if the four-year-old wins Saturday's Grey Lag Handicap at a mile and a furlong at Jamaica.

Nashua has won $1,040,515 in 22 starts as compared to the total of $1,085,760 banked by Citation when he retired for keeps in 1951. The difference is only $45,245. The $50,000 added Grey Lag probably will have a net value of about $37,000 to the winner, depending on how many horses go to the post.

Solons Take PCL Lead, Padres Edge Mounties

By The Associated Press

Sacramento is finally on top of the Pacific Coast League and the Solons did it the most satisfying way of all—by hauling down defending champion Seattle in two out of three games.

The Solons won the series rubber game 5-2 Thursday night and moved a few percentage points ahead of the Rainiers, who have led most of the season.

San Diego took Vancouver 7-6 on a disputed double in the ninth by Earl Rapp. Los Angeles and Portland were rained out.

At Vancouver, San Diego held a 6-0 lead in the eighth when the Mounties tied it on five hits, a hit batter and a walk. In the ninth Padres Al Federoff and Joe Macko singled, then Rapp slammed his double. Vancouver manager Lefty O'Doul took strong issue with umpire Cec Carlucci's ruling that it was fair as it sailed by first base.

San Francisco split at Hollywood, losing the seven-inning opener 1-0 to Ben Wade's fine one-hitter, then coming back to get the nightcap, 7-6.

PORTLAND, Ore.—Amos Lincoln, 191, Portland, outpointed Howard King, 193, Reno, Nev. (10).

RON PROMISES JOHN HIS BEST

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Ron Delany, Villanova College sophomore who has run the fastest mile in the United States this year, said Thursday he would put forth his greatest effort against John Landy here Saturday.

"I hope I live up to his kind words," Delany said of Landy's statement that the Irish runner should prove his greatest competitor. "I would like nothing better than to run my best against Mr. Landy."

No Justice For Olga On Mat Card

Very little is left to the imagination of the fans when the girl wrestlers show up at Memorial Arena.

Thursday night, during the double main event of the weekly professional show, almost everybody could tell right off just who was who.

Olga Zepeda, the good girl, was encased in a chaste white creation, while the bad girl, Betty Jo Hawkins, was wearing, of course, black.

Lest this symbolism be lost on the public, Betty Jo had red hair, emitted raucous cries throughout the match and heaped indignities indiscriminately on Olga and referee Dave Pye. All Olga did was dimple prettily at the crowd.

Despite those who like the happy ending, however, justice did not triumph. After each girl had won a fall, they took to rassling on the concrete floor of the arena instead of in the ring and the match was declared no contest.

In the other evening's entertainment, The Red Mask scowled his way to a victory over skinny Adrian Baillergon and Leo Numa and Strangler Wagner fought to a draw.

Rock Leaves Door Open 'Urge Will Be There'

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP) — Did Rocky Marciano—in the midst of the hometown fanfare for his retirement from the heavyweight championship — leave the door slightly ajar for a possible return to the ring?

Some of the huge throng who listened to Brockton's favorite son speak at the Fair Grounds Thursday after a 200-car motorcade had traveled 5½-mile parade route pondered the question.

"I'm happy the way everything has worked out," Rocky told his listeners. "My family is happy and everybody in Brockton is happy. My plans don't call for a comeback.

"But, of course, I can't see deep into the future. That will come later.

"I'm going to give it a good try. I'm going to do my best to stick with it, although I know the urge will be there to try it again."

Rocky got some reporters curious at a press conference, too, when he said:

"Should I return, I would want Al Weill as my manager."

"The champion will have to ask me to get him a fight," Weill said. "I will not go after him. I don't think he ever should fight again, now that he's retired."

LEAFS WIN OPENER

TORONTO (CP) — A rare triple-play and Loren Babe's clutch hitting gave Toronto Maple Leafs a 3-2, 11-inning decision over Richmond Virginians in Toronto's International League home baseball opener Thursday. A crowd of 12,122 saw the Leafs score their ninth win in 13 games.

Crown Zellerbach Resumes Full Newsprint Production

VANCOUVER (BUP) — Crown Zellerbach of Canada Limited has announced the resumption of full newsprint production at Ocean Falls following a winter slow-down caused by an unusual water shortage.

The rising water level of Link Lake, the power supply for the Ocean Falls mill 300 miles north of Vancouver, has made possible the resumption of full-time operation of the company's two newsprint machines.

The lake had dipped to record low levels as a result of a winter "drought" in the Ocean Falls area where precipitation normally is heavy.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Fairly broad export demand in barley, rye and flax showed on the Winnipeg exchange today. Trade reports indicated fair quantities of rye were sold to the Continent, including Norway and Denmark, while the United Kingdom took fair shipments of barley.

Disposal of lots of flax on a deferred shipping basis was also reported. Oats had good domestic shipping support.

Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat included: 915,000 bushels to Germany, 1,125,000 to United Kingdom, 355,000 to Switzerland, 185,000 to Russia, 155,000 to Belgium and 70,000 to the Netherlands.

Phidialloplis Phinnegan, conductor of the Floogel County Symphony Orchestra, said today he suggests the directors of the Symphony Society cease efforts to raise money from private sources to maintain the orchestra for another season.

Signor Phinnegan said: "The symphony is losing money. The reason the symphony is losing money, they are paying everyone too much salary. Including me.

"Also, the public does not wish to buy tickets to hear the symphony."

Signor Phinnegan said this public apathy meant the symphony wasn't worth an E-flat on the oboe.

"If the symphony was any good, the public would rush to buy tickets to hear it," he said. "Why throw good money after bad to keep it going?"

Asked about his plans if the symphony folded, Signor Phinnegan said: "Don't worry about me. I'm working on an arrangement of Blue Suede Shoes for washboard, ocarina, and steam kettle. With sound effects of cows at milking time. And echo chamber, of course.

"It will sell a million copies," the maestro concluded.

The last-place Campahooga Pink Sox of the Three-Z league would be in first place if it weren't for the managing, Donald "The Brain" Dumn, manager of the Sox, said today. In the clubhouse after the Sox lost a close one to the State Teacher's College for Women, 18 to 0, "The Brain" said:

"It ain't that we ain't got the pitching and the fielding and the hitting and the baserunning.

"We got the fastest infield and the hardest-hitting outfield and the best catching in the Three-Z."

"The Brain" paused as he pushed another stick of bubblegum into his cheek.

"In fact," he sighed, "them boys of mine is ready for the Big League, if it weren't that their manager is a no-good bum what don't know a pop-fly from a popsicle.

"However," he added, gritting his teeth in determination. "I ain't licked yet. As long as my wife is the daughter of the owner, I'll be the manager, fouling things up."

The Floogelian armed forces are at their lowest ebb since the country was founded, 89 centuries ago, E. Le Mer Legoolf, national defence minister of Floogelia said today.

"If the enemy struck at 9 a.m. tomorrow," he said, "we would all be in concentration camps before coffee break."

Morale, he said, was so low the army psychiatrists were using couches UNDER their couches and still hadn't been able to find rock-bottom.

"Physical condition of forces personnell is such that we cannot hold manoeuvres on land, sea or in the air in anything more than a three-mile per hour breeze without all the men being blown flat on their backs," M. Legoolf said. "Where they should stay already," he added.

As for armament, the minister said the longbows and sling-shots which are standard equipment are in excellent condition, but possibly inadequate for a modern war.

"I just hope I'm not too nervous to sign my name to the treaty of surrender," he concluded.

. . . BUT I DOUBT VERY MUCH I EVER WILL.

Empress Hotel Claims Big Loss

$800,000 In 7 Years

Victoria's Empress Hotel has operated at a loss of more than $800,000 over the last seven years, city council was informed today.

This was the reason given by CPR authorities for refusal to consider a new tax agreement with Victoria.

Council had asked an increase of $20,000 be paid in taxes in view of the fact the hotel now pays only $34,000, according to a 1913 agreement.

(If full taxes were payable by the hotel, the new 44½ mill rate applied to the almost $2,000,000 assessment would yield a city income of $69,331.)

The $34,000 now paid by the hotel is reduced by the fact that under the 1955 school formula the city must pay $20,000 to Greater Victoria School Board on behalf of the Empress assessment.

Council thought that although there was no legal responsibility (the agreement with the Empress for special tax concessions expires in 1963) the hotel might feel a moral responsibility to pay more.

ASSET TO CITY

The hotel officials pointed out, however, that the agreement had been made as the hotel was considered an asset to the city.

The letter added many other city businesses which might be considered to be paying the hotel's share of taxes would not be in existence if the hotel were not located here.

There followed a statement of losses incurred by the hotel annually since 1949, which ranged between $67,500 and $176,430. Losses ranging from $2,649 and $12,635 annually, totalling over $60,000 in the same seven-year period, were claimed for Crystal Garden, another CPR property.

City manager C. C. Wyatt informed finance committee that when similar hardships were imposed on Port Alberni through a tax deal with Macmillan, Bloedel Ltd., the company voluntarily accepted a tax increase.

The committee filed the letter without recommendation to council.

MRS. DOROTHY MALLORY

FAREWELL CONCERT

Post in Rome For Organist At Cathedral

Mrs. Dorothy Young Mallory, 24, assistant organist at Christ Church Cathedral here since last October, leaves with her husband at the end of May when she will take over as organist and choirmaster of the American Episcopal Church in Rome, Italy.

"It will give her an excellent opportunity to study in one of the great cultural centres, and will be an excellent opportunity for me also," said Mr. Mallory today. He is an architect, aged 29.

Cathedral organist Graham Steed termed Mrs. Mallory: "A very brilliant organist. We shall be sorry to lose her."

She gives a concert here at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Sunday, May 13, at 8.45 p.m., marking her final concert appearances in this city.

FINE RECORD

Mrs. Mallory brought to Victoria a long record of achievement in her profession, among these the distinction of having been first place winner of the American Guild of Organists' national competition in 1952 when she was 20.

A scholarship thus won enabled her to study in France under Marcel Dupre, one of the world's greatest living organists. It was in Fontainbleau she met her husband while studying at the school of fine arts and music. They were married in 1954.

She was born in Atlanta, Ga.

Her program May 13 will consist of numbers familiar to organists and laymen alike.

It will include: "Chanonne," Louis Couperin; "Chorale Prelude," Bach; "A Minor Vivaldi Concerto," Alain, and "Ascension Suite," Messiaene.

On the same program Victoria baritone John Bray will contribute two solos, "Be Thou With Me," by Bach, and "Lord God of Abraham," by Mendelssohn. He will be accompanied by C. C. Warren.

Inquiry Decision Delayed

Sloan to Rule After U.S. Trip

Chief Justice Gordon Sloan today reserved decision on whether former Social Credit Forests Minister R. E. Sommers should be invited to give testimony before the Royal Commission on Forestry.

"I regret that I have not reached a decision," said the chief justice.

It will be at least a week before his decision is announced, since commission officials leave at the weekend for an eight-day tour of tree farms, logging operations, and mills in Oregon and Washington.

Motion to have Mr. Sommers called to appear before the Sloan Commission was made Monday by former Liberal MLA Gordon Gibson.

He said the former minister should be invited or subpoenad to appear, to face question on charges he (Sommers) made in his statement on resignation.

In the statement, Mr. Sommers charged Mr. Gibson, the Liberal party and the Victoria Daily Times of being co-conspirators in a conspiracy aimed at wrecking forest legislation.

Ron Howard, counsel for Western Forest Management Association, and Lawrence Eckhardt, counsel for B.C. Truck Loggers, made application to have Mr. Sommers and E. T. Kenney, forests minister in the Liberal government "invited" to appear.

LEGAL ARGUMENT

The entire Thursday sitting of the commission was taken up with legal argument on the applications.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner, through Alan H. McLean, deputy attorney-general, opposed both applications, citing legislative immunity and executive council oaths of secrecy as reasons.

Mr. Gibson said "These charges were serious enough to cause the former minister to resign. I feel, and I hope, he will come forward.

"I feel he will do this so anything that would cause a minister to resign will not happen again."

Mr. Gibson said Mr. Sommers was in charge of "the ship when it foundered," and that he should be willing to assist in building "a better ship."

WITHDREW DEMAND

Mr. Gibson pulled a surprise action when he withdrew his demand that Mr. Sommers face questioning on the conspiracy charges. "I will very gladly withdraw my request . . . that he be questioned on matters stated in the Legislature," he said, "if it will help bring him here."

The issue involves matters of complicated constitutional law reaching back to the earliest days of the British House of Commons.

Mr. McLean argued that a member of the Legislative Assembly cannot be called before a tribunal or judiciary body to discuss statements made before the Legislature.

He contended also that a minister of the Crown could not be compelled to discuss matters of government policy. "There is a privilege attached to such communication," he said.

"There is absolute privilege attached to the executive branch of government," said the deputy attorney-general. "The only disclosure is of the final result."

Mr. Howard said he did not propose to ask questions of policy, but of administration.

He said, as an example, he would ask Mr. Sommers how Pacific Pine managed to obtain its forest management licence in the Fraser Canyon.

"There were many applications for the licence. All were refused. But within a few days after the rest had been disallowed, Pacific Pine reapplied, and in two or three days its application was accepted," he said.

MATTER OF POLICY

Mr. Howard said that throughout the hearing, Dr. C. D. Orchard and other government officials have stated, on reaching a certain point, that "that is a matter of policy."

He said that on the Pacific Pine application, Dr. Orchard "told us it was taken out of his hands."

"I would like to discuss that with Mr. Sommers," he said.

Mr. Howard also proposed asking the former minister the reasons for a cabinet level "time lag" on certain applications.

Doreen Alert, Showing Steady Improvement

Generally steady improvement in condition of four-year-old Doreen Sanders, who hung in a coma 46 days after a traffic accident, was reported by Royal Jubilee Hospital today.

The child said her first word, "Hi" when her mother, Mrs. Fred J. Sanders, 236 Cadillac, went to visit her Tuesday.

According to Mrs. Sanders, she has not spoken since, but is alert and bright.

ENJOYED BOOKS

Thursday Mrs. Sanders took Doreen some of her picture books and she enjoyed looking through them.

The mother plans an experiment to try to draw further conversation from the child who underwent two major brain operations.

She will read her daughter familiar stories, purposely altering them slightly without indicating the "error" to Doreen. She hopes Doreen, like most small children with their favorite tales, will object to the deviation—the louder the better.

When cameramen took her picture in hospital Thursday, Doreen was thrilled, in a subdued way.

"She goes to physiotherapy every day," said Mrs. Sanders, "and really enjoys that. She likes splashing in the pool."

Meanwhile, it has been announced the Victoria Kinsmen Club may assist in paying medical expenses resulting from the girl's injuries.

9 City Stores Close All-Day Wednesdays

At least nine Victoria stores are now closing all day Wednesday in face of a movement towards six-day opening by many downtown merchants.

Woodward's on Douglas street, and five downtown furniture stores and one radio store have adopted all-day Wednesday closing. Others are waiting to see what happens.

Harmony House and Stelck's Hardware at Hillside also close Wednesday.

A spokesman for Young and Banfield Radio Service, 794 Fort, said today:

"We shall close every Wednesday until Labor Day and then review the problem in the light of our experience.

"We are definitely opposed to the six-day week advocated by some of the larger stores. Many small stores would be adversely affected by six-day opening as they cannot afford to employ the staff required for staggered hours."

The five furniture stores now closing all day Wednesday are Humber's, Arrow Furniture, Champion's Ltd., Home Furniture and Vogue Furniture.

The Standard Furniture Co. at 737 Yates is continuing on a five and a half day week.

"We see no reason to change to a five-day week at present," a spokesman said.

Meanwhile, leading merchants on Douglas and Yates have formed a committee to press for a six-day shopping week.

They are awaiting legal advice from a lawyer as to what legislation is necessary to permit stores to open all day Wednesday.

Stan Mossop Heads City Kinsmen Club

Stan Mossop was elected president of Victoria Kinsmen Club at its annual meeting Thursday night.

CNR Diver, Crew Start Repairs On Ogden Pt. Dock

A CNR diver and six-man crew started repair work today on the concrete facings of Ogden Point docks, below the waterline.

Main part of the maintenance job is to replace cement fillings between concrete slabs, which wear loose due to action of tide and water.

The job will take up to two months, depending on weather conditions. The diving tender cannot operate under adverse wind conditions.

HARDLY EXACT SCIENCE

'Much Theory' Noted In Sustained Yield

There is still much theory embraced by the forest term "sustained yield," T. S. Goodyear, Olympia, Wash., manager of the Oympic Peninsula State Sustained Yield Forest No. 1, told the 11th Olympic Logging Conference here today.

"It can hardly be classed as an exact science, since considerable guesswork and risks are involved in balancing annual growth and timber removal over a long-term period."

Fires, insect infestation could all disrupt management plans for a long-term operation.

He told the 375 logging operators from the Pacific Northwest that Washington State logging area is now 185,275 acres containing about 5,474,000,000 board feet of merchantable timber worth, at present stumpage prices, about $70,000,000.

This allows an annual cut of about 91,000,000 board feet, he said. Last year 92,832,550 board feet were advertised for sale.

During the past five years "the independent logger has become almost extinct," he said, as without backing of large mills or corporations they could not bid against owners of saw mill, plywood and pulp plants.

An annual cut of between 80,000,000 and 90,000,000 board feet means work for 2,020 wage-earners

Earlier, Washington Attorney-General Don Eastvold, 36, who will be running for state governor on the Republican ticket, told the conference that six "overlapping" state agencies which manage resources worth $800,000,000 should be combined into a single department of natural resources.

He said there was a strong need for a sustained yield policy and recommended that "we do away with the politicians and replace them with technicians."

On the non-forestry front, he predicted President Eisenhower will win re-election next fall, but that the Republicans would have only a small Senate majority.

Election of officers will be held this afternoon.

Funeral Today For Well-Known Victoria Woman

Funeral service for Mrs. Cassie Morley McWilliams, wife of provincial forester in charge of reforestation and library board member, Harold G. McWilliams, and mother of 1952 Rhodes scholar James, was scheduled to be held at 2 p.m. today from McCall Bros. chapel.

She died in Vancouver April 30 while visiting there. The late Mrs. McWilliams was 48.

Rev. A. I. Higgins officiates at the service which will terminate at Royal Oak.

The family home here is at 1825 Hollywood Crescent.

Among survivors are her husband and son; a daughter, Mrs. R. J. Donaldson of Houston, Texas; five sisters, Mrs. D. A. Adair, Mrs. Anne Smith and Miss Dinah Armstrong, all of Vancouver, Mrs. James Chambers, Chilliwack, and Mrs. L. Wilton, Wawanesa, Man.; and a brother, William, in Vancouver.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—Will you please tell me how I can receive all newspaper articles written so far about Autherine Lucy and her college troubles?—D.D.

A.—It is assumed your question deals with Victoria, or even all B.C. papers. To trace and note all the dispatches and articles by special writers would be a task of some magnitude. However, The Times receives a year-round publication, "Facts On File," a well-known weekly world news digest with cumulative index, which lists all the chief events in that university dispute. You may consult it in The Times library and doubtless will find a starting point for your research.

RECORD ATTENDANCE EXPECTED

Out-of-Towners Crowding Into Fine City Gardens

Over one hundred visitors from Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, Ore., and Vancouver, toured today some of Victoria's most graceful and spectacular gerdens, featuring a wide variety of Alpine flowers, rare shrubs and plants.

The private gardens—some 30 in number—have been thrown open to the public for the spring garden festival sponsored by the Victoria Horticultural Society. Since the opening day of the festival on Wednesday about 500 persons have visited the gardens.

CLOSE SATURDAY

Festival officials expect a record crowd Saturday, the closing day of the four-day festival.

Among the visitors is Cecil Solly, well-known garden expert, who arrived here Thursday from Seattle.

Mr. Solly said there is no city in the Pacific northwest which can surpass the gardens of Victoria.

"Victorians take greater pride in their gardens than people of other cities," he said. "You seemed to have a greater number of skilled gardeners than other cities on the coast."

Visitors toured the gardens of Mr. and Mrs. N. Abkhazi, 1946 Fairfield road; Mrs. H. G. Worth, King George Terrace; Hon. R. W. and Mrs. Mayhew, 3125 Beach Drive; Mr. and Mrs. R. H. What Next! Homemade Soup Made From a Powdered Base

By PENNY SAVER

It's often said that making home-made soup is a real art. Well, even if your last attempts haven't been exactly successful, there's hope yet, because now there's even a prepared base for home-made soup. Sounds paradoxical, it's true, but that's what it is. Chicken base is added to boiling water, and then you add the noodles, vegetables and other ingredients to suit your own palate. The base is powdered, and the four-ounce jar I saw would make 25 servings. It costs 59 cents. For the larger two-pound tin of soup base, you pay $4.29. Choose from beef, jellied consomme, cream of onion, neutral cream, cream of tomato, tomato boullion, cream of celery, cream of mushroom, cream of green pea and fresh onion. You have the old-fashioned home-made flavor with modern means of preparation. Wonderful!

Another old-fashioned recipe brought right up-to-the-minute is one for shortbread. If you're rushed so that you simply can't use your traditional shortbread recipe, but you'd really like some tasty, smooth shortbread cookies, the prepared mix is for you. You add three ounces of butter, cream and cook. That's all there is to it. The box is yours for 19 cents.

Dried fruits are full of good nutrition, and are so tasty that in any weather they prove to be favorites for desserts or for nibbling. I've found that dried apricots, which actually aren't too dry, but soft and chewy, are just right at snack time or for in-between meals when you feel you'd like a little something to nibble. The flavor makes them a real treat. For cooking, a little while soaking will have them ready for use. Apricots are 77 cents a package, and tender California pears are 59 cents for a 12-ounce package.

Everyone has a favorite type of jelly and most people like to experiment with different types. Packed in a long gold cardboard box are six squat round jelly jars with pastel lids marked with floral bouquets.

You'll find peach preserve, two spiced apple jellies, grape preserve, plum preserve and orange marmalade. The box has a clear, hard cellophane top so that you can see the attractive arrangement without opening the box itself. The box of six is $2.35, and a small box of three is $1.19. A novel gift.

Call me at 2-3131 and I'll tell you where to find the items mentioned in the column during the past weeks.

NOVEL THEME FOR RECIPE TEA

The convener, Mrs. R. Buller, left, Mrs. H. Molyneaux and the club president, Mrs. Vincent Smith, standing, have been checking, trying out and writing recipes for many days now so that each guest who attends the novel Recipe Tea arranged by the Comitas Club for Saturday afternoon from 2.30 to 4.30 in the Douglas Room at the Hudson's Bay, will receive a free souvenir recipe. There will also be a door prize and a raffle. Proceeds will be used for the club projects.

Pastel Gowns, Flowers For Spring Wedding

Three attendants gowned in pastel princess line gowns entered St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, with bride, Miss Joan Frances Cross, recently for the ceremony which united her in marriage with Robert Bernie Herbertson. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Cross, Dufferin Avenue, was gowned in a gown of imported white lace over satin. The fitted bodice was trimmed with mother of pearl sequins and had long lily point sleeves and a Peter Pan collar. The bouffant skirt was inset with net and trimmed with sequins. Her chapel length veil was held by a dainty bonnet-shaped headpiece of white lace trimmed with satin, sequins and seed pearls. Pink rapture roses and stephanotis were in her cascade bridal bouquet.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Dolores Bailey; bridesmaid, Miss Helen Sinclair, and junior bridesmaid, Miss Carol Ann Cross, sister of the bride, wore yellow, pink and green, respectively. Their crystalette taffeta dresses were complemented with bouquets of pink carnations.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Herbertson, Colville Road, had Charles Hamilton as best man. Ushers, Dave Fanthorpe and Alec Irvine, showed guests to pews marked with pink carnations and white ribbon.

Tall standard baskets of pink and white snapdragons, pink tulips and white carnations were at the front of the church for the ceremony which was performed by Archdeacon A. E. deL Nunns. Richard Proudman, organist, played traditional wedding music.

Cyril Cross, uncle of the bride, proposed the toast to her future happiness at the reception which followed at the Club Tango, Oak Bay. A white wedding cake trimmed with yellow roses and green fern centred the bride's table, and was set in a mist of green tulle. White candles completed the arrangement.

For her going-away outfit, the bride chose a turquoise knitted suit with winter white topcoat, pink hat and shoes and a corsage of pink carnations.

Following their honeymoon trip motoring on the island and mainland, Mr. and Mrs. Herbertson will live in Victoria.

Children Sing for Guests At Orphanage Linen Shower

Guests at the annual spring linen shower of the B.C. Protestant Orphanage, yesterday afternoon, felt the worth of their gifts, when the children presented a program of songs, concluding with their theme, "God Bless Our Children's Home." Mrs. F. Shandley and Mrs. N. Harwood arranged the program.

Approximately $600 in cash, and linen donations of sheets, towels, a bedspread, pillow slips and miscellaneous articles were received by Mrs. J. C. Scott, Mrs. F. C. Dillabaugh, Mrs. A. Cox, Mrs. M. H. French and Mrs. M. H. Couttes.

Mrs. Ada Barner, matron of the home; Mrs. W. Holder, past president, and Mrs. W. Luney, president of the ladies' committee to the orphanage which sponsored the affair, received the many guests. Visitors were shown over the orphanage by Mrs. J. McGimpsey and Mrs. G. I. Warren.

Tea was served in new china cups with their matching "TV" trays, which have recently been purchased by the committee expressly for their teas. The TV sets eliminate the use of tables, allowing more guests to enjoy the home's hospitality.

Mrs. J. W. Collins was general convener of the affair. Others on her committee included Mrs. Rita McTavish Hughes, Mrs. O. M. Brown, Mrs. G. J. Alexander, Mrs. W. B. Wellwood, Mrs. A. Adams, Mrs. S. J. Clark, Mrs. F. Leslie, Mrs. J. F. McConnell, Mrs. W. Dinsmore, Mrs. W. Clark and Mrs. J. King.

PTA NEWS

Cordova Bay—Hon. R. G. Williston, minister of education, showed pictures of his recent trip to Amsterdam at a meeting of Cordova Bay PTA. Mr. A. W. Murphy gave a short talk on night classes being offered next term. A committee was appointed to assist teachers in organizing the sports day. Plans are being made for an auction sale in June.

Hawaiian Honeymoon

Following their recent wedding, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Stephens left by air for Honolulu, where they will spend their honeymoon at the Edgewater Hotel.

Rev. J. A. Roberts officiated at the wedding ceremony in St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church when Miss Elsa Kristine Nielsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kristian S. Nielsen, Sussex Street, exchanged vows with Thomas Alfred Stephens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred A. Stephens, Lovatt Avenue. Spring flowers decorated the church for the ceremony, during which T. R. Myers played traditional organ selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length torso line dress of net over satin and lace with bouffant skirt posed over hoops. The Chantilly lace bodice was embroidered with rhinestones, and the sleeves were long and tapered. A lace cap embroidered with rhinestones and pearls held her net veil which misted to shoulder length. Red roses and white hyacinths were in her cascade bouquet.

Attendants were Mrs. F. Severson, matron of honor, and the bride's sister, Mrs. E. McLeod of Seattle, bridesmatron, who was gowned in hyacinth blue taffeta waltz-length dresses. They were fashioned with sheath skirts with self overskirts and contour belts. Their caps and shoes were en tone, and they carried cascades of white hyacinths, carnations and marguerites.

The groom has his brother, Donald Stephens, as best man, and Robert N. Whittemore, Reginald J. Hooper and Fred R. Severson as ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Olde England Inn. Paul Ross proposed the toast to the bride. The newlyweds cut their wedding cake, which was set in a mist of white tulle in the centre of the bride's table. Rosebuds completed the table arrangement.

For travelling, the bride wore a pink printed silk dress with black duster coat, pink picture hat and accessories and a white gardenia corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephens will live at 471 Obed Avenue when they return.

WOMEN NEED IT MOST

Real Friendship the Greatest Need in Integration of Immigrants in Canada

A special plea for women immigrants was made by Dr. W. G. Black, regional liaison officer of the department of citizenship, at a meeting of the Women's Canadian Club, Thursday afternoon, in the Empress Hotel.

In explaining the problems that confront immigrants entering Canada to make their homes, the speaker pointed out that either too much or too little help is very often given. "The wise plan is to help them to help themselves," he said quietly.

Needs include the immediate learning of English, information about social services available, wise counselling on their problams, and, most of all, friendship.

MEANS MUCH TO THEM

"Friendship is the most important thing in making the immigrants feel at home," he urged.

"These people have left their various homes. Many of them will never go back. They are going to make new homes in Canada and if they are to become good citizens we must meet them with warmth and friendship.

"The women especially need this friendship," he said. "Husbands meet it at their work; children find it in the schools; but the women are at home and often lonely.

"Genuine friendship will definitely help in promoting the process of integration in which the majority of these immigrants become good Canadians," Dr. Black urged.

Speaking briefly of minority groups in Canada, Dr. Black said that "nothing less than equality must be the objective in Canada toward these groups." He stressed the importance of getting rid of "the evil called exclusiveness."

One way to speed integration of minority groups is to study their cultural and historical backgrounds, then work with them, get to know them and they will soon find the security and sense of belonging that is needed.

In conclusion the speaker pointed out that Canadians, as individuals, might well develop and practice a better citizenship in the home, the community and finally in the country and to the commonwealth of all mankind.

"A good citizen of Canada is a better citizen of the world," he said, "and good citizenship is based upon enlightenment, knowledge and a sense of destiny."

Dr. Black was introduced and thanked by the club president, Mrs. Gordon Wismer. Report of the nominations committee was given by Mrs. E. S. Farr.

U.S. Groups Move to End Death Penalty

Vote in Britain Sparks Action

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP) — Reform movements seeking abolition of the death penalty are gaining strength in the United States.

They appear to have picked up momentum from the recent vote by the British Parliament in favor of abolition of capital punishment for murder in the United Kingdom. This brought to 31 the number of countries which have done away with the death penalty for civil crimes.

But, while abolition would be a relatively simple step in Great Britain, it is a much more complex problem in the United States, where capital punishment is controlled by 50 different jurisdictions—the 48 states, the federal government and the District of Columbia, the seat of the U.S. capital.

Six states already have banned the death penalty — Michigan, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Maine, Minnesota and North Dakota, in that order.

Abolition bills have been introduced from time to time in almost all of the other state legislatures but state authorities now report that the pressure for abolition is being intensified. This year, capital punishment has become an issue in Massachusetts and California.

SPECIAL INVESTIGATIONS

The problem also is coming to the fore in the legal field. The American Law Institute, which has avoided the capital punishment question in recent years while working on a model penal code, now is in the process of drafting penalty articles.

The American Bar Association has asked its committee on the administration of criminal justice to make special investigations into the effectiveness of the death penalty as a deterrent to crime.

Under state and federal laws, capital punishment generally is limited to first-degree murder, rape, treason, arson, kidnapping, sabotage with loss of life and perjury resulting in the execution of an innocent person.

However, 18 states still provide the death penalty for duelling, 15 have it on their statute books for train-wrecking, 10 for lynching, seven for dynamiting, seven for armed robbery, five for train robbery and four for burglary. Some states list only one offence punishable by death while one—Georgia—has as many as 14.

Meantime, statistics indicate the use of capital punishment is lessening in the United States. The number of executed criminals went below 100 in 1950 for the first time in decades and has not risen above 83 in any year since.

Eight states employ gas as the mode of execution, seven use hanging or shooting and the rest, including the district of Columbia, use electrocution.

FOREST FIRE DANGER 'CRITICAL' ON ISLAND

FINAL ★★★★ BULLETINS

Israel Claims Cease-Fire Violated

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—Israel claimed today that Egyptian and Jordanian "infiltrators violated Israeli territory only a few hours after United Nations secretary-general Dag Hammarskjold completed his "peace mission" in the Middle East. One Jordanian was killed in the clash.

Hammarskjold flew into Rome today amid signs that the "unconditional" Arab-Israeli cease-fire pledges he announced are binding only as long as Israel leaves the Jordan River alone.

Mainland Village Official Killed

HARRISON HOT SPRINGS, B.C. (CP)—Leonard M. Rose, 32, a village commissioner, was instantly killed here today. RCMP said a tractor, driven by Rose's brother-in-law, Ray Harris, was towing a log across a highway when the log snagged, swung around and smashed Rose in the face, breaking his neck.

RCMP Vets to Honor Bandit Fighters

MAILLARDVILLE, B.C. (CP)—Three RCMP men who foiled a $10,000 bank robbery here April 3 will be honored by the force's Veterans' Association.

Cpl. H. M. Johnstone and Constables A. L. Beach and V. J. Schroeder will be awarded engraved plaques at the group's 43rd annual roll call and banquet. Johnstone, promoted to corporal for his feat, shot and killed one man, wounded another and held a third under his empty gun. He was shot eight times in the fight.

RCAF Man Vindicated in Grave Charge

VANCOUVER (CP)—Walter Balcombe, 24, today won his appeal against an indecent assault charge on which he served four months and, court officials said, won't be deported to St. Vincent, B.W.I.

The former RCAF man was convicted of the offence while stationed at Comox, B.C. Appeal Court, in quashing the decision handed down at Courtenay, B.C., said Balcombe may resume his service career.

Human Smuggling Exposed in New York

NEW YORK (AP)—A wealthy Chinese businessman has been accused of heading a ring responsible for bringing thousands of Chinese into the United States illegally. Sing Kee, 57, who operates a travel service in New York's Chinatown, was named Thursday in a five-count indictment.

Winnipeg Pair Absolved in Slayings

WINNIPEG (BUP)—The 29-year-old wife of a Winnipeg laundry worker and her alleged sweetheart were freed by police today after a coroner's jury had absolved them of blame in the shooting of the woman's husband and their three young children.

Mrs. Josephine Tomyn and Peter Yarmie, 38, had been held on a coroner's warrant since April 22 when the bodies of John Tomyn, 38; daughters, Arlene, 10, and Grace, nine, and five-year-old son, Brian, were found in the downstairs living room of the family's home. All four victims had been shot to death with a newly-purchased .22-calibre rifle.

Double-Cross Charged by Drew

McMahon's Cancelled Proposal Sparks Outburst in Commons

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition leader Drew today charged Trade Minister Howe with double-crossing Parliament by denying possession of documents from Calgary gas executive Frank McMahon proposing an alternate cross-country gas pipeline.

"I have never double - crossed anyone in my life," Mr. Howe declared in the Commons.

The minister argued that a "private and confidential" letter to him from Mr. McMahon containing the proposal was not a document because he was not free to table it in the Commons.

"If anyone was double-crossed," Mr. Drew said, "Parliament was double-crossed by the minister."

ARGUE PROCEDURE

The opposition leader presented a motion to adjourn normal House business to debate the issue today. Speaker Rene Beaudoin said the motion was not in order and a long procedural wrangle followed.

The issue grew out of the tabling by Mr. Howe Thursday night of an April 4 letter by Mr. McMahon, president of Westcoast Transmission Ltd., containing a proposal to build the Alberta-to-east gas line instead of Trans - Canada Pipe lines Ltd. With the letter was a telegram from Mr. McMahon, sent Thursday, saying he was dropping his proposal.

Mr. McMahon's proposal, outlined in correspondence tabled with his telegram, declared a Canadian-owned line could be built without government aid, based on exports to the United States midwest of twice the amount proposed by Trans-Canada.

He had expressed willingness to put up a $500,000 cash bond to guarantee completion of the 2,200-mile project by the fall of 1958 provided he could get steel pipe and other materials.

NO DECISION YET

The Trans-Canada proposal before the cabinet is that the government put up 90 per cent of the $80,000,000 cost of the western leg of the 2,-

Child-Killing Suspect Remanded

LANGLEY, B.C. (CP)—Gerald E. Eaton, 51-year-old ferry worker, was remanded to May 11 when he appeared in a dingy police court here today charged with murder in the death of eight-year-old Carolynne Moore.

He appeared without counsel in a courtroom 18 feet long and 12 feet wide and packed with 24 persons. Another dozen overflowed into the corridor. Ten of the spectators were women.

The hearing lasted less than a minute.

SPECIAL GUARD

After the remand—to give RCMP time to develop their case—Eaton was returned to Oakalla prison farm on the outskirts of Vancouver and to the security measures ordered following threats against him.

FIRST WINNER—Famous trainer Ben Jones scored his first of six Kentucky Derby triumphs with Lawrin in 1938 despite the colt's bad foot.

KENTUCKY DERBY FLASHBACKS

Lawrin Proved Tough To Prep for Classic

By BEN A. JONES
Calumet Farm Trainer

LOUISVILLE — Of the six Kentucky Derby winners I trained, Lawrin was the hardest to get ready.

Lawrin, a brown colt by Insco out of Margaret Lawrence, bred and owned by Herbert M. Woolf of Kansas City, required a lot of work.

The fact that he was troubled by a bad foot didn't make the job of getting him in shape for the Derby of 1938 any easier.

As a two-year-old, Lawrin won only three of 15 starts. That record was not discouraging to me, however, because he was a big fellow, and I was sure he would handle his size more effectively when he reached his three-year-old season. He stood 16 hands, two inches.

Lawrin reached top form a little earlier than I had anticipated. When the colt won the Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah Park during the winter, he was really right.

I would have been happy to run him in the Derby right away, so knew I had to let up on on him for a while, then bring him back to top form.

This was sure to be tough. We had to use the other horses in the stable to race him into condition.

FOOT TROUBLE

Lawrin's Derby outlook was further dimmed by foot trouble. With the Louisville race just around the corner, he suffered a separation of the heel.

It was necessary to remove all the heel on the affected hoof.

I had a blacksmith make a special shoe to protect the hoof, and in a couple of days Lawrin was training again.

The shoe looked like the kind a workhorse wears and was about as heavy.

On opening day at Churchill Downs, I ran Lawrin in a six-furlong race, in which he was third. Then he ran in the Derby Trial Stakes, and was second to The Chief, which equalled the track record.

In both races Lawrin ran in the heavy plates.

For the Derby I removed the heavy plates.

To Lawrin it must have seemed like he was running with 10 pounds less than he had carried in his two previous races.

I was afraid that the bad foot might take such punishment that he would pull up lame.

I was delighted that he didn't. Lawrin ran an outstanding race to be my first winner of the Kentucky Derby.

Big Up-Island Blaze Brought Under Control

Tinder-dry mid-Island forests and Burnaby bushland on the mainland exploded into flame Thursday, and lower-level forest conditions on Vancouver Island and areas near Vancouver were labeled "near critical" today.

Victoria is in its 28th rainless day—just 36 hours away from an all-time record.

Worst fire of the year occured Thursday at Youbou, on Cowichan Lake, where 200 acres burned before the fire was brought under control today.

The hazard for the entire Vancouver forest district, which includes Vancouver Island, is rated as "increasing, and moderate," but valleys and flat areas are tinder dry.

"Cool nights, and snow in the hills are our saving grace right now," said a forest service spokesman.

Some 22 fires are now burning in the Vancouver district.

The fire total throughout the province today is 70.

Prince Rupert forest district reports 11 fires and a low hazard.

Cloudy weather conditions and occasional showers have lowered the hazard through the interior.

Prince George district reports 7 small fires burning, and Kamloops 20.

Officials said moss in Southern Vancouver Island valleys is bone dry, and that anything could touch off a fire.

Green growth has not yet started to appear.

The total number of fires burning at the end of the first week of the fire season last year was 33 compared to this week's 70.

The Youbou fire, which started Thursday and burned through the night in 20-year-old fir and hemlock, was spiked before it could spread into virgin timber atop a 3,000-foot hill in the Widow Creek area of South Central Vancouver Island.

OUTDOOR FIRES FORBIDDEN IN VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER (CP) — All permits for outdoor fires have been cancelled in tinder-dry Vancouver until further notice, Fire Chief Hugh Bird said today.

"There will be no exceptions," he said.

His edict followed a month of hot, dry weather which has resulted in an outbreak of bush and grass fires within city limits.

400 Fighting Cowichan Blaze

More than 400 men were engaged in firefighting.

The flames, ripping through tinder-dry underbrush, threatened the B.C. Forest Products Ltd. mill at Youbou for a while Thursday night but were turned away from it before midnight. A new threat arose, however, when the fire started up the hillside.

Throughout the night five company pumps and three forest service pumps were streaming thousands of gallons of water in an attempt to check the blaze. The uphill surge of the flames was checked finally with the aid of several bulldozers which continued to cut swaths around the base of the hill.

Forest Service officials said the blaze started at 2.30 p.m. Thursday between Cottonwood Creek and the mill, about a quarter-mile from the plant. The Forest Service said cause of the fire was unknown. Other reports said it started from burning refuse behind the company bunkhouses.

Most of the firefighters were recruited from workers in the mill and loggers in the woods.

Soviets Deny Acting In Frogman Mystery

LONDON (CP) — The mystery surrounding the death of a British frogman deepened tonight with a report quoting a Russian spokesman as saying that a frogman was seen near the Russian cruiser Ordzhonikidze recently.

The report was published by the naval correspondent of the Evening Standard who said he had been told this by an assistant naval attache at the Russian Embassy.

The cruiser Ordzhonikidze brought Russia's Nikolai Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev to Portsmouth on a recent 10-day visit to Britain.

The Evening Standard correspondent said he telephoned the embassy for information about the death of Lt.-Cmdr. Lionel Crabb, who was reported "missing, presumed drowned," after going on an underwater exercise near Portsmouth Harbor April 20.

The Standard correspondent said he spoke to a man who said he was an assistant naval attache, but declined to give his name.

SAYS NO ACTION TAKEN

The Russian told him: "A watchman on our ship saw a frogman come to the surface in Portsmouth Harbor. He was on the surface for only a few seconds. Then he disappeared and was not seen again.

"The watchman reported seeing the frogman to the captain of the warship."

Asked whether any action was taken against the frogman, the Russian replied: "Absolutely none. We were in a British port and there was nothing we could do.

"Action in such a case is forbidden in our navy."

Assessments, mill rates, taxes an' danders hev all gone up, in thet order.

'Brain-Washing' Confessions Wiped Out by Soviet Decree

MOSCOW (AP)—The praesidium of the Supreme Soviet has revoked certain laws which permitted using "special procedures" in extracting confessions in cases of treason and sabotage.

The new decree, dated April 19, appeared in the Bulletin of the Supreme Soviet which reached Western correspondents today.

It specifically declared null and void three laws of the 1934 and 1937 which were promulgated by Stalin, the first two after the murder of Sergei Kirov, Leningrad Communist party leader, and the other to speed up convictions during the purge trials.

The laws which have been revoked permitted the secret police to use all sorts of methods to short-cut what now is declared to be normal Socialist legal procedure and obtain "confessions" from accused persons.

The procedures permitted under these Stalin-proclaimed laws were generally considered responsible for the long series of abject confessions—now declared spurious in many instances — which marked the purge trials.

Two of the cancelled decrees were enacted on Dec. 1, 1934, the day on which Kirov was assassinated.

Farm Credit Act Urged by Thatcher

(From Times News Services)

A blunt-speaking Saskatchewan independent member has suggested creation of a national farm credit act through which farmers could get long-term, government-guaranteed bank loans.

Ross Thatcher, a hardware merchant who also farms and raises cattle on a large scale in Saskatchewan, made the suggestion on Thursday as agriculture department estimates were studied.

Lack of long-term credit, said the member for Moose Jaw-Lake Centre, has resulted in concentration of farms in the hands of fewer owners. The number of tenant farmers had grown and farm productivity had been reduced because farmers could not afford irrigation projects and modern equipment.

Agriculture, in an otherwise booming economy, should not be allowed to lag behind through a shortage of long-term credit.

Mr. Thatcher, who spoke during a debate in which a number of members brought up local agricultural problems, said the federal government had accepted the principle of providing guarantees for long-term bank loans in the National Housing Act. It enables federal guarantee of mortgages.

A national farm credit act, he said, would guarantee the banks against loss on farmers' loans for periods of 20 and 30 years. The money thus obtained would be used to buy farms and equipment, or for building homes and barns.

Seek Less Risky Loan Fields

Mr. Thatcher said most lending institutions now seek loan fields that are less risky and more profitable than agriculture. Their lack of enthusiasm for farm mortgage lending was understandable.

But federal plans so far evolved for direct government loans to farmers had proven they are not the answer to the farmers' credit needs.

Hazen Argue (CCF, Assiniboia) reiterated past demands on the government for implementation of some form of price support or parity prices for all types of agricultural products.

He said the federal index of farm prices, based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100, was 218 last month, while the index of costs of production on farms, based on the same period, was 235.

This means in effect, he said, that farmers are worse off now than during the depression period of 1935-39. The federal government had a reasonably good support program for butter. But beyond that there was nothing. Price support for eggs and hogs was just "window dressing."

Mr. Argue said even the new 1,000,000-member Canadian Labor Congress, in a resolution passed at its founding meeting last week, advocated parity prices for farm products which bear a fair relationship to costs of production.

The government Thursday declined to say whether it is considering direct housing loans in the face of reported drops in the amount of mortgage money made available by the chartered banks.

Works Minister Winters, who reports for Central Mortgage & Housing Corporation, said that the question is a matter of government policy and that any decision would be announced only after it is reached.

Stanley Knowles (CCF, Winnipeg North Centre) asked the minister's view after referring to newspaper reports saying the banks' housing loans are down 30 per cent from last year.

The Senate Thursday gave second reading — approval in principle — to legislation to ratify a Canada-Denmark agreement to avoid double taxation.

The bill was referred to a committee following protests by Liberal and Progressive Conservative senators that ratification would make the agreement the law of Canada. These members felt all Canadian laws should be contained in Canadian statutes.

The Canada-Denmark agreement provides for income tax exclusion on industrial and commercial profits of permanent enterprises of one country operating in another.

Federal expenditures for flood control on the Assiniboine river were more than doubled during the last fiscal year, Agricultural Minister Gardiner reported Thursday.

In a reply tabled for Walter Dinsdale (PC, Brandon-Souris) he said $140,839 was spent for diking and cut-offs on the prairie river. That compared with $69,154 in the entire 1954-55 fiscal year and $99,989 the preceding year.

A former New Brunswick health minister said Thursday television is assisting crime comic books in the corruption of youth.

Liberal Senator Frederic McGrand, a physician, made the statement in an hour-long speech in the Senate urging a greater appreciation of mental health in the field of crime prevention. He was speaking on a motion of Senator David Croll (L, Ontario) for penal reform in Canada.

"In the corruption of youth, the comic book has been ably assisted by television programs," he said.

Ottawa Sure Pearson Will Take NATO Post

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — Possibility that Hon. L. B. Pearson, secretary of state for external affairs, might leave his Canadian cabinet post to take the position of secretary-general to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization has the halls of parliament humming with speculation.

Members appeared agreed that should the $30,000 a year tax-free international office be offered to Mr. Pearson, he would be inclined to accept, and that Hon. Paul Martin, present minister of national health and welfare, would be his successor in the post of external affairs minister.

After a few years in the internationally important post of NATO secretary-general, Mr. Pearson's prestige would be enhanced to the point that should he care to return to Canada and contest the next Liberal leadership convention, he might have a good chance of winning, observers suggested.

Before leaving Ottawa for London and Paris last week Mr. Pearson told newspapermen that he would "give most careful consideration" to any offer of the post of NATO secretary-general, that might be made when Lord Ismay retires, next April. He flatly denied reports circulating on Parliament Hill that he had rejected a suggestion from abroad that he take the NATO post.

At the current Paris meeting of NATO Mr. Pearson planned to make his own survey of the prospects of how the organization might develop in the years immediately ahead. He is most anxious that NATO become more than simply a military alliance and has repeatedly emphasized that Article II of this charter be implemented, calling for greater co-operation among the member states along economic, political and cultural lines.

Strike at Kitimat

KITIMAT (CP)—Construction workers, building four additional potlines at this burgeoning up-coast aluminimum smelter, went on strike today over the firing of an operating engineer. The men are employees of Sagueney-Kitimat Ltd., a subsidiary of the Aluminum Company of Canada.

B.C. CENTENARY STAMP GIVEN OTTAWA OKAY

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. centenary committee announced today the post office at Ottawa has indicated its willingness to issue a special stamp to feature the province's 100th anniversary in 1958.

L. H. McCance, newly-appointed executive secretary of the committee, will open offices in Victoria, May 15.

The committee has advertised for proposals for compilation of the official centenary program. Proposals are to be submitted by May 10.

—And George Is Really Mad

Publicity Commissioner George Warren has a perpetual headache straightening out publications which place Vancouver Island landmarks on the mainland.

Today Mr. Warren discovered a new kind of error—the moving of Ottawa's Peace Tower to Victoria, and, of all things, it was done by a Vancouver newspaper.

To add insult to injury the caption under the picture said:

"Parliament Buildings, Victoria, impress visitors to B.C. with their dignity and solid beauty. The capital is much in the news as far-reaching decisions are made affecting every citizen. Here then is the hub of B.C., and the well-known clock intones the long hours through which legislators have sat on the people's business."

The caption concluded: "Naturally, the scene is not complete without the RCMP constable." (There is no RCMP constable outside Victoria's Parliament Buildings nor, of course, is there a clock in the building's dome.)

Mr. Warren lost no time in registering a protest. He telephoned the Vancouver paper and said it was the "most glaring error" he had ever seen.

The editor agreed. He tendered a full apology to Mr. Warren and the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, and promised that a full correction would appear tomorrow.

"It is unthinkable that a responsible newspaper should make such an error as this," Mr. Warren said. "We have enough difficulty educating people far away from mislabelling this city without having to educate Vancouver papers as well."

PRAYER FOR TODAY

OUR FATHER, make us know that every opportunity—and there are many which come our way each day—carries with it the responsibility to conduct ourselves in any and every circumstance as a child of Thine, through Jesus Christ. Amen.

In North Burnaby, on the mainland, a bush fire badly damaged a trestle of the Great Northern Railway today. The bush fire burned through the night along the right-of-way and scorched the trestle today. Although it is now useless, railway officials say there will be no delay in train service as a nearby trestle is still in operation.

In Vancouver meanwhile, the lives of children and the homes of East Hastings residents were threatened late Thursday by a stubborn fire that scorched five acres of bushland.

Firemen and police were kept busy herding curious youngsters out of the path of the flames.

The two-hour fire sizzled over almost five city blocks, endangering houses and forcing firemen to call for volunteers among the homeowners.

Some youngsters courted death by walking into the heart of the bush and playing in a cleared field in the centre of the property. Firemen said they might have been cut off by the flames and either burned or suffocated. Another group of youngsters was soaked when they got too close to the blaze and the firemen's hoses.

Weatherman William Mackie pointed out in Victoria today that the city has gone 28 days without rain, and that the record for this season is 29 consecutive days without measurable precipitation, set in 1951.

It is "nip and tuck between sun and clouds," he said, but he expects sunshine for the remainder of today and Saturday. A Pacific storm has brought rain to Washington and Oregon, but is expected to brush by Vancouver Island.

Professional rainmakers, who signed a contract with B.C. Power Commission last month to encourage rainfall to keep John Hart hydro plant in production, are "on the spot" in the warm spell.

They need clouds to "seed" with silveriodide to bring rain. And it is apparent the right kind of clouds haven't been appearing.

U.K. BASES IN CEYLON 'MUST GO'

COLOMBO, Ceylon (Reuters)—Ceylon's new Socialist government has informed British authorities that British air and naval bases in Ceylon must be removed and "there is no question of reconsideration of that." Prime Minister Solomon Bandaranaike told the House of Representatives tonight.

TWO WOUNDED

Teacher Shot Dead By Student

SEAT PLEASANT, Md. (AP)—A 15-year-old pupil went berserk with a rifle at Maryland Park Junior High School today, shooting to death one teacher and wounding two others.

The incident threw the school into an uproar. After the shooting, the school was closed immediately for the day. Instructors began helping hysterical, crying boys and girls into buses.

Fraser Cameron, 32, was wounded fatally.

Francis Daniel Wagner, 25, the athletic coach at the school, was shot in the chest.

The third victim, Robert Hicks, 31, was shot in the hand.

Police Chief George J. Panagoulis said police took into custody Bill Ray Prevatte, 15.

The scene was one of complete confusion, as the students ran through the building weeping. Some of the girls fell onto the school lawn sobbing.

total about $11,526,000 and $29,792,625 respectively. The grant would be in addition to a small percentage of profits from the CBC's commercial resources.

The CLC also made these submissions in a 27-page brief to the broadcasting royal commission:

1. The CBC should not change the fundamental principles of its 25-year-old policy.
2. The CBC should continue to "dominate and control" radio and television broadcasting.
3. Private stations should be maintained to provide local and community services as an ancillary to the national-owned system.
4. Private networks should not be authorized.
5. Newspaper-radio-television monopolies should be broken up.
6. Canadian talent should receive more encouragement.
7. Parliament should provide the CBC's capital requirements.

The brief said the CBC board of governors "should establish its own enforcement branch charged with enforcing the board's regulations . . ."

Such action would make it obvious that the board was the regulating and controlling body governing all broadcasting, the CLC said.

"We think that monopolies of this sort (newspaper-radio-TV) should not be allowed to develop," the brief said. "And where they have, they should be broken up."

Five Girls Escape

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two prisoners of the Girls' Industrial School escaped Thursday under cover of a brush fire. Police said the two slipped away from a party of girls who had been granted permission to watch the fire, in brushland three blocks from the school. Three other girls escaped from the home later in the evening.

T'WAS 'JAW', NOT 'SAW'; CROSSWORD PRIZE $125

The little word "jaw" crossed up most contestants in The Times' Crossword Puzzle last week so the prize to subscribers for this week jumps to $125.

"You usually expect it to have teeth "was how the clue read and most entries contained the answer "saw." But every saw has teeth so you don't "usually expect" it, you just know a saw has teeth. But some jaws have no teeth at all though you would usually expect them to.

Complete answer to last week's puzzle and a new contest for this week are on Page 23 of today's Times.

U.S. Triggers Nuclear Tests

ENIWETOK (UP) — The United States kicked off a vital new test series with a nuclear flash that drove pre-dawn dark from Pacific skies at 6.25 a.m. Saturday, Eniwetok time (11.25 a.m. Friday, Victoria time).

The blast was the curtain raiser for the biggest nuclear test program ever held in the Pacific proving ground.

It was a "small" atomic warhead packing concentrated fury of "a few thousand tons of TNT."
